SHOW FOR HYDRAULIC ENGINEERS

Councilman Authorizes Employment of Water Works Estimate.

The city council last night at its regular monthly session authorized the employment of a competent hydraulic engineer to compute the value of the plant of the Council Bluffs City Water Works company and to give an estimate of the cost of the construction of a new water works system and plan a water main system.

The authority granted the special water works committee, however, is limited. Under the action of the city council last night the committee is authorized to select an expert in the selection of such an expert is approved by a vote of the city council.

At the suggestion of Councilman Smith, who received his inspiration from an article published in a municipal journal, the city solicitor was instructed to draft an ordinance prohibiting any person from selling or offering for sale any animal, fowl or fish used for food purposes, refrigerated or otherwise, which has not been properly "drawn" and prepared by removing the viscera, or in plain English, the entrails, at the time of slaughter.

The ordinance would require the employment of a meat inspector.

Jeff Bedford and E. L. Matthews of Omaha, officers of the Omaha Gun and Rod association, appeared before the council with a request that the city of Council Bluffs vacate in favor of the association a small piece of land at Dorsey and Eighth streets.

CONVENTION OF LIQUOR DEALERS

In Absence of Mayor Councilman Will Hold Session. In absence of Mayor Matrone from the city, Councilman Thomas Maloney will deliver the address of welcome at the opening session this morning of the third annual convention of the Iowa Liquor Dealers' association.

Burlington and Sioux City are both after the next convention, and "boosters" from both cities arrived yesterday morning.

Stevens headed the boosting delegation from Sioux City, which consisted of Burlington is extolling his home city as the best place to hold the 1907 meeting.

All of the state officers arrived in the city yesterday morning. They are: President, C. A. Stephens, Cedar Rapids; first vice president, Fred Dierkes, Burlington; second vice president, D. C. Barnes, Ida Grove; third vice president, M. Ingwerson, Clinton; fourth vice president, J. Schmitt, Jr., Fort Dodge; fifth vice president, William Muehlaupt, Marshalltown; sixth vice president, L. Stephens, Sioux City; secretary, J. Klem, Council Bluffs; treasurer, L. A. Hornberg, Dubuque.

A meeting of the executive committee was held yesterday afternoon at the Grand hotel to wind up the business affairs of the association for the year.

President Stephens was seen at the Grand hotel yesterday, said he expected a good attendance at the convention, and that a large number of new members will be enrolled.

Regarding the purpose of the organization, Mr. Stephens said: "This organization is not very clear as to the law of the state of Iowa, which protects liquor but does not protect men in the liquor business. The association was formed not to find ways to evade the penalties of the law, but to protect men in a legitimate business from blackmail and oppression when possible by a minority sentiment in different localities. This association has no fight to make with opposing sentiment honestly pronounced. It believes that the law should be enforced, but impartially, and that it should not be used by individuals to vent their spite or extort blackmail from members of the association. The association merely asks that its members be judged by the same standards as other business men, and that they be given credit for just what they are worth.

Jeff Bedford and E. L. Matthews of Omaha, officers of the Omaha Gun and Rod association, appeared before the council with a request that the city of Council Bluffs vacate in favor of the association a small piece of land at Dorsey and Eighth streets.

AMANA SOCIETY IN COURT

Why Eight-Day Malt Is Best

Decision Expected Soon in Suit to Dissolve the Society.

ASSOCIATION WON IN THE LOWER COURT

Kansas City Man, Arrested for impersonating a United States Marshal, Makes Attempt to Escape from Court.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, June 4.—(Special.)—The supreme court convenes for the June period of the May term tomorrow morning and the case for the dissolution of the Amana society in Iowa county, one of the biggest and most interesting cases ever brought before the court, will be argued.

The case is argued by Judge Wade of Iowa City, who appears for the society and Attorney General Mullan will appear for the state. The Amana society is in possession of thousands of acres of the best farm land of the state. It is a religious organization, living in the most rigid asceticism. It was started on the order of Judge Byington of the district court to determine whether the society should not be forced to incorporate, it being asserted that it has ceased to be an eleemosynary institution and that it exists for pecuniary profit, and hence unincorporated.

The district court in the case of the Amana society won. It is alleged that the value of the property owned by the society amounts to over $200,000. The land is located in the northeastern corner of Iowa county, where it is situated the villages, Amana, South Amana, North Amana and Homestead.

Impersonated United States Marshal. Bryant Biggs of Kansas City, who came to Des Moines yesterday on an excursion, arrested a Pinkerton detective and was arrested himself when he reached this city and sought to turn his prisoners over to the police, and today when being arraigned in police court made a bold attempt to escape from the custody of the officers.

