Those attending the services he remained silent and thus showed to will be limited to the family, the senate and the world, which will yet do him justice, the house committees, and a committee that he was a man, a brave, strong man with a great heart and a powerful inland. It was Senator Gorman's request tellect, and not afraid of the angry darks from the shafts of lesser folk.

"The man was not only a great demo crat, but a great citizen. He was a patriot, if ever there was one. He loved his tor's death and for a time was under the party with an imperishable fidelity, but above party, above section, above self, above all personal considerations, he loved his country, and, driven on against the undid not know him, or, knowing him, sought to revile him, he went forward and conquered enough public foes, civil, commercial and political, all for his country's good, that now at his death his nation well might weep and say, There lies a man, a hero.'

"The best friend I had in public life is gope; I am lonely today. Such personal losses do not fall upon one of my age without crushing force."

Harry S. Byrne, state agent for the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland, who formerly lived in Baltimore, knew the late Senator Gorman quite well. He said: "Senator Gorman was a power in Maryland politics over thirty-six years, but in 1896. when a republican governor. Lloyd Lowndes, was elected, his dominating influence was broken. Senator Gorman's son. Arthur P. Gorman, jr. has been trained by his father to succeed him and is now a state senator in Maryland. Senator Gorman's successor will be appointed by Governor Edwin Warfield, who won his nomination and election at the expense of the senator's prestige. Senator Isidor Rayner, Mr. Gorman's colleague, was opposed by Gorman, but was elected over the latter's favorite, Bernard Carter. Such defeats in his own party coupled with the intermittent republican success seemed mark, in the last few years, Senator Gorman's waning influence.

BLACKFOOT RESERVATION TO BE OPENED

Bill to Allot Lands to Indians and Dispose of Surplus to Settlers.

WASHINGTON, June 4.-Peace spread its pinions over the house of representatives today, the leader of the minority, John Williams (Miss.), being willing to call off the forces of opposition now that the report of the conferees had been made on the statehood bill.

This being suspension day, a number of bills, both of local and national interest, were passed with little or no debate. The house being officially notified by the senate of the death of Senator Arthur Pue Gorman of Maryland, Mr. Talbott (Md.) presented resolutions of condolence and, after the appointment of seventeen members to attend the funeral services, the house as a further mark of respect adjourned until noon tomorrow. Previous to adjournment it was unan mously agreed that the first two hours of tomorrow shall be given over to bills under suspension of the rules. During the passage of bills under suspension of the rules, the message of the packing houses was read and referred to

Under suspension of the rules the house today passed the bill to survey and allot the lands in the Blackfoot Indian reservation in Montana and to open the surplus lands to settlement. This bill was tached to the Indian appropriation bill by the senate but the house conferees refused to retain it on the Indian budget.

At a meeting of the committee on Indian affairs of the house, the bill was unanimously reported and under suspension of the rules passed by a vote of 154 to 13. The house committee on Indian affairs also authorized a favorable report on s bill allowing settlers on 40,000 acres, in what is known as "Pasture No. 3" of the Kiowa reserve in Oklahoma, to purchase the lands on which they have settled. Under suspension the house today passed the senate joint resolution authorizing a change in the weighing of the malls in the fourth section. It gives the postmas; ter general authority to use the average daily weight of mails for a period not less than thirty successive days from February 20 to April 17 in adjusting the compensation on all railroad routes entering California.

RATE BILL MAY GO BACK

Conference Committee May Be Asked to Strike Out New Legislation. WASHINGTON, June 4-It is expected hat the conference report on the railroad rate bill will be sent back to conference as a result of injection of new matter in the bill. Efforts to induce the senate conferees to ask for the re-committment of the bil have been unavailing, however.

They met with the house conferees today and considered the criticisms. Leaders of both bodies decided to "stand pat" and not to reconsider the report unless it i sent back on points of order.

It is conceded that there are four changes in the bill to which points of order migh be sustained. The first is the incorpora tion of the words "transportation or facili ties" in the provision requiring every common carrier to file with the commission copies of all contracts with other comme carriers in relation to any traffic, "trans portation or facilities" affected by this act In section 4 the words "or transportstion" were added to the provision authorizing the commission to pass upon the rea sonableness and justness of "any regulations or practices whatsoever of such carrier or carriers affecting such rates." Another amendment of the same character was made to this section.

