

ZIMMAN WANTS AN INQUIRY

Mayor Will Ask that Ballot Box Fraud Be Investigated.

MATTER PASSED UP TO COUNTY ATTORNEY

Broken Padlock Found in a Democratic Box, but No Further Trace of Man Who Destroyed the Ballots.

Mayor Zimman stated Saturday morning that as chairman of the canvassing board he would demand an investigation of the ballot box frauds by County Attorney Slabaugh and would place the tampered ballots and other evidence before that officer.

The talk of discovering who changed the votes from Greenleaf and Stockham to Elbourn and from Hennings to Brach and prosecuting the suspects is not so strong as it was. Apparently no one in particular is getting at the facts or turning up anything new. Matters rest practically where they were several days ago. County Attorney Slabaugh is busy and there is nothing to show any activity on the part of his office in the matter.

A broken Yale padlock, similar to those used to lock the ballot boxes, was found in one of the boxes during the democratic count. The appearance as if the staple was severed by the use of a hammer and chisel. The box was properly locked, although the other was found broken open during the recount. The finding of the broken lock is not considered especially important or illuminating. The keys to every box were tied on the handle.

SCHOOL BOARD ON NEW TACK

Pollay as to New Buildings is to Be Modified in Some Degree.

Members of the Board of Education are investigating school buildings and other cities and the manner of their preparation in order to get ideas to be used in arranging for the new Vinton school building. A twelve-room structure, with a high basement containing space for four rooms, or permitting the equivalent of a sixteen-room building, has been decided upon by the committee of the whole, which has the matter in charge, but further details are not fixed. The experience of Boston, St. Louis and other cities that lead in school architecture is being canvassed with an idea of determining what is deemed the best method of procedure, as well as the cheapest, consistent with economy.

Efforts are being made toward abandoning the old plan in vogue in Omaha of simply turning over the whole affair to an architect selected and letting him do the rest. Boston has adopted permanent plans for school houses of various sizes and costliness and a question has been raised locally if this plan would not be economical and much more satisfactory all around in the long run.

Vote in all the wards for Goodley F. Brucker, democratic nominee for councilman, Fifth ward.

WORK OF THE COUNTY BOARD

Commissioners Authorize Treasurer Plank to Employ Help to Consolidate Treasuries.

The county commissioners at the meeting Saturday authorized County Treasurer Plank to employ the help necessary to effect the consolidation of his office with that of the city treasurer. The board decided to meet Monday at 2 o'clock with the city council to arrange the details of the consolidation and discuss the quarters to be provided for the consolidated offices.

It is held to be desirable to have the treasurer's and assessor's offices and the scavenger department close together, and one proposed plan contemplates the removal of these offices to the city hall provided room can be found for them.

The board removed M. Buel, night fireman at the court house, and Tom Clark, one of the janitors. Tony Calabria was appointed to Mr. Clark's place, but Buel's successor was not named. These are the first changes made in the force since W. H. Shop, the new superintendent, took charge of the work.

BANKERS UNION

Obligates and Initiates Class of Twenty-Five at 42-44th St.

Friend lodge No. 84 of the Bankers Union of the World held a very interesting session Friday evening, April 6. The occasion was especially planned for the installation of the officers of the lodge, and the attendance of a large class who have applied for membership. Dr. William Charters, deputy supreme president, has been representing the Bankers Union in Friend for the past four weeks. He has doubled the membership of the lodge and the meeting of Friday evening was therefore one of special interest.

The supreme secretary of the order, Miss M. Burdock, was introduced by Dr. Charters, who spoke at length on the work of the Bankers Union. Following the ceremony of the installation of officers, the obligation was given by Miss Burdock. Among other things Miss Burdock stated that the order had paid over $250,000 to beneficiaries of policyholders. In the state of Nebraska over $60,000 has been paid to claimants.

The women of the lodge served a luncheon following the business session. All enjoyed themselves and went home feeling the evening had been well spent. The Friend Sentinel, April 12, 1906, Friend, Neb.

Bispham Sings Recital.

The coming of David Bispham, the eminent baritone, in a song recital at the Lyric on Monday evening, April 23, is awaited with intense interest by all music-lovers and especially his staunch admirers. Since his last appearance here early in the season Mr. Bispham has added many conquests to his already glorious career. An eastern critic recently wrote: "Blessed with a wonderful temperament, a keen intelligence and magnetic presence, David Bispham has, by his untiring application, brought himself to a state of perfect perfection. I know of no other living singer, with such a versatile talent, rendering so many different styles of songs—all with equal perfection." Tickets are on sale at A. Hoopes & Co.'s.

Mr. H. E. Fredrickson has recently installed a complete set of new machinery in his automobile repair shop. He has also put in a new, improved mercury arc rectifier, which is made especially for charging incandescent storage batteries.

