

SUPREME COURT'S BUSY DAY

Decides Business Colleges are Schools and Exempt From Taxation.

WESTERN UNION MUST PAY TAX, HOWEVER COURT HOLDS COMPANY TOOK WRONG METHOD OF TESTING LEGALITY OF ASSESSMENT AND MUST PAY THE TAX.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, May 17.—(Special.)—The supreme court this morning affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of the Robrough Business college of Omaha to the effect that the college is a school and is therefore permitted to deduct from its value, for assessment purposes, that part used exclusively for school purposes. The court also found for the Van Dorn Iron Works, which sued for a balance due on steel cells placed in the state penitentiary. The auditor refused to issue the warrant because the company had failed to put in sewer connections in six of the cells, though the bond allowed the bill and passed favorably upon the work done. William A. Simmons, who brought habeas corpus proceedings, was ordered released after an attack on the dispositive law under whose provisions he had been sent to the asylum. The court did not pass upon the constitutionality of the law.

Western Union Must Pay. The Western Union Telegraph company, which sought to enjoin the collection of an increased tax levied by reason of an increase ordered by the County Board of Equalization on its property, according to the supreme court, sought to secure its release by the wrong methods and therefore ordered the judgment of the district court reversed and the cause dismissed. In May, 1904, the county assessor of Douglas county gave to the company's officials a blank upon which to make out the company's assessment. This was returned with the persons property valued at $30,256.50 and the gross receipts at $7,082.20. The two items made a total "personal" valuation of $47,338.70. The county board served the company with a notice to show cause why its assessment should not be increased. After a hearing the assessment was placed on the list of assessed value of the personal property was extended on the records at $53,460 instead of $30,256, as returned by the assessor. The tax against the company was $477. The company offered to pay taxes on its tangible property, $343.50. This sum was refused and an injunction was asked for to restrain the county from collecting any more taxes than it was tendered. After a hearing the injunction was granted. In reversing the case Commissioner Ames said: "An action in equity will not lie when the plaintiff has a plain, adequate and speedy remedy at law. He also held it right and proper to take into consideration the gross receipts arriving at the value of a franchise.

Mrs. Ogden Loses Insurance. The supreme court has reversed the decision of the district court of Douglas county in the case wherein Mrs. Mable P. Ogden, widow of the late Charles Ogden, secured a verdict against the Mutual Benefit World for $2,000, the amount of a policy carried in the order by the deceased. It was shown Ogden failed to pay an assessment levied for the month of November. He died the following January. The widow brought suit, alleging that her husband was in good standing at the time the policy was issued and that the assessment levied was in violation of the contract and was void.

Road Must Pay for Streets. The Omaha Stage and Terminal company will have to pay the city of South Omaha nominal damages for condemning its streets and alleys for the purpose of laying tracks. The case is reversed. When the railroad company and the city council could not get together on an agreement as to what damages should be paid the city, the company condemned the property and the district court allowed the town $10 damages. The supreme court holds the city has the same property interests in its streets as a private party has in its property and should be treated the same.

Wounded Dies en Route. Mrs. A. E. Pearson, en route to Lincoln from Altoona, Kan., to visit her mother, Mrs. W. J. Hamilton, died on the train near Weeping Water. The woman complained of being ill of heart trouble and during the night she took some headache powders. It was the opinion of Coroner Graham that she died as the result of this medicine.

Norfolk Hearing Monday. Acting in accordance with the opinion of the attorney general that the Board of Public Lands and Buildings was the proper party to hear the complaints against Superintendent John M. Peterson, Nicholson of the Norfolk asylum, the governor today turned over the records in the case to Land Commissioner Eaton, chairman of the board. The board will go to Norfolk Monday afternoon to begin taking evidence in the case.

Chief Justice Sedgwick was called home this morning by a telegram announcing the death of a brother at York. Supreme court at once adjourned without waiting to pass upon the motions for rehearing.

Flight Over Saloon License. FORT CALHOUN, Neb., May 17.—(Special Telegram.)—The election in Fort Calhoun was a tight between the saloons and the law and order element, and the mayor and city council were elected by the law and order party by a good majority. Then

FREMONT GETS ENCAMPMENT

Votes Almost Unanimous Among Veterans in Favor of That Place. J. R. MAXON FOR COMMANDER
Four Ballots Necessary to Make Selection, the Other Candidates Being General Gage of Lincoln and Ell Barnes of Grand Island.
(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., May 17.—(Special Telegram.)—The next encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held in Fremont. This was decided at the business meeting of the veterans this afternoon, almost unanimously. A big fight on the part of Lincoln had been anticipated, but failed to materialize, as nearly all of the veterans present what they think scant attention paid to them by the citizens and business men of Lincoln and the opposition to the capital was almost unanimous. Because of this when the motion was made to hold the next encampment in Fremont it went through with a snap. Lincoln was not even mentioned, though at one time this town hoped to be the permanent meeting place of the old soldiers. The following officers were elected: J. R. Maxon of Minden, department commander; John F. Diener of Syracuse, senior vice commander; Jonathan Edwards of Omaha, junior vice commander; L. B. Sales of Geneva, chaplain; W. H. Johnson of Lincoln, medical director. The only fight was on the election of a department commander and it required four ballots to settle this controversy. The others voted for were General Gage of Lincoln and 21 names of Grand Island. Gage was second in the running. Tomorrow another business session will be held and the remainder of the officers selected. Tonight a camp fire was held at the Auditorium and a packed house was in attendance. Commander-in-Chief Tanner, Governor Mickel, State commander L. B. Sales spoke and patriotic songs were sung by the entire audience. Parade of Veterans. Inspired by the deeds of forty years ago, grizzled war veterans, many scarcely able to walk alone, some with an arm or leg missing as a reminder of the war, marched through the streets of Lincoln this morning, greeted everywhere by crowds which generously cheered the little remnant of a gallant band. The occasion was the second day of the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. The exercises were a lesson in patriotism. The high school children marched in a body to the Auditorium and the old and the new joined in singing patriotic songs and in listening to patriotic addresses. A beautiful flag was presented to the high school by Mrs. Jennie Bryant on behalf of the Women's Relief Corps. Then there were speeches by Commander-in-Chief Tanner, Mrs. Abbie Adams, president of the National Women's Relief Corps, Department Commander Lett and Department President Harriet A. Wilcox; Mary A. Morgan, national secretary, and Principal Sanders of the high school. Tonight General Custer circle gave a reception to the members of the Ladies' Aid in the Auditorium and the old and the new joined in singing patriotic songs and in listening to patriotic addresses. A beautiful flag was presented to the high school by Mrs. Jennie Bryant on behalf of the Women's Relief Corps. Then there were speeches by Commander-in-Chief Tanner, Mrs. Abbie Adams, president of the National Women's Relief Corps, Department Commander Lett and Department President Harriet A. Wilcox; Mary A. Morgan, national secretary, and Principal Sanders of the high school.
