OUR JIM IS OUT, BUT SILENT

Dahlman Emerges from Hiding Place with No Announcement Until Monday.

MEANWHILE THE PIE BITERS ARE BUSY

Open Warfare Between Mayor and Council Imminent as Result of Some Selections the Colonel Has Made.

"No announcements until Monday," was the fiat of Mayor-elect Dahlman, who came out of retirement Thursday morning long enough to listen to a speech by J. A. Beverly, late republican conciliatory candidate, and others in the Paxton hotel lobby.

Mr. Dahlman was asked if he would call the new councilmen together and talk over appointments, and he didn't know, but rather thought this would be the program. Some of the council are very insistent that it should be the program and are threatening to be ugly if the mayor springs a lot of appointments on them that they don't like.

Some or All Might Be. "I'm not saying that all the mayor's appointments would be rejected, but some of it might be," said one of the councilmen-elect discussing the situation.

Leading democrats are doing their best to prevent an open rupture between the mayor and his council, for they fear the worst, particularly since what looks to be authentic information has crept out regarding several of the Honorable Jim's selections.

Chief of the disturbance fact is that concerning the reappointment of Tom Lee as city prosecutor. Lee served the last three years in the place under the Moores administration and is supposed to be a republican. It was said on what looked to be excellent authority that Mr. Dahlman had decided upon Lee's retention.

According to the statement Chairman Bullard of the democratic city committee headed a delegation to urge the appointment of H. S. Daniel for prosecutor.

Mayor-elect Dahlman is reported to have told the delegation that it might save its breath, for he had promised to name Lee and would do so. Chairman Bullard is quoted as authority for the statement of the interview.

Lee Opposed by His Father. It is said that Lee's father, Ambrose Lee, an old-time citizen, has asked the mayor-elect not to reappoint his son, being anxious to sever him from association with Third ward characters and environment.

Many democrats say Lee's reappointment would be a red rag in the face of the council and that a majority of the body would turn it down. They say tactics would be used on Dahlman to make him reconsider similar to those employed to annul the slating of Tom Flynn for street commissioner.

It is now understood that the Power faction, aided by others, has made such an onslaught on Flynn as to put his selection for street commissioner out of the question; that Power's forces have won out and Flynn will be given the job of plumber inspector if he will take it.

The choice for street commissioner is now presumed to lie between Owen Slavin, a street car conductor, and William J. Yancey, a sidewalk contractor and familiar figure in city hall circles.

Four Doctors After the Jobs. The fight over the health commissioner's job has developed into a heated contest with Drs. Connel, Peabody, Dan Lee and D. A. McDermott as leading figures.

Dr. Connel is reported to have used up more of the mayor-elect's time in trying to get the appointment than any other one man election.

Just what will be done to bolster up the legal department so as to instill a measure of confidence against the handicap of "lig" Dunn and Burnam is uncertain. Talk has been heard of recreating the office of second assistant, with a salary of $2,800 a year, or the same as the first assistant, and trying to get W. H. Herdman to take it.

Herdman's friends say he would be foolish to consider the offer, entailing as it does a step down from the place he has filled for three years. Meanwhile the proposition of creating the office of corporation counsel is still discussed.

Unofficially the information has been distributed that Thomas H. Dalley will be City Clerk Butler's deputy. Mr. Dalley is an old resident, an employe at the Union Pacific shops and was defeated for the fifth ward democratic council nomination. He has been in the council and also held a clerical position later in the county clerk's office.

FUNKHOUSER'S ANTI-PASS DOPE Seasoned Politician is Preparing His Campaign Scheme Vigorously.

Councilman-elect Alvin Jackson has returned from a business trip to Redding, Cal.

Before he takes his seat in the council Monday persons of the Funkhouser faction intend to ask him to explain the rumor that he made the trip on a railway pass.

If Mr. Jackson does not answer promptly and correctly the Funkhouser iron is to brand him a "corporation tool." If the Funkhouser faction gets control of the council it is said one of the first rules to be adopted will be one requiring an affidavit showing how he got his transportation and how much he paid for it from every councilman who goes out of town.

