

The Land of Needa Biscuit

The Modern Soda Cracker

Bounded on the North by the Purity of the Snows; on the South by the Nutritious Wealth of the Tropics; on the East by the Healthfulness of Scientific Baking; on the West by the Energizing Power of the Mountains.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

TANK FACTORY DESTROYED

Firemen Have a Dangerous Blaze to Fight Under Douglas Street Bridge.

FIRE CONFINED TO THE ONE BUILDING

Loss Will Reach $15,000, Large Portion of Which Consists of Finished Work, With Insurance of Eighty Per Cent.

Fire which destroyed the plant of the Omaha Tank Manufacturing company, 707 to 711 Douglas street, at 9 o'clock Monday night interfered with traffic on the Union Pacific street car line and provided entertainment for several hundred people, who crowded the railing on the bridge on Eighth street, high above the burning building, for more than an hour.

The blaze was discovered by the railroad yard master, who turned in the alarm and cleared the neighboring tracks of freight trains. The building was a two-story frame affair, and when the firemen arrived was filled with flames. The location is under the Douglas street bridge, surrounded by railroad tracks, and because of this the firemen were unable to get a sufficient number of streams in play in time to save the structure. A stiff wind from the south fanned the blaze and little else could be done than prevent the spread of the flames to neighboring buildings and the bridge. A small building belonging to the cooperage works on the south also caught fire, but was saved.

The main building of the plant, to which the fire was confined, is a total wreck. It was 60 feet high, and together with the stock and machinery, was valued at about $15,000. The building was the property of Eliza Curtis of California and controlled by her brother, S. S. Curtis of Omaha. C. P. Norwall and Theodore Christiansen are the proprietors of the factory, which was established in 1885. They were summoned from their homes when the fire broke out. A portion of the loss is represented by $8,000 worth of made-up tankage ready for shipment, mostly to farmers who make purchases in this line at the end of the year. As to the origin of the fire the proprietors could give no explanation. Electricity was used for power in place of steam, so no fire was kept in the building, but Mr. Norwall was of the opinion apas from a passing locomotive set fire to shavings. While directing a stream in a doorway Captain Miller went too far inside the burning building and was hit by falling timbers and received a few slight burns. Other flames were shaken up considerably in falling from a platform to the ground, but none was badly hurt. The Douglas street bridge was in constant danger of being set afire, but was carefully watched and safe.

SKIN ECZEMA IN WORST FORM

Black Spots All Over Face—Produced Severe Itching—Year's Treatment by Physicians Did No Good and Became Dependent—Affected Parts Now Clear as Ever—Alabama Lady's

CURE BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"About four years ago I was afflicted with black spots all over my face and a few covering my body, which produced a severe itching, and which caused me a great deal of annoyance and suffering, such an extent that I was forced to call in two of the leading physicians of my town. After a thorough examination of the dreaded complaint they announced it to be skin eczema in its worst form. They treated me for the same for the length of one year, but the treatment did me no good. Finally I became dependent and decided to discontinue their services. Shortly afterwards, my husband in reading a copy of a weekly New York paper saw an advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies. He purchased the entire outfit, and after using the contents of the first bottle of Cuticura Resolvent in connection with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, the breaking out entirely stopped. I continued the use of the Cuticura Remedies for six months, and after that every spot was entirely gone and the affected parts were left as clear as ever." I have not felt a symptom of the eczema since, which was three years ago.

"The Cuticura Remedies not only cured me of that dreadful disease, eczema, but other complicated troubles as well and I have been the means of others being cured of the same disease by the Cuticura Remedies, and I don't feel in saying that the Resolvent is the best of medicine that the world has ever known." Lizzie E. Sledge, 546 Jones Ave., Selma, Ala.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS

TUESDAY NIGHT—Tenth and Hickory streets.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT—Creighton hall, Fifteenth and Harney streets.

THURSDAY NIGHT—National hall, Thirteenth and William.

Peterson's hall, 621 Pacific.

FRIDAY NIGHT—McKenna's hall, Sixteenth and Locust.