The Iowa Grand Lodge of the Masonic order will open in this city tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and 2,000 Masons will be in the city. An elaborate program for several days has been mapped out. This is the first time in many years that the lodge have served a city. The lodge will be a "Days" school of instruction. The local lodge will assemble at the Chamberlain hotel, the headquarters of the grand lodge, tomorrow morning and escort the grand lodge to the auditorium, where the three days' school will be held. During the three days, in addition to the school, the grand lodge will lodge will visit the army post, where a special drill of the Eleventh cavalry has been arranged with full review at 2 p. m. Wednesday afternoon officers will be elected for the ensuing year and in the evening the entire seating capacity of the new Emory theater will be given to the visitors to witness a vaudeville production.

Gothenburg Mayor's Son on Trial. Henry Otto, the alleged son of the mayor of Gothenburg, Sweden, who was arrested as a participant in the hold up at Valley Junction, will be on trial in the district court here tomorrow for attempted murder.

Council Bluffs Rids Tomorrow. The State Board of Control will tomorrow open the bids for the construction of the big $50,000 building for the school for the Deaf at Council Bluffs.

This Week's Conventions. Republican county conventions are being held this week as follows: Monday, Worth; Tuesday, Harding and causes; Wednesday, Woodbury; Thursday, primaries in Jefferson; Friday, caucuses in East Waterloo and Newton; Saturday, primaries in Jasper and conventions in Cass, Story, Black Hawk, Muscatine and Jefferson.

It is understood here that Governor Cummins has abandoned his program for the week and will spend all his time in Black Hawk and Jasper counties.

LaFollette Not Coming. Senator LaFollette will not come from Washington to take part in the Iowa campaign in the interest of Governor Cummins. Governor Cummins today received a letter from the senator stating that he would not be in Washington prevented his leaving there.

Worked on Sympathies. A man giving his name as Boyle of Omaha canvassed East Des Moines for aid today, claiming that he had just come from the soldiers' home at Marshalltown and was a veteran of the civil and Spanish-American wars. Through telling a different story at each place he was detected, but the police failed to make an arrest, the man learning of the suspicions and making his escape.

Hobo Takes a Lively Pounding in Preference to a Ride on the Rods. A husky 200-pound man of the hobo type worked a new game upon a Southern Pacific passenger conductor the other night. The man boarded the train at San Antonio and took his seat in the forward smoker, and apparently sank into a deep slumber. His snores resounded through the car. At intervals throughout the all night ride to Houston the conductor, aided by the trainmen, tried to arouse him so as to get his ticket. They pounded him, pulled his ears, his nose and jabbed him all over the body with their fists. He slept through it all, or at least he appeared to sleep.

Just as the train was pulling into the yards at Houston he cut short a snore, roused himself, opened his eyes and sat up in his seat. The conductor was entering the coach and saw that his troublesome passenger was awake at last. Without a word the conductor touched him upon the arm and called for his ticket. The man felt through his pockets with a sleepy air. "I'll declare, I forgot to buy a ticket," he announced.

"If you have no ticket you can pay me the fare, it is $3.00," the conductor said. The man looked at the conductor and a smile spread over his face.

"Say, you had a lot of fun with me last night; don't you think it was worth $3.00 to you?" he asked.

"Struck with the humor of it, the conductor returned the smile of the man, and said, 'You earned the ride.'"

The conductor passed on, and the passenger alighted at the depot at Houston. He carried no baggage. He was heard to remark to a fellow hobo later in the day that being punished around by a conductor felt better than "riding the rods."—Houston Post.

Why Eight-Day Malt Is Best

This Process Gets All of the Food Value of the Barley into the Malt.

The usual four-day process of making malt for brewing may be compared to the unnatural rapid growth of grain plants in midsummer. It makes malt quickly, but at the sacrifice of the vital food quality of the grain.

Malt, as most of our readers probably know, is the life, the substance of beer, and the food value of any beer depends on the richness of the malt from which it is made.

Pabst exclusive eight-day malt is made in Nature's own way, by slow growth of the barley. All of the food value of the barley is thus retained in Pabst eight-day malt, and makes Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer the richest beer in food strength.

Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is always pure and clean. The choicest hops and chemically pure water are used with Pabst eight-day malt in the brewing. All the money in the world could not buy better, purer ingredients. The entire Pabst process is famous among physicians and scientists for its positive cleanliness.

From the mashing of the eight-day malt until the finished product is poured into your glass Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer never comes in contact with anything that is not absolutely clean. It is run through sterilized tubes and pipes, stored for months in sterilized hermetically sealed glass tanks and pasteurized after bottling.

This exclusive process places Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer beyond the possibility of contamination. It comes to you perfect in age, purity and strength, the best beer brewed.