ITALIAN RELIEF COMMITTEE

Mayor Zimman Names Twelve Men to Look After Collections in Omaha.

Mayor Zimman has named a committee of eleven Omaha citizens and one South Omaha citizen to co-operate with the New York American's plan for raising funds for the Italian sufferers around Mount Vesuvius. Dr. George L. Miller probably will be suggested as chairman of the body, which will be called together at once by the mayor. The names are: Frank Rocco, Peter Rocco, Charles Rocco, Y. E. Chiodo, Dr. H. L. Rammicotti, Anthony Marini of South Omaha, Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Joseph Polcar, Victor Rosewater, Robert Cowell, Howard H. Baldrige and Dr. Miller.

The first contribution was received several days ago from Dr. Miller. It was a check for $5 and was sent to Mayor Zimman.

Telegrams will be accepted and transmitted free relative to the relief fund being raised for the benefit of the stricken people of southern Italy at any office of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company in Omaha, an announcement to that effect having been made today by the local management of that company. This does not relate to the transferring of money, which should be accomplished through the banks.

LOCATING THE DUAL TREASURY

Treasurer Plank Will Have His Main Office in the City Building Hereafter.

County Treasurer Plank has had the floor space of the treasury department offices in the court house and city hall measured and finds that the former exceeds the latter by about 300 square feet, the ratio being about 2,000 to 1,700. Aside from convenience of access to the public, the most pressing question involved in getting quarters for the consolidated treasuries is office room. Treasurer Plank says the present city treasury offices will not be large enough and that the scavenger tax section or some other would have to be separated if a move was made from the court house. He favors a location in the city hall and will take the matter up with the county commissioners and the city council. There is plenty of unused office room in the city hall on the second floor and above it that may be utilized.

Most of the office force retained in the treasury office at the city hall will be placed on the payroll permanently to take care of the additional work. Mr. Hennings has been invited to occupy his old private office until the expiration of his term, but has not signified his decision whether to do so or not. He has moved out his personal belongings.

EAGLES' MEMORIAL SERVICES

Sunday, May 6, the Day Set by the Order for the Solemn Observance.

Eagles' memorial day will be observed on Sunday, May 6, at the Orpheum theater, which will be appropriately decorated for the occasion. The services will open promptly at 10 o'clock. This year the Omaha, South Omaha and Benson aeries are uniting in the observance of Memorial day, and as the three aeries together have about 2,000 members it is expected the Orpheum will be taxed to its capacity. Following is the program:

Orchestral selection; opening ceremonies by officers of the three aeries; invocation, Rev. Brother F. M. Sisson, South Omaha; roll call of the dead, worthy secretaries; solo, Miss Blanche Sorenson; address, Brother H. B. Ficharty, South Omaha; Benson Eagles quartet; address, Brother John J. Ryder; solo, Miss Louise Jansen; eulogy, Rev. Dr. T. J. Mackay; Benson Eagles quartet; closing ceremonies, officers of the aeries.

Ushers will be provided from the membership of the three bodies to see to the prompt seating of the audience. Every Eagle attending will wear a white carnation.

NOVEMBER AND MAY NOT WED

Cruel Law Separates Fifty-Year-Old Man and Sixteen-Year-Old Girl.

Plans for the nuptials of James Armstrong, an old man of 52 years, and Gertie Myers, aged 16, were delayed when they applied at County Judge Leslie's office Saturday morning for a license, owing to the failure of the girl to show she had proper authority from her parents to wed. She presented a written permit signed by her mother, Mrs. Alice May, but it appeared from questions asked by Judge Leslie that her father was still living, though divorced from her mother. Under the circumstances Judge Leslie declined to issue a license until the father could be heard from. The pair left, headed for Council Bluffs.

Mr. Armstrong said his intended bride and her mother had lived in one of his houses in South Omaha for some time and he was well acquainted with them.

LID AT BENSON GROWS HEAVY

Saloon Keepers Petition County Board to Suspend the Stocumb Law's Operations.

The lid is chafing at Bennington and the saloon keepers at that place have been petitioning the county commissioners to suspend the Stocumb law as far as that locality is concerned and permit the opening of saloons on Sunday. The first letter to Mr. Solomon was signed by John Borghoff, A. J. Speltman, Fred Kruse and T. L. Nourmeyer. Mr. Solomon replied by referring them to the Stocumb law and a few days ago received another letter from John Borghoff, saying the Stocumb law was passed long ago and the people were unanimous in the desire for the open door, which they had enjoyed for a long time. He says Rev. Mr. Ahrens, the Lutheran pastor, is in favor of opening the saloons on Sunday.

The communications were referred by the board to the county attorney.

Improved Mail Delivery Service.

