

SPORTING GOSSIP OF WEEK

Papa Bill Bourke Has Hardest of Problems Now Before Him.

WHAT PITCHERS WILL HE KEEP STEADY

Too Much Good Material Gives the Old Man of the Family the Job of His Life at Present.

Studying hard. Papa Bill Bourke has his troubles before him now. With only a week left to decide on his team for the summer, he finds he has some problems left to solve. It is not that he hasn't good material. The trouble is he has so much good material he wants to keep it all and can't make up his mind which of the coming stars he will set aside. He knows about the infield and the outfield, and has almost made up his mind as to the catchers. The pitchers will give him more trouble. That he is in earnest in his intention to bring home the pennant for Omaha next fall is shown by his securing Dodge from Chicago. This young man will displace one of the apring pitchers, for he is seasoned material in minor company, and is sent to Bourke for a post-graduate course in the fine art of base ball. Five other pitchers will be carried, and the choice between the material on hand is difficult. One thing is sure, and that is Omaha will go into the race with a corking good team.

The infield is the fastest Omaha has ever had, and that is saying a good deal for Omaha has never had a slow infield team. The outfield is in the same fix, and, in fact, it looks better than ever, for Welch is working as he never worked before, and Bassey is a decided improvement over Thiel. He has shown none of Buck's manifest disposition to shirk, and is not likely to put Omaha in the position occupied last season, that of having an outfielder studiously playing for his release. The batting of the team is not all that Papa Bill would like, but is a decided improvement over last season. Perring is the weakest of the hitters, but is studiously training to overcome his weakness, and is likely to be heard from. Altogether the outlook is very encouraging. And, don't forget that next Saturday meeting between the Bourke family and the Lee-Glass-Andersen outfit is to be for the benefit of the Young Women's Christian association building fund.

All the amateur base ball teams in the city have been getting into shape during the last week for the season which is soon to open up. The Frank Crawford team at South Omaha was the first to get the field, playing two weeks ago. The Nonpareils have organized and will soon have their team selected and be ready for games. The Field club team has also organized and hopes to have a game scheduled for the opening of the Field club, May 5. The two Diets teams have uniforms and managers who are busy arranging schedules. The Hollies are already in the field with a good team and anxious for games. The Union Pacific shops will have their usual strong representation on the field, playing the Bourkes tomorrow. The Lee-Glass-Andersen team is as usual claiming the title of amateur champions which several of the local teams will dispute this summer.

Committees have been appointed to make the opening of the Omaha Field club May 5 a gala occasion. A base ball game will be arranged with some of the strong amateur teams and Abbott, Crawford, Baird, Malone, Murphy, Creighton, Hoagland and other Field club courts in August. A higher class of players has been coming year after year to this meet, which is recognized as of national importance. Last year some most excellent players competed for the honors, coming from all sections of the country, and as the reputation of this meet spread abroad the class of the players increases. The prizes are good as are offered anywhere and the entertainment at the Field club is of a high order as that accorded to the tennis club courts in August. A higher class of players has been coming year after year to this meet, which is recognized as of national importance. Last year some most excellent players competed for the honors, coming from all sections of the country, and as the reputation of this meet spread abroad the class of the players increases. The prizes are good as are offered anywhere and the entertainment at the Field club is of a high order as that accorded to the tennis club courts in August.

An effort is being made to induce Miss May Sutton, the champion tennis player of America, to come to Omaha to attend the Middle West Tennis tournament which will be held on the Field club courts in August. A higher class of players has been coming year after year to this meet, which is recognized as of national importance. Last year some most excellent players competed for the honors, coming from all sections of the country, and as the reputation of this meet spread abroad the class of the players increases. The prizes are good as are offered anywhere and the entertainment at the Field club is of a high order as that accorded to the tennis club courts in August.

The Omaha Automobile club of Omaha held an enthusiastic meeting last Tuesday night at Ruser's park on West Center street, at which the members pledged themselves to work together for the general good of automobilism. A committee was appointed to confer with a similar committee from Council Bluffs in reference to the condition of Broadway in Council Bluffs. This could be made a famous run between the two cities with very little expense. A cedar block pavement was put down many years ago, but this year back has lost its usefulness, in fact it is at present worse than no pavement at all, for it is so rough as to be almost impassable for autos or wagons. This road could be macadamized with small expense and made an ideal run for automobiles, as it is level all the way. This is more to the interest of Council Bluffs than Omaha, for Omaha has more good runs of its own than Council Bluffs. The club decided to assist in the prosecution of all drivers of autos arrested for the violation of the speed ordinances. A plan was evolved whereby all club members shall have a card for identification which shall be taken by policemen as guarantee for appearance in police court if arrested for petty offenses, the club to guarantee the HEADACHES Those who suffer from headaches, whether sick, nervous or neuralgic, are recommended to Take Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient. An effervescent, saline draught which cures headache by removing the cause. It settles the stomach, corrects acidity, clears the brain. Contains no bromides or heart-depressing drugs. Sixty years of experience. At your druggist or by mail from The Tarrant Co., 44 Madison Street, New York.

