Effort to Legislate Land Office Officials Out Fails in Committee.

CHAIRMAN LACEY MUCH PUT OUT OVER IT

Senator Gamble of South Dakota Back at Capital and Expresses Himself as Satisfied with the Situation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, May 4.—(Special Telegram.)—Secretary Hitchcock's pet scheme to abolish land office receivers throughout the country was buried under an avalanche of adverse votes in the house public lands committee today. Chairman Lacey of the committee could muster but four votes in favor of the Hitchcock idea and became so angered at the thought of its defeat in his own committee that he threatened to bring the bill on the floor of the house for a vote anyhow. This he said, he would accomplish by appealing to the speaker and committee on rules, or referring the measure to another committee. Mr. Lacey made good his threat, but was informed by Representative Delzell of the rules committee that the committee was without authority in the premises. Speaker Cannon was equally equipped and informed Mr. Lacey that a majority of the public lands committee had spoken and that ended the matter as far as he was concerned.

Gamble Back at Capital

Senator Gamble of South Dakota arrived in Washington this morning from a visit to his home in Yankton, where he spent several weeks looking after his fences, and, though there may be some remaining not quite properly shored up, he returns to the capitol to be chief concern in the voting on the railroad rate bill. The senator South Dakota senator is engaged in a fight to succeed himself and has arrayed against him his colleague, Senator Kittredge, and the two house members from that state, Martin and Burke, the former congressman being an avowed candidate for Gamble's seat. Representatives Burke and Martin are now at home in South Dakota pulling wires for the defeat of Senator Gamble and the election of Martin.

JUDGE LOBINGIER IN A FIGHT

More About the Bandit Attack on the Official Party in Samar.

H. F. Wyman has received from the Philippines copies of Manila papers containing an account of the attack of the Samar Pulajanes upon a party of which Judge C. S. Lobingier, formerly of this city, was a member. Governor Curry was missing for some time after the attack, but finally returned to camp after serious hardships. The statement of Ceolito Sison, the interpreter and a member of the party, is in part as follows:

On the 23d Sison, Judge Lobingier and Secretary of the Philippine Islands, Magistrate Otoy, a Pulajane chief, stated in their presence that they would surrender the next morning about 9:30 at Chief's Hide-out. The party back to Magraon and slept there that night. It was at Magraon Saturday morning about 9:30 that Chief's Hide-out, P'earnal, Pedro De la Pena and Berto, with over two men and more than four hundred arms, appeared and lined up in front of the constabulary barracks.

Between the Pulajanes and the barracks was a group consisting of the governor, Judge Lobingier, Superintendent of Schools Sison and Sison. Slightly to the left was Scott. Hoover had just placed a camera in position for a photograph of the Pulajanes when a Pulajane went to their right flank and blew a whistle, upon which Hideocue gave the order to advance and the entire Pulajane body rushed the group of men containing the governor.

The constabulary once opened fire and fierce fighting took place during which time Hoover ran to the left and escaped to the barracks. Governor Curry, Lobingier, Hoover and Sison ran towards the Magraon river. Governor Curry and Sison swam the river, and Sison appeared in the bank. The Pulajanes, not knowing that the governor was following.

Other people say that the governor swam the river and was not chased by the Pulajanes, as the constabulary had decisively defeated the Pulajanes and chased them back to mountain in the opposite direction. Judge Lobingier and Hoover evidently fled down the river and finally got into the barracks.

DEATH RECORD.

Funeral of Mollie Koster.

I am sure The Bee will be glad to allow me to speak to the people of Omaha of the character and worth of Mollie Koster, the beloved daughter of Henry A. Koster. Her recent death has given sincere sorrow to all who knew her. Her funeral took place on Thursday last at St. Peter's church, and the presence there of a large number of prominent people at so early an hour of the day showed how strong was the hold which Mollie Koster had upon the respect and affection of a wide and influential circle of friends. She was a native of Omaha, and it was my good fortune to know her from her cradle. Indeed, I knew her venerable father in Syracuse, N. Y., before either of us had ever heard mention of such a place as Omaha. Mollie Koster was a life of singular devotion to her father and mother. A child of the Roman Catholic communion, she grew into womanhood among the most gentle, pure and competent of women. For many years she has been the sole manager of her father's business. In her own quiet and capable way she has gone, day by day and year by year, for her responsible task during the years which found her father, from the infirmities of age, unequal to it. All honor and peace to the memory of Mollie Koster. GEORGE L. MILLER.

NORTHRUP FIGHTS REMOVAL

Tennessee Man Doesn't Want to Come to Omaha for Trial.

ACCUSED OF SELLING WORTHLESS STOCK

Defendant Claims that He Should Be Tried in Knoxville and Asks for Writ of Habeas Corpus.

CINCINNATI, O., May 4.—(Special Telegram.)—The case of Charles S. Northrup, wanted in Omaha on charge of sending through the mails 100 shares of the Norfolk & Western railroad which are said to be spurious, reached the circuit court of appeals here today.