"The improved mail delivery service between Chicago and Omaha has been in operation here about a week now and with very satisfactory results," said Postmaster Palmer Saturday morning. "The mails are being delivered from one to two hours earlier, providing the trains get in on time. But the delay has been a week or nearly every morning, and I wish that some improvement could be made. We expected a delay in the western mails during the past week on account of the storm conditions, but I cannot account for the exasperating delay east of Omaha."

Automobile Club Run.

The Omaha Automobile club, which has reorganized for the season, has elected new officers and started in on a campaign for good roads and to stop fast driving in the city limits, will give a Dutch supper Tuesday evening at 7 p. m. at Ruser's "Garden of Eden," on West Center street. The call of the secretary says several important matters will come before the members and all are urgently requested to be present and to notify Gould Dietz before Monday evening of their intention to be there.

BEFORE THE PEOPLE'S BAR

Tragedy in Real Life Turned to a Happy Ending Drama.

JAMES K. POLK TADLOCK'S LIFE ROMANCE

His Daughter Saves Him from a Jail Sentence by Unfolding the Details of a Family Romance.

"Still he is my father!" And with that exclamation of the young woman clasped the man in fond embrace, wiped away a few tears from his cheeks and kissed him as she had been wont to do years ago when they lived together in the old home back in Illinois. The young woman was Miss Marie Tadlock, while the man was James K. P. Tadlock, once married and now a widower, who had been the victim of a wide world Friday afternoon. The little scene occurred when the girl was returning from her work with companions with whom she was exchanging girlish confidences. The face of a man coming toward her summoned with magical quickness memories of other days. She immediately recognized in the man her father, and although choking with emotion managed to excuse herself from her companions. Then the little scene, part of the world's great daily drama, took place.

Five hours later, as the theatrical program would have it, Tadlock was arrested by Patrolman Delehanty on the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Tadlock was carted to the city hall as hundreds before him had been. Like many before him he had done Tadlock's deed in grief in strong drink and then grew reckless.

Early Saturday morning the young woman called at the city hall and intervened for her father. She told City Prosecutor Lee her story, and even that official, whose ears are burdened from day to day with human plaints and troubles, would not prosecute Tadlock. The police judge discharged the prisoner.

In short, Tadlock's story was that he left his family in Illinois five years ago. The wife waited three years for him to return and then married again, later moving to Omaha, where she and daughter prospered. Tracing the family to Omaha Tadlock arrived here Friday afternoon and met his daughter near her place of employment on Dodge street. When searched at the city jail a verse of William Chaille's old poem was found in the man's pocket. The poetry had peculiar significance in view of Tadlock's life. The verse read:

Within a crowded waiting room one cold and wintry night, I waited for the fast express upon its eastward flight; My thoughts took flight, as thoughts oft will, to home, my girl and you; Those happy days, once gone, returned and passed in swift review.

John Neupert of California was arrested Friday evening by Patrolman McCarthy on the charge of drunkenness and begging on the street. Neupert claimed he was waiting in Omaha to meet President "Mitchell" on the Union Pacific. The prisoner endeavored to identify himself by saying he served President Roosevelt meals in New York City when the president was police commissioner. The police judge discharged Neupert with a warning.

CONTRACTORS AND STREETS

City Engineer Will Try to Correct a Growing Abuse of the Builders.

The city engineering department is preparing to respond to many complaints of the use of sidewalk space by business men and building contractors, both by obstructions and driving teams and wagons upon it. On Farnam street during the last several months, pedestrians frequently have had to leave the walks and stand around in the mud in order to pass loading and unloading operations over the walks. The abuse has increased to an extent where the city has been forced to recognize it and the engineering department is now threatening prosecutions if it is continued.

The department is having trouble with property owners who are trying to fence in street space in front of residences. One flagrant case was discovered and stopped Friday.

GREENLEAF FINALLY RESIGNS

License Clerk Allowed to Leave on His Second Application for Permission.

Sam K. Greenleaf, republican nominee for city clerk, Saturday morning presented a written resignation to his chief as license clerk in the city clerk's office, a position he has held six years. The resignation was immediately accepted by City Clerk Elbourn, whom Greenleaf beat out for the nomination in the primary contest, having his victory reaffirmed by a recount of the ballots, which disclosed gross tampering with the ballots in Elbourn's favor. Greenleaf tried to resign during the campaign, but Elbourn did not want him to do so during a press of election work, and in view of the quitting of Deputy Simonson, who was an open supporter of Greenleaf's. From now on Greenleaf will devote all his time to the campaign.

Not a breakable part in them.

Are you about tired of the so-called Steel Ranges, made from pot metal and cheap steel? You know how easily they break. You know how they rust out. Majestic malleable iron cannot be broken. Majestic charcoal wrought iron bodies will wear over three times as long as the rustable steel used in others. You know how your old stove pipe used to last. It was made from charcoal iron. So is the Majestic, only about ten times as heavy.