Washington hall (Swedish-American), No. 2706 Cuming street.

ferred no damage. A number of wires were exposed, the extreme heat, but little damage resulted except to insulated cables. The company employed about forty hands, and Mr. Norwall stated the business was of such proportions they will start up again somewhere within a week.

PLANS FOR DECORATION DAY

Committee Having Matter in Hand Holds Important Session at City Hall.

The general committee on the observance of Decoration day met Monday night at the city hall, with President Cramer in the chair and Miss Clara Foenan as secretary.

The several subcommittees reported progress and will make more complete reports at the next meeting, Monday evening, April 30.

OFFER BY MASTER PAINTERS

Twenty-Five Dollars for Relief Fund if Statement Published is Proved True.

Last night the Master Painters and Decorators' association decided to make the following statement:

Nature's Way Is Best.

The function strengthening and tissue building plan of Nature's Way is the only and the most effective means of curing and obviating cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce's following after Nature's plan of restoring health.

PLAN TO ANNUL CONVENTION

Movement Among Members of N. E. A. to Recall Meeting of Association This Year.

Superintendent of Instruction Davidson, who was for years treasurer and a member of the executive committee of the National Education association, says a movement has been started by prominent educators to annul the annual convention of the organization which was to have been held in San Francisco, July 9 to 13.

BEARD BROS.

M. ANDERSON, STEVENSON & MOORE, HUNT & ELLIOTT, E. H. CRAIG, FLOWERS & SCHENCK, J. P. CARLSON, H. A. KOSTER, PUGH & FITZ, W. L. ENDREIS, RUTHERFORD JENSEN, CHARLES KELLY.

WOMAN SHOTS HER LOVER

Complies With His Request to Fire if He Ever Got Drunk Again.

"I told her if I ever got drunk and raised a fuss, just to shoot me and I would stand for it," remarked Robert Anderson, colored, when taken to the city jail yesterday afternoon with a bullet wound in his left side. The wound was inflicted by a revolver in the hands of Miss Mabel Fanning, the young woman referred to by Anderson, at 1028 Capitol avenue. Anderson and Miss Fanning were lovers. Anderson became drunk yesterday afternoon and raised a disturbance at the woman's apartments. So, remembering the words of her admirer, she picked up a .22-caliber revolver, fired at him and then fled.

After the shooting Anderson walked away and was stopped at Fifteenth and Dodge streets by Patrolman E. Smith, who sent the injured man to the police station. When Police Surgeon Willis offered to dress Anderson's wounds, the colored man would not stand for the probing process, so he was sent to the Omaha General hospital for treatment.

F. H. DAVIS SERIOUSLY HURT

Cashier of First National Bank Has Leg Broken in Runaway Accident.

According to a telegram received in Omaha Monday morning from Steele, S. D., Frederick H. Davis, cashier of the First National bank of Omaha, has been injured in a runaway at that place, suffering a broken leg. No further details were given in the brief message.

ANNOUNCEMENTS OF THE THEATERS

The closing performance of "Little Johnny Jones" will be given at the Boyd theater this evening. The clever company that is handling this popular diversion has made the same hit in Omaha it has in other cities and will long be remembered for its fine work.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS

TUESDAY NIGHT—Tenth and Hickory streets. WEDNESDAY NIGHT—Creighton hall, Fifteenth and Harney streets. THURSDAY NIGHT—National hall, Thirteenth and William. Peterson's hall, 621 Pacific. FRIDAY NIGHT—McKenna's hall, Sixteenth and Locust. Washington hall (Swedish-American), No. 2706 Cuming street.

BENSON TALKS OUT PLAINLY

Calls Things by Right Names at Republican Headquarters Meeting.

REITERATES HIS VIEWS OF GOVERNMENT

County Commissioner Lre Attacks Dahlman and Other Speakers Compare the Two Tickets as to Makeup.

E. A. Benson, republican majority candidate, dealt with some of the phases of the pending campaign without gloves at a meeting of voters held at republican headquarters last night.