Northrup maintains the shares he sent through the mails were genuine and that the federal commissioner who bound him over to the district court in Omaha had no right to act as he did, as the witness to his transaction live in Knoxville, Tenn. He believes he should be tried in Knoxville and to that end a writ of habeas corpus is asked here.

The particular offense with which Charles S. Northrup is charged is that of using the United States mails for furtherance of a scheme to defraud. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner J. T. Carter at Knoxville, Tenn., and bound over to the federal grand jury at Omaha, which meets next week, in the sum of $2,000. No indictment has yet been found against him from the fact that the matter has not yet reached the grand jury. The case comes within the jurisdiction of the United States district court of Nebraska from the fact that certain Norfolk & Western Railroad bonds figure in the transactions of Northrup. The road was subsequently reorganized, and it is alleged that the old corporation went out of existence, and that the new concern became known as the Norfolk & Western Railway company. It is alleged that Northrup became possessed of a big block of the Norfolk & Western Railroad bonds, and has undertaken to dispose of them, alleging them to be good and of practically their face value. It appears that under the reorganization of the road as the Norfolk & Western Railway company, that the old bonds of the "Railroad" company went into bad repute and were quoted as "N. W." on the New York stock exchange, which is equivalent to "no good." However, it appears that Northrup undertook the disposal of the worthless bonds in his possession in different points in Tennessee, and did buy a hotel at Johnson, Tenn., paying therefor $30,000 of these alleged worthless bonds. It is further alleged that he secured loans from several Tennessee banks, giving Norfolk & Western Railroad bonds as collateral, which were afterwards found to be bad. The case against him has been tried in different forms in the state and federal courts of Tennessee, and is now pending on a motion for appeal, and a motion to quash the warrant. The victims of Northrup's promotion schemes who had been beguiled into investing in the bonds through some advertisement, and other processes whereby the United States mails had been utilized as a vehicle for the better promotion of the scheme, complained against him to the United States postal authorities, and an investigation of the plans of Northrup by the Tennessee postoffice inspectors brought about his arrest for using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes.

South Dakota postmasters appointed: Iona, Lyman camp; William H. Fulwit, route 1; L. C. Kolb, route 1; Campbell city; Eugene E. Vronann, vice M. E. Kludt, resigned.

STURGIS, S. D., May 4.—(Special Telegram.)—Rev. J. L. Dimmitt, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of this city, has tendered his resignation. The presiding elder, Rev. Mr. Clark, appointed Rev. Mr. Dimmitt to do organizing work in the territory embracing the irrigation sections of both Meade and Butte counties.

The doctor is a former Humboldt boy, and his wife was Mrs. Mary Lumberger, also a resident of this section during her girlhood days. The parents of Dr. Scott live here, his father being one of the pioneer business men of the city. Henry A. Scott, until news of this affair came the doctor and his wife were supposed to be living together on the best of terms, although it was generally known that Mrs. Scott had for some months been in poor health, being threatened with nervous prostration. Her husband, upon the advice of a physician, sent her to Superior, Neb., to remain awhile at the home of a brother, F. J. Lumberger, and it was developed that about the last of March she sent word to her husband that she did not intend returning to her home at St. Joseph. He left at once to see her, but before his arrival she took a night train for parts unknown, afterwards sending word from Kansas City that she was leaving for parts unknown and would not write any more for fear of being followed.

SAVED BABY LYON'S LIFE

Untold Suffering and Constant Misery—Awful Sight From that Dreadful Complaint, Infantile Eczema—Commenced at Top of his Head and Covered Entire Body.

MOTHER PRAISES CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Our baby had that dreadful complaint, Infantile Eczema, which afflicted him for several months, commencing at the top of his head, and at last covering his whole body. His sufferings were untold and constant misery, in fact, there was nothing we would not have done to have given him relief. The family doctor secured to be wholly incapable of coping with the case, and after various experiments of his, which resulted in no benefit to the child, we sent to Mason, Ill., to a druggist and got a full set of the Cuticura Remedies and applied as per directions, and he began to improve immediately, and in about three or four days began to show a brighter spirit and really laughed, for the first time in a year. In about ninety days he was fully recovered, with the exception of a rough skin, which is gradually disappearing, and eventually will be replaced by a healthy one.

"Praise for the Cuticura Remedies has always been our greatest pleasure, and there is nothing so good that we could say in their favor, for they certainly saved our baby's life, for we saw the most awful sight that I ever beheld, prior to the treatment of the Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Mabelle Lyon, 1826 Appleton Ave., Parsons, Kan., July 18, 1905."

COMPLETE TREATMENT $1

Complete external and internal treatment for every humor, consisting of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, may be had for one dollar. A single set is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, and scaly humors, eczemas, rashes, and irritations, from infancy to age, when all else fails.