card. Much good can be accomplished by this club and the members seem to be going into the work with the right spirit to bring about good results. New officers have been elected and President Connor will see that committees are appointed, consisting of members who will work.

The fence has been constructed around the Diets Athletic club park at Thirtieth and Spaulding streets and work is progressing nicely on the inside. The grading of the tennis courts has been completed and these will be put in first-class condition as fast as possible. Work on the grand stand for the ball field will be begun this week, the diamond already having been laid out. The showers and lockers have been completed and are now ready for use. Two base ball teams will be put in the field by this association, one to be known as the "C. N. Diets" team and the other as the "Diets Athletics." The managers have been appointed and the teams will soon be ready to play. The latter is a new outfit from the material on hand the managers think this team will be just as fast as the old team, which recognized no superior in the amateur ranks of Omaha. The new uniforms have arrived, consisting of a blue suit with white trimmings. Each team will have a manager, and the difference in experience being in the name across the front. The management hopes to open the new park in about two weeks and then play a double-header each Sunday afternoon. No schedule has yet been fixed, but the managers are working up one and would be pleased to hear from the managers of any amateur teams of the city in reference to games. Amateur base ball has been making a great hit in many of the large cities of the east and the management will do all in its power to keep the games high class that they may deserve the patronage of the public.

The games yet to be played in the exhibition series before the opening of the regular championship season are: Topeka this afternoon, when the Bourkes will take the final fall out of Dick Cooley, Jay Andrews & Co.; the Union Pacific shops this afternoon, when the Bourkes will take the final fall out of Dick Cooley, Jay Andrews & Co.; the Union Pacific shops this afternoon, when the Bourkes will take the final fall out of Dick Cooley, Jay Andrews & Co.

Meetings have been held during the last week and every indication points to the fact that the season will be a great one for putting on some good trotting races. A lease will be secured for the Sprague street driving park, the grand stand will be moved and enlarged and the stables rebuilt, making the track first-class in every particular.

"The Omaha wants to get the people of the state to come to this city for their amusements," said F. A. Nash at the meeting of the promoters of the scheme for giving Omaha some trotting races. "We can go after them in a commercial way until we are black in the face, but it will not do any good. What we want is to put on a show in this city which will be attractive, something which will be a sufficient inducement to draw people in. It is a well known fact that people will come naturally to do their trading where they are best amused. The Ak-Sar-Ben serves well enough in its way, the horse show is good in its way, but more people can be brought to the city to see a first-class line of horse races than in any other way. We are all interested in building Omaha up, and this is one of the best ways we can work at the present time. Detroit was about to lose its annual races through the coming in of the town of a few book-makers who were not in touch with the harness horse men, but I understand this difficulty has been settled and Detroit and Cleveland will each have a big meeting this fall."

At one meeting held last week twenty names were signed by citizens who are anxious to see the opening of a good track. Twenty more are needed, but the promoters think they will have little difficulty in raising this amount when a hustle is once made for it. The men are receiving every encouragement from the State Speed association and a date will be given Omaha as soon as the local arrangements are complete.

Ernest Keeler, who will drive the big six-cylinder Oldsmobile which is being constructed at the Lansing factory under the direction of Chief Engineer Howard Coffin, for the Vanderbilt race, has made several trips over what has been suggested for the route of the new course on Long Island, in the twenty-eight-thirty-horse power motor touring car. If the time made over the course by this car is any indication of what may be expected of the racing car, there is every likelihood that the time will be an phenomenal time made in the eliminations. J. K. Mills of the Olds New York agency accompanied Keeler on these trips, which were made before sunrise.

