

WARREN CASE GOES TO JURY

Prosecution Does Not Ask that He Be Sentenced to Hang.

JAY O'HEARN PLEADS FOR HIS PARTNER

Condemned Man Takes Witness Stand to Testify in Behalf of the Third of the Quartet.

The fate of Joe Warren was placed in the hands of the jury at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The arguments of the attorneys had occupied the time from 11:30 o'clock except during the noon recess. Neither Deputy County Attorney Fitch in his opening argument or County Attorney Slabaugh in his closing address asked the jury to inflict the death penalty, but both made vigorous pleas for conviction. Attorney Hollister and Fitch for the defendant demanded verdicts of acquittal on the ground Warren had not been shown to have had an intent to rob when the quartet went to the saloon. They contended he had gone with the others unconsciously to the saloon, and that about 10 o'clock a crime of violence had been committed which they were not guilty of.

Jury Locked Up for the Night.

After deliberating for over three hours the jury had failed to reach a verdict at 10:30 o'clock last night. Judge Burton ordered that the jurors be locked up for the night. He gave orders not to be called to hear a verdict until after 7 o'clock this morning. The jury began its deliberations at 5:30 yesterday afternoon. At 8 o'clock it went to supper, resuming the session in the jury room at 7:30. After three hours of fruitless efforts to reach an agreement, word was received from Judge Sutton to lock up for the night and the attorneys and their friends of the defendant, who had been waiting for the verdict, left the court room. The failure to agree at once is taken to mean there is a disagreement over the penalty to be inflicted.

Under the charge reading against Warren, the jury can only be found guilty of murder in the first degree, as the county attorney yesterday withdrew the count in the information which alleged murder with premeditation and retained that charging murder committed during a robbery. This means Warren will either be sentenced to hang, to life imprisonment or to acquittal.

Tenor of the Instructions.

The instructions of Judge Sutton were lengthy and required twenty minutes to read them. He instructed the jurors that if Warren was with the other defendants in furtherance of a plan to rob Lausten and one of the other defendants killed Lausten in carrying out the intent to rob, then Warren was guilty, even though he did not do anything directly toward the killing of the saloonkeeper.

Young Warren, who kept his nerve well during the taking of testimony, showed signs of the strain he was under during the arguments. He grew pale and nervous and appeared to be almost on the verge of losing control of himself while he was being arraigned by County Attorney Slabaugh for his part in the crime. Mrs. Warren, his mother, and he sat near him during the closing day of the trial and when he was led back to jail, after the jury had gone out, his mother placed her arms around his neck and kissed him affectionately. Mrs. Lausten and her daughters were spectators during most of the session.

Crime of Which He is Accused.

The crime of which Warren is charged is the murder of Nels Lausten, a saloonkeeper, at Twenty-first and Cumine street, on the night of January 30, during the attempted hold-up. Warren and his co-defendants, Jay O'Hearn, Raymond Nelson and Leo Angus, had gone to the saloon about 11:30. O'Hearn and Nelson went inside and Angus and Warren were stationed outside to watch the entrance. Lausten refused to put up his hands at the demand of O'Hearn and he was shot through the heart. The four ran away from the place and met again at Washington hall. They were arrested the following day and Angus and Warren confessed to their parts. Lausten, O'Hearn and Nelson. Nelson afterward confessed and was the principal witness for the state. O'Hearn was placed on trial and convicted, the jury decreeing the death penalty. Angus pleaded guilty and received a life sentence, but Warren insisted on a trial. Nelson has not been tried yet.

State Rested Without Putting any more witnesses on the stand and the defense introduced only two witnesses, Jay O'Hearn, who was condemned to death for the murder of Lausten and the defendant Joe Warren. The testimony of each was to the effect Warren did not know that a holdup was to be perpetrated until Nelson and O'Hearn went into the saloon. Their examination lasted until 11:30, when the defense rested and the state called its rebuttal evidence. Deputy County Attorney Fitch began his opening argument to the jury.

O'Hearn for the Defense.

Jay O'Hearn, who was brought up from Lincoln, where he is awaiting sentence to death, appeared more worn and pale than he did during his trial. Dark rings around his eyes indicated loss of sleep and worry, but his mind appeared to be as keen and his wit as sharp as when he went on the stand in his own behalf. He testified that neither at the meeting at Twenty-fourth and F streets, South Omaha, or in the saloon at Fifteenth and Harney was any conversation had in the presence of Joe Warren relating to the holding up of the saloon. In the saloon when Nelson suggested he knew a place where they could get some money, O'Hearn said Warren was at the far end of the bar and not close enough to hear what was said. In his cross-examination he said he and Help for Nelson.

At the Dewey hotel, where he and Nelson stayed all night, he said Nelson gave him his gun, keys and some small change to keep for him, as he was afraid the police would arrest him on sight. Warren was to return the things at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, but he was arrested before that time and the things found on him. He said he had no gun Saturday night.

Expected Something.

"Did you not say in your statement to the police that you thought they were going to do something when they took the car?" County Attorney Slabaugh asked. "I did."

That something was to drink more beer, I suppose?"

"That's what I thought we were going to do."

He said after the murder he did not ask any of the boys what had happened and did not know of it until the next day, when he read it in the paper. County Attorney Slabaugh asked him if he had not forged six checks for $10 each and passed one on a man named Thomas, but objections by the defense were sustained. The objections were afterward withdrawn, but Mr. Slabaugh did not renew the question. He also denied he made the state-

Slaves to Spring Catarrh Restored to Health By Pe-ru-na.

