Master Painters and Decorators Make a Statement of the True Situation in the Strike.

Silas Woods, the patriarchal Omaha Indian who on July 14, 1905, killed his brother-in-law, George Phillips, another Omaha Indian with a club, has been acquitted of the charge by the district court of Thursday evening.

The case was first brought in the United States district court and Woods was bound over to the federal grand jury for the May term, 1905, to answer in the sum of $5,000. In the meanwhile the famous Brewer decision establishing the citizenship of Indians who had been granted allotments from the federal courts, and Woods was reindicted by the state courts last fall.

The trouble between Woods and Phillips grew out of a drunken quarrel at Woods' house. Phillips went there and undertook to abuse Woods' family. Phillips was drunk and tried to force his way through the gate of Woods' premises and Woods picked up a club and, it is alleged, struck Phillips with it, producing injuries from which he died shortly afterwards. The verdict is received differently by friends of the two parties and some of Woods' enemies are freely expressing the opinion that he will be the next Indian to die on the reservation.

Woods was virtually the patriarchal head of the Omaha tribe of Indians. He is quite an old man and served in the Union army during the civil war. He is intelligent and speaks English with perfect fluency. He is well known in Omaha and is regarded about the federal building as one of the best types of the Indians of the Omaha tribe.

ARTICLE I.

Eight hours shall constitute a day's work, to be computed from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m., with one hour intermission, viz., from 12 m. to 1 p. m.

ARTICLE II.

The minimum scale of wages to be paid journeymen painters and paperhangers during the existence of this agreement shall be 40 cents per hour.

ARTICLE III.

The party of the first part agrees to employ none but union men in good standing in the Building and Paperhanging Decorators of America, with headquarters at Lafayette, Ind., and will recognize no credentials or work cards except those issued by the local branch of the above named national organization.

ARTICLE IV.

Pay for time and one-half shall be allowed on all overtime. Overtime to mean all work performed after 5 p. m.; also work on Sunday, Christmas day, Fourth of July and Saturday afternoons from the first Monday in September known as Labor day, unless otherwise agreed to by the parties.

ARTICLE V.

All journeymen painters and paperhangers shall receive in full on Saturday after 12 m. of each week all money earned and due them up to and including Friday immediately preceding.

ARTICLE VI.

It is also agreed that all preparatory work such as sawing, preparing woodwork, scraping off old wall paper, painting and kalsomine, sizing and preparing walls for hanging paper or painting, shall be done exclusively by members of organization of party of second part.

ARTICLE VII.

Journeymen painters and paperhangers, when employed, outlay their own expenses, railroad fare and hotel expenses, to receive.

ARTICLE VIII.

The party of the first part agrees not to discriminate against any of its employees on account of active participation in the affairs of the party of the second part.

ARTICLE IX.

In the event that any time party of the second part is unable to furnish sufficient competent men belonging to the order, when called upon to do so, the said party of the first part shall have permission to employ non-members of the order provided said non-union workers make immediate application for membership to organization of party of the second part.

These conditions have become intolerable and we have fully and irrevocably decided to no longer submit to the same.

The master painters have not and do not now refuse an increase in wages to good, competent mechanics, but do emphatically insist upon the right to judge to whom such increase shall be paid, and, therefore, demand the privilege to run what is termed "open shop," meaning the right of the master painter to hire and discharge such men as he may see fit regardless of whether they belong to any labor organization or not.

To prove the sincerity of our statement that the increase in wages is not the real issue, we hereby declare that we stand ready to pay up to and including 50 cents per hour for good workmen and that we will maintain such wages in force for two years.
