June is the favorite month for weddings, and that many of the women have waited for the month of roses is evident by glancing at the social calendar for the first week of the month, which has seven weddings chronicled, while there will probably be several more quiet ones which have not been announced, and many more are in prospect before the end of June. Two of the weddings will take away from Omaha two very popular young women, Miss Gertrude Clarke, who will live in the extreme east, in Worcester, Mass., and Miss Gertrude Robinson, who goes to Seattle in the extreme west to reside. Both were born and reared in Omaha, but being passionately fond of travel, have spent much of the time away from here, but now their many friends regret that their marriages will take them away permanently. The rest of the brides of the week have all chosen Omaha men and will continue to reside here. All the brides have been the recipients of much social attention the past week and the coming week holds many given-in-honor affairs.

The one topic of conversation and the event of the week was the opening of the Country club on Wednesday. All society was there in its best attire and the scene from early afternoon till midnight was a gay and brilliant one. From now on most of the entertaining will take place at the Country club and Field club, for it is so easy and convenient a way to entertain one's friends. It relieves the hostesses of the bother and worry of planning the many little details of a luncheon or dinner and she can entertain as many as she wants at very short notice, which is a great convenience sometimes. Among the dinners at the Country club last week that given by Mr. and Mrs. James L. Paxton in honor of Miss Gertrude Clarke and Mr. Matthew Whittall, the other guests being Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Heth, Mr. H. T. Clarke, Mr. Gordon Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Clarke, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howard. Mrs. Guy Howard entertained Miss Fechet, Lieutenant Abbott of Fort Omaha, Miss Howard, Lieutenant Whelan of Fort Crook, Mr. Ezra Millard, Mr. Milton Darling and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dooley at dinner.
 Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McKen's guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hull, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cummings and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Gulou.
 Mr. and Mrs. John A. McShane had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Forye and Mrs. E. C. McShane.
 Mayor and Mrs. Dahlman, Rev. and Mrs. T. J. Mackay and Mrs. G. W. Wattles were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Montgomery.
 Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Lemist entertained fourteen guests and Mr. Frank Wilhelm gave a dinner of ten covers in honor of Miss Bobb Bell.
 Others entertaining were Messrs. C. N. Dietz, W. A. Gilbert, Howard Baldrige, Frank Keogh and Harry Wilkins.

Hereafter Wednesday will be ladies' day at the Field club, the directors having announced that a table d'hote luncheon at 75 cents a plate will be served on the day. It is probable the women will also be allowed the privilege of playing cards on the piazza after the luncheon. A table d'hote dinner will also be served on Wednesday evenings hereafter. Those who gave dinners last evening were: Messrs. F. B. Johnson, E. E. Bryson, G. W. Holdrege, Judge Munger, C. H. Brown and W. H. Buckholz.
 The event of next week will be the bridge party to be given at the Country club Friday afternoon for the benefit of the Crech's. A general invitation is extended to those who are in any way interested in the Crech's. Those who will have charge of the decoration of the rooms and tables are: Mrs. Charles Kountze, Mrs. J. E. Baum and Mrs. H. T. Lemist. Miss Arabella Kimball will see that the necessary cards and tables are in place. Mrs. McMahon and Mrs. Arthur Metz will be the door committee and will have tickets to sell to those who for various reasons were unable to purchase previous to that time. Mrs. A. J. Beaton is chairman of the refreshment committee and Mrs. H. T. Lemist will have charge of the twelve prizes donated by the members of the committee. The officers of the Crech's are: Mrs. T. L. Kimball, president; Mrs. Ada Walker, vice-president; Mrs. McMahon, secretary; Mrs. A. D. Brandels, treasurer. The directors are: Messdames J. E. Baum, Charles Kountze, Joseph Cudwally, Thomas Kilpatrick, A. J. Beaton, G. T. Anderson, Guy Howard, J. L. Lohman, Arthur Remington, J. W. Van Nostrand, W. A. Redick, Arthur Metz, Z. H. Baldrige, H. T. Lemist, F. A. Nash, Gordon W. Wattles, A. G. Beeson, John C. Cowin, Miss Barrows, Miss Carrie Millard and Miss Arabella Kimball.
