Judge Corniah Holds Law Invalid as Improper Use of Police Power.

METHOD OF INCARCERATION FAULTY Law Provides Inchrintes Must Not Be Confined with Insane, While It Appears Complainant Had Been.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, May 24 .- (Special.)-The dipsonaniac law got a whack from Judge Cornish of the district court this afternoon when he ordered the release of LaRoy Craig from the asylum, Craig having been adjudged an inebriate. He sought release by habeas corpus proceedings, and in his opinion Judge Cornish said: In the matter of the application of Le-roy Craig for writ of habeas corpus the court is of the opinion that the demurrer in this case to the application must be overruled for the reason: First, that the law providing for the commitment of dip-somaniacs to the asylum provides that they shall be confined in a separate ward. The petition which upon demurrer is ad-mitted to be true alleges that the appli-cant is not confined in a separate ward. The petition which upon demurrer is ad-mitted to be true alleges that the appli-cant is not confined in a separate ward. It is proposed to continue to so confine him, and that the state is unable at the present time to provide for other confine-ment of such persons. If this variation from the law is prejudicial to the rights of the applicant, then it seems to the court that his petition makes a case. We believe such confinement does constitute substantial injury. These persons are sup-posed to be already weakened by the use of drinks or drugs and their confinement with insame patients is dangerous to their natural health, and at least until the legis-lature shall see fit to so confine them pinion Judge Cornish said:

natural health, and at least until the legis-natural health, and at least until the legis-lature shall see fit to so confine them their complaint in this particular ought to be held good. Another reason why the court is of the opinion that this law is bad is that it does not seem to come under the general rule permitting police regulations in this, that it does not confine itself to those cases where the person's conduct is assumed to have become a menace to the peace, safety, health or morals of society. The court is of the opinion that for such a law to be constitutional it must be so limited in its application.