Honest People Tell Their Experiences. Spring,—the Time to Cure Catarrh.

Mrs. John E. Mills, 36 Mulberry St., Lynn, Mass., writes: "I have been troubled with catarrh since I was ten years old. At times my head troubled me so that I was obliged to stay in a dark room. Nothing helped me and my physician said I could never be cured. "I began taking Peruna this spring and find myself greatly benefited by it. I have not had an attack since I took my first bottle. I think in time it will cure me. It has already improved my appetite and my general health and I have gained twenty pounds in three months. "I have recommended it to several of my friends, who also find it very beneficial. I advise any one troubled with catarrh to use Peruna."

Mr. J. Q. Craig, a well-known athlete, whose home address is Bridgeton, N. J., writes from the Hotel Donavin, Delaware, Ohio, as follows: "I can say of Peruna that, as a tonic for the spring of the year, it is the best for athletes, and as such I can give it a hearty recommendation." Peruna does not fail to prevent the lassitude and languor incident to the approach of warm weather, if taken in time.

Mr. Wienand Honeman, a prominent and aged citizen of Seneca Falls, N. Y., is the inventor of a number of implements of modern warfare. He writes: "For several years past, I and my family used your Peruna as a tonic and for the purification of the system in general and find that it is an excellent medicine to restore weak nerves to a healthy condition."

Mr. J. Q. CRAIG Mrs. A. S. RUCKER Mrs. A. S. Rucker, 1824 Cedar Street, Nashville, Tenn., writes: "I wish to tell you what Peruna has done for me. In the spring of 1902 I was very sick and so weak I could scarcely be up. I was alarmed at my condition. "I had a bad cough for some time and I tried several cough medicines, but grew worse all the time. I knew if I did not get relief, I would soon go into consumption. "So I decided to try Peruna. I had confidence in it before I took it and found it was just the medicine I needed, for in a short time my cough ceased and my strength returned. "I have enjoyed better health since taking it than I had for several years previous."

SPRING CATARRH.

Almost every one has come to believe that spring is a season that brings derangements of the body dependent on blood impurities.

This belief is an old one, is nearly universal, and has arisen, not as the result of the teachings of the medical fraternity, but has been learned in the bitter school of experience.

NERVOUS DEPRESSION.

Depression of the nervous system at the approach of spring is a fertile source of blood impurities.

There are general lassitude, dull, heavy sensations, continual tired feelings, with irregular appetite, and sometimes loss of sleep.

THAT TIRED FEELING.

That tired feeling, which is the natural result of the depressing effect of warm weather immediately after the invigorating cold weather, quickly disappears when Peruna is taken.

NEVER AGAIN.

Nelson were the only ones of the four who knew where they were going. They asked O'Hearn answered that they were going to the saloon at Twenty-fourth and A streets he said Warren took a street car and went home to change his clothes. They met again in the saloon at Fifteenth and Harney, and after a conversation which Warren did not hear took the street car for Cumine street.

The examination of the defendant, Joe Warren, took up most of the forenoon session. He told of his meeting O'Hearn at the Krug theater saloon between acts and going to South Omaha with him. He also denied anything was said there or in any of the saloons in his hearing about holding up a saloon.

THE CORRECT REMEDY.

Spring with its lassitude is also fruitful of catarrhal diseases, on account of its sudden changes so apt to cause inflammation of the mucous membranes of the respiratory organs, involving either the head, throat or lungs. Peruna's beneficial action upon the mucous membranes is a thoroughly established fact, and this explains why Peruna is the correct remedy at such a time.

DO NOT DELAY.

Get a bottle of Peruna when the first languid feelings make themselves apparent in the spring. Take it according to the directions on the bottle. Continue this treatment through the first months of spring.

A SPRING TONIC.

Almost everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain and cleanse the blood.

That Peruna will do this is well established. Everyone who has tried it has had the same experience as Mr. Warren M. Taylor, 1218 8th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., who, in a recent letter, writes: "I suffered from a general feeling of lassitude, cold, occasional creeping chills, followed sometimes by fever and biliousness. "These symptoms manifested themselves mostly in the spring and fall. "I suffered this way for about seven years. "Last spring I began using Peruna and followed the instructions as set forth in one of Dr. Hartman's booklets which I picked up in a drug store and to my great joy I noticed that within a week I was nearly cured. "At the end of two months I was entirely cured and feel as though I have a new lease on life."

NATURE'S ASSISTANCE.

Spring is the best time to treat catarrh. Nature renews herself every spring. The system is rejuvenated by spring weather.

This renders medicines more effective. A short course of Peruna, assisted by the balmy air of spring, will often relieve old, stubborn cases of catarrh that have resisted treatment for years.

A WORD OF ADVICE.

To those who have been afflicted with chronic catarrh we wish to say that the spring season affords you a splendid opportunity to get rid of your disease. It may be you have been afflicted for several years; you may have tried different remedies. Perhaps you have become discouraged.

NOW IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

This failure was during the winter months. But now is your opportunity. Nature comes to your assistance at this season. Just help her a little and she will bring you out of the quagmire in which you have been floundering so long. Give Nature a little assistance, lest her struggles be in vain.
