demand, so that the market as a rule has been in very fair condition all the week.*

The great big bulk of all the cattle received at this point this week has been made up of cornfed steers of fair to choice quality. In fact, there has been no week this year when so many right good cattle have put in an appearance. As a matter of course, this is due largely to the fact that the season is now well advanced and that the cattle are becoming better all the time. Most any other year than this such large receipts of good cattle would result in a heavy slump in prices, but conditions governing the market at the present time appear to be rather peculiar. Owing to some cause or other, presumably to the general good times prevailing all over the country, there is an unprecedented demand for meat products of all kinds. Hence it is that packers have a place to put all the beef that they have been able to secure, and so long as the cattle have not come faster than they could kill them out, there has been no tendency toward an accumulation of supplies, and hence no weakness in market prices. The week started out with beef steers higher, but the advance was pretty nearly wiped out on Tuesday, since which time values have been steadily crawling upward, the market being quoted steady or strong most every day. While at the close of the week it is impossible to quote any great advance as compared with the close of last week, still the sales are on an average logific higher, but a considerable part of this is due unquestionably to the improved quality of the cattle.

Cows and heifers have been in very good demand all the week, and what bas been said regarding the market on beef steers would apply to trading in this line as well. Prices have been well minimal and any change that may have taken place has been on the side of increased strength rather than weakness.

During the first half of the week quite a sprinkling of stockers and feeders was included in the receipts and speculators and yard traders were free buyers. The country d

HOGS—The market opened in very fair shape this morning with sales largely at $3.006.33%, which was a shade higher than yesterday. About two-thirds of the hogs sold on this basis, but some of the packers who have been acting on the bear side were holding off, not trying to fill orders, and when the more trigent orders were filled these buyers lowered their bids and declared that they would buy the rest of the hogs at $6.25 or let them go until Monday. As seliers naturally did not like to be squeezed to that extent, the market was very slow and duli until the close.

It will be noted from the sales following that a good many of the logs sold at $6.30, which was the popular price yesterday, but there was a larger proportion of the early sales above that price than yesterday, while the late sales were largely below that figure.

The tendency of the bog market this

The tendency of the hog market this week has been upward, the market being either steady or a little stronger on an average each day. This upward movement, however, has not taken place without severe opposition on the part of some of the big packers, who are still entertaining bearish ideas and who have not lost an opportunity to hold values down. At the close of the week the market is 15c higher than one week ago and only 30c lower than

These three cars were some more of the Gibson short lambs, which were sold to arrive, weigning up at $5.30, which is 50 more than they have been bringing on previous days this week.

Receipts of sheep this week foot up a little over $2.000 head, as will be noted from itse table at the head of infer report. This is the largest run since the third week in April. The demand has been very good all the week and fully countil to finish. No very marked change has been in a good healthy condition from start to finish. No very marked change has taken place in values during the week. He market on most days being quoted as steady and fairly active. The most noticeable feature of the week's trade is the change from wooled stock. The season is 30 far advanced that wooled as sheep ard lambs no longer kill out as well as short stock.

Supplies in western feed lots are depleted to such an extent that operators on the market are looking for very light receipts and it is hardly to be expected that even the moderain receipts of the last two of three weeks can be maintained very much looker.

Quotations on wooled stock: Good to concle lambs, $1.007.35, fair to good claims; sandy and sandy and chief such and the moderain receipts of the last two of three weeks can be maintained very much longer.

SHEEP AND LAMBS-Receipts, 1,395 head; market feeling steady; a few common clipped sheep sold at $4.00 per 100 pounds; unshorn lambs, $7.00@7.50; no sales of clipped lambs; Maryland lambs, $6.00 per head. THE TWENTIETH CENTURY FARMER REVIEW OF REVIEWS COSMOPOLITAN WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY FARMER BEVIEW OF REVIEWS COSMOPOLITAN. WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

COUNTRY CALENDAR All to One Address. We are very fortunate in boing able to arrange with the publishers of these well known magazines to offer their publications at this consational price. It is an opportunity not often presented. Never before has a publisher been able to make so liberal an offer on exclusive high grade and high priced magazines. You ask how is this offer possible if the three magazines have a fixed value and are not like the commodities usually offered at bargain

THE EXPLANATION

It is well known to everyone in business that in fixing a setting price there must be added to the manufacturing cost the cest of marketing. The cost of marketing a magazine is a big item, and these three publishing houses decided to unify their efforts to get new readers, making one organization do the work, and divide the cost of marketing by three. That is why you can buy these magazines, that fit the needs of every home, for nearly half price.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY FARMER

This is a magazine designed for every member of the farm home Special articles on subjects of the greatest interest are printed each week. These are written by men of national reputation and cover a field so diversified as to embrace during the year all branches of farm activity and life. Frank G. Carpenter's "Letters of Travel" and William Jennings Bryan's "Around the World Letters" appear in no other agricultural paper. Either one of these features are worth the price of a year's subscription. No other farm paper maintains so many regular departments, such as Feeding, Live Stock, Veterinary, Dairy, Poultry, Crops, Farm Devices, Orchard and Garden, with four pages devoted to the women, young folks and children. Each of these departments is edited by a practical editor and not by a theorist.