Dr. John C. Davis, councilman-elect from the Eighth ward, has been away, but is expected back this week. Dr. Davis is to be subjected to the anti-pass inquisition, according to rumors.

"I don't believe this rot about inquiring into this here pass business," said a Bedford supporter. "This Funkhouser seems to be a rumor expert. He started a lot on the Board of Education and never finished 'em. Bedford's going to be president of this council and don't you forget it."

The best hope on the subject obtainable Thursday confirmed the enthusiastic prediction quoted. It is believed Mr. Bedford has seven votes beyond peradventure and these are enough.

WAR BETWEEN THE AK-SAR-BEN AND THE PROPRIETORS OF A VAUDEVILLE COMPANY IS IN PROSPECT WITH OFFICERS OF THE CITY GOVERNMENT LINGERING ON THE SIDE OF THE AK-SAR-BEN AND SEEKING A WAY TO DENY THE THEATER A LICENSE.

A few weeks ago a high board fence was built around a vacant lot at the northwest corner of Eighteenth and Douglas streets and carpenters proceeded to build circus seats inside and a sheet iron covered stage.

The identity of the affair, which has no roof, was spread in paint on the fence. As it is located in the middle of the territory used by the Ak-Sar-Ben for its fall carnival, mutterings rose among the board of governors. If the theater was there and doing business how could the king's grand dukes collect any royalty, rent or any other old coin from the proprietors, while the latter were growing rich on the throngs imported by the Ak-Sar-Ben.

Such a problem never faced the governors before and it staggered them. They appealed to the mayor and since then he, City Clerk Elbourn and others have been busy endeavoring to devise a plan to remove the license.

If a satisfactory understanding can be had between the Ak-Sar-Ben people and the theater the trouble will be ended—otherwise a legal battle may result, if the new administration sees the thing in the same light as the present one. City officers confess that good grounds for refusing the license are hard to find, but they think the Ak-Sar-Ben has a prior claim on their sympathies and patriotism.

The Bessmer Washed Coal company has brought suit in the United States circuit court against the C. W. Hull company of Omaha for $3,623.93, alleged to be due on contract.

Judge Day Thursday granted a decree of divorce to William Holden from Mabel Holden. He charged his wife left him several months ago and has refused to live with him since.

George N. Harkness has begun suit against the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company for $10,000 damages for injuries he says he received May 4 in a fall from a street car at Sixteenth and Sprague streets. His fall was due to a sudden jerking of the car after it had started to slow down.

The new case to come to trial before the United States circuit court will be that of Gilbert N. White, administrator of the estate of John C. Rollins, against the Missouri Pacific Railway company for $5,000 damages. Rollins was killed while walking on the Missouri Pacific tracks on Locust street February 12, 1904, through being run down by a train of the defendant road while in its employ.

The trial of Archibald M. Evans, charged with larceny in the case of the $100,000 estate of John C. Rollins, against the Missouri Pacific Railway company for $5,000 damages, was begun Thursday morning. The complaining witness is former Police Judge S. I. Gordon. Evans and Gordon were interested in some litigation as attorneys for Jones Bros. of Kansas. Evans is alleged to have promised Judge Gordon half of the fee he received, but instead of giving it to him kept all of it. The amount Judge Gordon claimed is $72.90.

PROBLEM FOR AK-SAR-BEN

Occupation of Carnival Grounds by Vaudeville Company Creates Some Anxiety.

Unless Amicable Settlement Can Be Reached Matter Will Be Taken to the Court for Adjudication.

War between the Ak-Sar-Ben and the proprietors of a vaudeville company is in prospect with officers of the city government lining up on the side of the Ak-Sar-Ben and seeking a way to deny the theater a license.

A few weeks ago a high board fence was built around a vacant lot at the northwest corner of Eighteenth and Douglas streets and carpenters proceeded to build circus seats inside and a sheet iron covered stage.