"When I started in this campaign I knew the vicious and law-breaking element of the population was against me," said he. "It causes none of us any surprise now to see the people of this class—the thugs, burglars, gamblers, corporations and breweries—lining up on the other side. The only reason to fear them lies in any possibility that they may fool enough of the decent voters of the city to make a respectably large vote. These vicious classes vote almost by instinct. They line up behind a ticket that will favor them like a buzzard goes to carrion. The sole question of supreme importance in this campaign is whether you want these classes to run your city government or not.

"I have nothing against the saloon as long as the saloon is conducted according to law, but the brewers have no more business in this fight than the grocer, the butcher or the baker.

"If there is any man here who doubts the truth of anything I am saying I would like to have him speak out and I will undertake to convince him.

"The World-Herald is trying to show that Tom Dennison is for me. Tom Dennison loves me about as much as the burglar loves the cop, in the words of the song. We know that this deal was to be pulled off a week in advance. They were slower about it than we expected.

"I told her if I ever got drunk and raised a fuss, just to shoot me and I would stand for it," remarked Robert Anderson, colored, when taken to the city jail yesterday afternoon with a bullet wound in his left side. The wound was inflicted by a revolver in the hands of Miss Mabel Fanning, the young woman referred to by Anderson, at 1028 Capitol avenue. Anderson and Miss Fanning were lovers. Anderson became drunk yesterday afternoon and raised a disturbance at the woman's apartments. So, remembering the words of her admirer, she picked up a .22-caliber revolver, fired at him and then fled.

After the shooting Anderson walked away and was stopped at Fifteenth and Dodge streets by Patrolman E. Smith, who sent the injured man to the police station. When Police Surgeon Willis offered to dress Anderson's wounds, the colored man would not stand for the probing process, so he was sent to the Omaha General hospital for treatment.

The Fanning woman has not as yet been apprehended by the police. She was said to have been seen in several places after the affair, both in Omaha and Council Bluffs.

F. H. DAVIS SERIOUSLY HURT

Cashier of First National Bank Has Leg Broken in Runaway Accident.

According to a telegram received in Omaha Monday morning from Steele, S. D., Frederick H. Davis, cashier of the First National bank of Omaha, has been injured in a runaway at that place, suffering a broken leg. No further details were given in the brief message.

ANNOUNCEMENTS OF THE THEATERS

The closing performance of "Little Johnny Jones" will be given at the Boyd theater this evening. The clever company that is handling this popular diversion has made the same hit in Omaha it has in other cities and will long be remembered for its fine work.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS

TUESDAY NIGHT—Tenth and Hickory streets. WEDNESDAY NIGHT—Creighton hall, Fifteenth and Harney streets. THURSDAY NIGHT—National hall, Thirteenth and William. Peterson's hall, 621 Pacific. FRIDAY NIGHT—McKenna's hall, Sixteenth and Locust. Washington hall (Swedish-American), No. 2706 Cuming street.

PROGRESS OF CITY CAMPAIGN

Use of Soubriquet "Jim" by Democrats Disgraces Dignified Voters.

DEMAND FOR HIGHER NOTION OF OFFICE

Dahlmanites Talk of Republican Defection Falls Flat in Face of Facts Revealed from Day to Day.

The use of the soubriquet "Jim" on the board and sign advertising of the democratic majority candidate has produced much derision from Omahans, who have a vestige of pride in their town. The big sign across Farnam street has brought many an exclamation bordering on profanity from dignified Omahans, when they reflected that every visitor in the city would see it.

"This 'Jim' business is disgusting," said a prominent business man. "Omaha outgrew the 'Jim' stage twenty years ago and there is no need of going back to it. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays about like a live hen would stand on her feet in the presence of a turkey. A majority candidate should have a higher conception of the office and what it means than is manifested by the use of a nickname like this. I for one don't care to have it heralded abroad that we have either a 'Jim' or a 'Jimmy' in the mayor's chair. I have heard a good many expressions of a like character. Of course the idea is merely another form of the buncombe used to catch the gullible. The average man, however, takes this sort of thing nowadays