The fourth amendment subject to a point of order is that declaring that the act passage

The conferees have held that the provisions in relation to lateral or branch lines, fixing the salaries of the secretary and assistant secretary of the commission and number of others to which objection has new matter they were inserted in amendments under dispute and are germane to such amendments.

The pass amendment was considered and the indications are that it will be amneded to exempt railroad employes and their familles if the bill is sent back to the con-

Strike Leaders Executed LOS ANGELES, Call June 4.-A dispatch to the Herald from Douglas, Ariz., reports the execution of eight leaders of the Cananea riots yesterday by Colonel Kosterlitski. The rioters were lined up in front of a stone wall a few blocks over the hills from Ronquillo and killed by a volley from the rifles of the rurales under the command of Kosterlitski, who, it is reported, cried out as the shots were "Viva le Mexico; so perish all fired: shall take effect, sixty days after its traitors." Without fear the doomed men replied as one man?" "To h-l with the

The dispatch further states that the ar rival of Kosterlitski with his troops had more to do with the quelling of the riot than the presence of American soldiers on been raised, are not subject to points of the scene. Execution of Leaders Denied. DOUGLAS, Ariz., June 4.-A telephone nessage direct from the office of Colone Greene in Cananea denies the reports that the ringleaders in the riot were executed by Colonel Kosterlinski and that Governor Yeabel had been placed under arrest for having brought American volunteers across the boundary.

So far as known only three Americans and sixteen Mexicans were killed during the disturbance. In addition to the Metcalfes Burt Bush of Bisbee was killed. Fifteen soldiers are on the way to Cannea from the City of Mexico. There was no disorder yesterday or last night and the situation today is peaceful. Colonel Greene walked to his office without a guard this morning. He says he expects to resume werk at the mines and smelter today. Captain Rynning and his rangers returned to Douglas last night. It is apparent that all telegrams and telephone messages from Cananea have been for Troops, as Further Trouble is Expected Before Morning.

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 4-While the situation in Jefferson county was most pacific tonight, despite the riots, there is fear of trouble and the fear is general that the situation will become acute tomorrow when the troops arrive from Columbus. At Dillonvale the strikers are in a turbulent mood. It is reported that they and their sympathizers have made large purchases of rifles, revolvers and ammur Every attempt is being made by the leaders of the mine workers to hold the men in check, but the failure to pay strike benefits, together with their straightened circumstances and the outbreak of this morning have excited the men to a desperate con-

The guards of the United States Coal company, who were involved in the outbreak this morning, are tonight entrenched near Grow Hollow, and persons living in the vicinity, fearfully expectant of trouble are keeping in their homes.

While various estimates have been made and say that there are nine other votes of the casualties, it is impossible to verify any reports of deaths, although it is known that ten or more were hurt. It is known that one of the wounded guards who fell into the hands of the strikers was taken to Smithfield as a prisoner. The clash is the direct outgrowth of the abuse by the United States Coal company's guards of an Italian union miner from Pittsburg on Sunday afternoon. Eearly this morning sixty eight of the company's guards started to march across the bills from Plum Run to the Bradley mine and at Crow Hollow were ambushed by a force of 200 or 300 strikers In the battle that ensued several hundred shots were fired, but the strikers' alm was bad, which accounts for the few casualties The guards were forced after twenty minutes of fighting to retire in disorder to Plum Run.