The first base ball game of the season for the Creighton university was played against the league team out at the Vinton Street park on Thursday, and the most sanguine predictions for an unusually successful season for the collegians were entirely justified. Considering the fact that the team has had only two weeks of actual practice and were contending with Pa veterans, the university fans may justly be proud of the initial work of the squad. The team showed little of the stage fright which often proved to be the undoing of amateur players when opposing the professional outfit. The outfield, composed of Fashbeck, Croft and McShane, played fast and faultless game, while Steen and Mullen at shortstop and third base have absolutely settled all doubts as to their suitability for these positions. The "hooch" that has been following the university for several seasons is the best regarding a scarcity of twirlers seems to have been broken. Whitehead and Stratton both pitched good, steady ball, and Lanzing, who was in the game last year, can be relied upon to do even better work than last season. Dick Coak behind the bat slides fair to fill Ed Creighton's old position with credit. On the whole, the team made a remarkably good showing, and with a little more proficiency at the bat, which doubtless will be acquired as the season advances, Omaha should be able to boast one of the fastest amateur teams in the west.

Columbia's faculty has now stepped in to disarrange the plans of the track athletes on Morningside Heights by forbidding them to meet Brown university in a dual contest at Providence, which was scheduled to take place on May 2. The reason given is that the students would have to be absent from their regular college work, because the meet fall on a mid-week date.

United States Naval academy is to have another session of instruction. Last year the question of the recent exhibition by the midshipmen on the Severn, which in itself was a splendid one, the embryo admirals who are holding down sliding seats in the academy shells this year are the finest lot of watermen that has been at Annapolis in many years. Dick Glennon, the professional coach, has had the best kind of material to pick over this year, and the paid mentor is a wonder when it comes to whipping in men. It is only within the last two years that the Naval academy has taken a new lease of roving life. Three things have helped to make the change more than all others. One is that the authorities at Annapolis have encouraged athletics, where years ago the idea of pastime was heartily condemned. Another reason is that the midshipmen take naturally to the water and learn rapidly that which is of the greatest importance to a seaman. The third reason is that the academy has an excellent rowing coach, and that he is not handicapped by general orders and what not, as were some of his predecessors. Last year Annapolis cleared the slate in a series of rowing victories. The rowing team of the academy was made like to see the midshipmen enter at Poughkeepsie next year, and there are not a few experts who believe that with the Annapolis crew there Cornell would not have everything its own way. The difference in the study period, which requires the midshipmen to be at sea cruising about the time that the crews on the Hudson are preparing for their joint battle, makes it doubtful that Annapolis will ever be represented at Poughkeepsie.

President C. R. Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin has offered Harvey Holmes of San Francisco $500 a year to become athletic director of the university. The former foot ball and track star thinks that $500 is the least that he can afford to accept for the hard work laid out in the reformed plan of athletics at Wisconsin. Students are willing to raise the difference of $600 by voluntary subscription, but it is not yet known whether the offer will be acceptable to Mr. Holmes, and also that some members of the faculty have declared that athletics ought to be made so inferior to school matters that the director should receive less than a regular full professor. The ordinary salary of a professor is $1000 a year, but a large number of them receive more because they have been offered more at other places and the regents choose to retain their services here. When the faculty was reforming the athletic system one of the considerations was that sports should be made of the same importance, and that the salaries should be meager in accordance with this view. It is believed that Holmes is worth the price that he asks, but the "principle" involved is troublesome to the faculty.

Charles F. Kirschner, the new mayor of Allegheny, under whose administration it is thought everything would run "wide open," has caused consternation among the fans by his announcement that there shall be no wagers on ball games at Exposition park. Heretofore betting has been one of the features of the National League game at Pittsburg and although the club management tried to stamp it out the efforts were practically useless. "I have determined to commence my administration with wiping out gambling at the ball park," declared Mayor Kirschner. "For the gamblers have been the patrons of the game by betting, and if there are enough police in Allegheny it will be stopped. If there are not enough, then we will get more. I intend to have a big bunch of officers at every game, and every person who places a bet on the game of a ball will be arrested. Arrests will be made every day, if necessary, until we stamp out the evil."

America's International lawn tennis team, which will be composed of Boala C. Wright, Holcomb, and Kreigh Collins, and Raymond D. Little, will meet the players of France on June 1, at Liverpool. In the event of winning they will then journey to Newport, Monmouth, where they will meet the winners of the Australasian preliminary matches, the dates being June 2 and 3. Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been scheduled for the courts of the all-English club at Wimbledon, London, June 15, 16 and 18. Both Wright and Ward were on last year's American team and had previous experience abroad. Together they hold the American doubles championship, while Wright, the Bostonian, is the present holder of the single title. In the playing of the Internationals the dates being June 2 and 3, Little will be the hardest competition for the Americans, and upon the result will hang the privilege of challenging the Britons for the cup. Practically the same team as a year ago will represent Australasia—the men being Wright, Kreigh Collins, and Dunlop paired with Brooks in the doubles. The finals for the cup have been