

Try It On Your Own Coat

Is the Coat you are wearing today "faked" into shape by the Flat-Iron?
The odds are about 5 to 1 that it is because about 80 per cent of clothes are treated by wily old Dr. Goose, the Flat-Iron.

Prove it to your own satisfaction and see if you can detect the most common defect used in clothes making.

Lay the Coat flat on a table, as shown in the picture below; if the Collar has been given its shape by the Hot Flat-Iron you will note that it is wavy and curved along the outer edge, and where it turns over.

If you find it this way, it is a pretty good indication that it was "faked" into shape.

If the Coat has been tailored sincerely—honestly—the line of the Collar and the turn-over edge will be perfectly straight, as indicated in the picture.

Now, here is the reason—
Most garments coming from the hands of the tailor have some creases or faults which must be corrected before the garment can be sold.

The Sincerity way is to take out such faulty sewing and re-size the garment by careful Hand Needle-Work. This makes the correction permanent and the garment right.

And it's the way all SINCERITY CLOTHES are made.

The other method is to use the Hot Flat-Iron.

In other words, the well-known effect of heat and moisture on fabrics, as applied by Dr. Goose, is used to give the Coat shape only until it is sold.

The man who buys it wears it on a damp day, and the Flat-Iron work writes out and leaves the garment as it was before being "doped."

That accounts for the collars that bulge out around the neck.

Lapels that stand away from the neck.

Coat fronts that wrinkle out of shape and cause the coat to lose shape and style.

The great reason why this "faking" is done, is because it costs more to make clothes sincerely.

SINCERITY CLOTHES are not "faked" by the Hot Flat-Iron.

When defects are found in SINCERITY CLOTHES they are corrected by the Shears and Careful Hand Needle-Work. That is the secret of their Sincerity and the reason why they retain their shape until threadbare.

The Flat-Iron will often restore a Coat to its original shape, but the garment cannot retain that shape, unless it is given permanence by Hand Needle-Work.

It's worth while to know these things and how you can avoid them in the future.

The best clothes-insurance you can get is to have the right label in the next Suit or Overcoat that you buy.

If you value Style-Retention and Shape-Insurance, let your next purchase be one bearing the label of the SINCERITY CLOTHIERS.

It reads as follows:—

Philadelphia Defeat Phillies
PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—The National league season was opened here today with a game between the local club and its opponent, the New York world's champion team. The members of the two teams, preceded by a band of music, marched across the field and all eyes were attracted to the new manager of the stars and stripes to the top of the Philadelphia City Hall. The game was accompanied by the leads of various city departments, and when time for play was called, the Philadelphia pitcher, George Upp, played the ball to the bat and in the field. The Philadelphia team, however, fumbled sharply at times and thus held the Philadelphia pitcher, George Upp, to the left on bases. Three sharp double plays aided materially in the Philadelphia pitcher's performance.