Sheriff Voorhees has gone to the mines and before leaving he telephoned the adjutant general at Columbus to be ready o send troops if needed. Matters are quiet today at Plum Run and

Bradley, although there is much suppressed excitement. An engagement between guards and strikers took place at Glenn's Run min

No. 2 during the night. All the men imported there have left but strikers and guards got to clashing in arguments, which led to blows and then

Nearly seventy-five shots were fired and during the battle Superintendent T. E. Young of Cleveland, who was at the mine directing the guard, was slightly wounded. Indications were that the trouble which has existed in this region since April would have been settled today at all the mines but those of the United States Coal company of Cleveland, but it is feared the trouble this morning will interfere with the negotiations. Reports as to which party fired first are conflicting. One story says the guards were ambushed and another that the guards discharged their, rifles in the air first to frighten the miners. Over 500 shots were hald to have been exchanged and the guards then retired on account of a shortage of ammunition. The wounded were removed to Plum Run and are now receiving attention from the company physicians. Quiet prevails now, but more trouble is apprehended tonight, as the foreign strikers are in an ugly mood and the leaders are having difficulty in controlling them. Sheriff Voorhees has requested the adjutant general of Ohio to despatch troops to the scene and Company K. Eighth regiment, Ohio National Guards, has been notified to hold itself in readiness.

The governor has also ordered the mobilization of the Fourth regiment at Columbus to go to Plum Run.

A very considerable portion of the meat so handled is sent out as smoked products and in the form of sausages, which are prepared to be eaten without being cooked.

'A particularly glaring instance of uncleanliness was found in a room where the best grade of sausage was being prepared for export."

Inspection Inadequate.

The report says that the radical defect in the inspection system is that it is confined at present by law to passing on the healthfulness of animals at the time of killing, but that the meat that is used in sausage and the various forms of canned products and other prepared meat foods goes through many processes, in all of which there is possibility of contamination through unsanitary handling and further danger through the use of chemicals During all these processes there is no government inspection, although these products when sent out bear a label stating that they have been passed upon by government inspectors. The report arraigns the sanitary provisions in buildings as abominable and says men and women plunge their unwashed hands into the mea to be converted into food products. The report says the burden of protecting the leanliness and wholesomeness of the products and the health of the workers and improving the conditions must fall upon the national government.

Department superintendents "seem ignore all considerations, except the account book," and proper care of the products and of health and comfort of the employes are impossible, and the consumer consequently suffers.

Tuberculosis vicitims expectorate on the spongy wooden floors of the dark work rooms, from which falling scraps of meat are later shoveled up to be later converted into food products. "Even the ordinary decencies of life are completely ignored," says the report in discussing the arrangements for men and women employes. Degradation of Morals.

The report says: The whole situation, as we saw it. The whole situation, as we saw it, in these huge establishments tends nocessarily and inevitably to the moral degradation of thousands of workers, who are forced to spend their working hours under conditions that are entirely unnecessary and unpardonable, and which are a constant menace not only to their own health, but to the health of those who use the food products prepared by them.

WADSWORTH MAKES PREDICTION Chairman of House Committee

Agriculture Talks. WASHINGTON, June 4-Chairman Wadsworth of the bouse committee on agriculture made this prediction to the Associated Press today: "A meat inspection law will be enacted which will insure to the consumer meat fit to be eaten."

In commenting on the probable effect of placing the cost of a compulsory government inspection of meat upon the slaughterers and packers, Chairman Wadsworth anid:

"In my judgment, if the cost of the compulsory inspection, which is for the benefit of the public health, is to be put upon the packers and slaughterers and which will mean a tax of no one knows how much, I believe the packers and slaughterers will simply say: We will buy all live stock subject to government inspection.' This would in turn throw the cost of inspection back upon the cattle raiser and producer and consumer. "Furthermore, in the opinion of many nembers, if the cost of inspection is thrown upon the packers it would drive out of nustness the thousands of small, independent slaughterers and thus still further concentrate in the hands of the so-called beef trust the whole packing business of the country."

The substitute for the Beveridge amendment, which Mr. Wadsworth is preparing. places the cost of the inspection on the government. Just what the cost will amount to is estimated by members all the way from $7,500,000 a year to $2,000,000. Chairman Wadsworth explained further that when the inspection was voluntary, as it is at present, he has been in favor of its cost being borne by the packers, but when the government is to make it compulsory he believes the government should pay the cost, on the ground that it is an undertaking directly for the purpose of protection to the public health.

on, but they hope to gain others on the parliamentary point. The friends of the bill still claim to have forty-one votes assured which are doubtful, from which they hope to draw the three additional votes necessary to secure success. They do not count on any democratic votes , not withstanding Senator Clark (Mont.) voted with them when the bill was originally before the
