OMAHA SHUTS OUT DENVER

Sanders is Too Much for Visitors, Allowing But Four Hits.

PERFECT CONTROL THROUGHOUT GAME

Six Thousand Fans Turn Out to See Pa's Colts Redeem Themselves by Walloping Wee Willie's Cubs.

For running too fast Saturday at Vinton street park Denver was set back Sunday afternoon before the banner crowd of the season, 6,000. Omaha won in a game full of fast plays by the score of 7 to 0. Every kind of play on the bill was dished out for the delectation of the large crowd, with fast fielding and some not so fast, with good pitching and some not so good and with good stick work and some work that did not work.

Sanders was in the box for Omaha and he was in complete control of the situation at all stages, holding the heavy hitters down to four little hits, one of which was a two-bagger by Randall in the ninth inning, but it did him no good, although he succeeded in reaching third. Sanders had everything a pitcher needed Sunday and rest of all was perfect control, massive but one, by the grace of the otherwise excellent umpire. Fans who saw Umpire Davis yesterday for the first time, marveled at the name of Slats, but for their edification it might be well to say that he got that name several years ago when he was about 100 pounds lighter.

Paige started to oblige for Young Bill Everett, who sat on the bench with the same hat. In the second inning, however, Bill was seen to remove his hat, and start toward Mr. Paige, but it was with no intention of inflicting bodily harm. He simply wanted to send him to the stable to make room for Spit Ball Engle, who arrived too late to be of any use to the mountaineers, for the battle was already lost. Paige did everything but hit a man in the first inning, being hit for a double and triple, walked a man and threw the ball wild.

Omaha did not wait on any formalities, but went right after the goods from the first drop of the hat. After Denver had been clanked Howard, who has been nursing a Charleyhorse for a week, stepped to the plate and hit for a clean double to right. Carter followed him with another in the same direction on which he reached third. Bassey popped out and while pitching four wide ones to Welch, Mr. Paige threw one so wide that Carter trotted home. A neat double ended the inning.

One, two, three was all there was for Denver in the second, while Omaha did some more scoring. Mr. Paige presented Perring and Gonding with bases, when Everett thought he had displayed his fine figure long enough and called him in. Sanders hit an easy one to the pitcher on which Perring was caught at third and Howard singled. Carter went out on a ground ball to first on which Gonding scored and Bassey hit for three, scoring Sanders and Howard.

Dolan made the next run for Omaha in the fifth inning when, after beating out a bunt to first, he made the circuit of the bases on the wild throw of Engle to catch him at first. The next run came in the sixth inning, when Gonding doubled and came home on Sanders' three-sacker. That was all the scoring done by Omaha, but then it was thought to be enough or more could have been made.

Denver had the fans on the anxious seat in the fourth inning, when six Mountaineers faced Warfield Sanders. The first man up singled over Sanders' head and the fourth did the same and the fifth was given a base on one of Dolan's errors, but Zalusky ended the agony by flying out to Howard.

Several of the Omaha players covered themselves with glory and made up a little for the poor fielding which has been done for the last week. Perring scooped one of the hard ones and started a double on a ball which looked like a hit. Bassey got a hard one and Carter forgot his game knee long enough to spoil a base hit and help make a double play. Sanders worked his quick return on an old pal when he caught Old Sport McHale napping. Kroell was not so easily fooled and got a safe one on a quick return.

The same teams will play this afternoon before the school children of the city schools. It will not be ladies' day.

GAMES IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Chicago Beats Champions Before Record-Breaking Crowd.

CHICAGO, May 20. — Before a record-breaking crowd at National League park today the leaders defeated the Champions in their first clash of the season. Lundgren pitched a superb game, being hit hard in only one inning and receiving perfect support, while Ames was batted freely in the fifth inning, his backing was rather ragged. Mounted police were kept busy forcing the vast crowd back and ground rules were made which allowed but two bases for everything hit into the crowd. Score:

ORIGINALS DEFEAT B. JETTERS

Omaha Peerless Win from Brewers at South Omaha.

The Lee-Glass-Andreesen team journeyed to South Omaha yesterday and trimmed the B. Jetter's up to the tune of 10 to 4.

The hardware men scored two in the first inning on a two-sacker by Bradford and singles by Lawlor and Roben. The Brewers failed to stay the onslaught and the hardware apostles kept up the fast work until the last man was out in the ninth inning. The Brewers played a fast uphill game, but were unable to overcome the lead the Glass boys had up to the fourth inning. For the Lee-Glass-Andreesen's, Minicus pitched good ball besides getting two hits. The score:
