that Mandamus Suit.

Rumor that Blackburn, Howell and Hitchcock Had Volunteered to Put Up Cannot Be Confirmed.

"I'm a lawyer; where is your fee?" The irreconcilables of the Fontanelle club, in their "anything-to-beat-Rosewater" campaign, have encountered another snag, and that within their own ranks, like many others they have found there. One of the very men who was charged with perfecting the plot to disfranchise voters at the coming primaries by placing the names of delegates on the ballot in alphabetical order-in fact, the one man to whose legal astuteness was delegated the task of placing this scheme in final form-that man has balked. That man is John P. Breen, who at this stage of the game comes and says: "I am a lawyer; give me the price.

This spirit of commercialism on the part of Mr. Breen has aggravated his coof those little circles within a circle which is about to sink the old ship.

Mr. Breen said Thursday he did not know when he would file the mandamus case to compel the county clerk to place the names of candidates for places on the county delegations on the primary ballot in alphabetical order instead of by delegations. "I have been so busy with cases in court have not had time to prepare the papers vet; in fact, I don't know exactly what they want yet. I was asked to take the case and I told them I was in the law a few days.' Same Old Trouble. "That's the trouble with those fellows," remarked a man who, up to a few weeks ago, had been an active member of the Fontanelle club. "These few who are holding out is the rund scheme to defeat Rosswater and thereby deprive Douglas county of the senator are in it for worse than pay-for revenge. They have always gone on the theory of playing the game of politics for what they could get out of it, and now, when they see no chance of remuneration, they have contented themselves with no higher ambition than the thwarting of the will of the people-for what? Why, that their little envious souls may be satisand altruistic spirit just now animating this bunch." The petition-if it is ever filed-will ask that the clerk be compelled to place the names on the ballot according to what is known as the "rotation" plan, which means the names will not appear in the same order on different ballots, the name at the top of one ballot being placed at the bottom of the next ballot in printing, and so on, until a sufficient number for the reman in its cartoons? This has aroused quirements of the primary have been printed. None would confirm the rumor that T. W. Blackburn, R. B. Howell and G. M. Hitchcock had volunteered to pay Mr. Breen the price and have their scheme carthat Hitchcock is cultivating peace is shown by the fact that he entertained ried out.

> HOSPITAL KEEPER APPEALS Proprietress of Lying-in Place is Fined for Advertising and Fights Case.

Augusta Eggers, proprietress of a private hospital at 2219 South Thirteenth street, was fined $15 and costs in the court Thursday morning, the charge being advertising in the public press to dispose of the child of another as an inducement for persons to patronize the hospital. Through Attorney Wap pich, representing the defendant, an appeal was taken to the district court.

The case was the result of an investigation being made by Superintendent Ellison of the Nebraska Humane society into the lying-in hospitals of the city. Mr. Ellison offered in evidence during the trial copies of local newspapers showing advertisements of a hospital at "2319 South Thirteenth street, Omaha, Neb., and testified that Mrs. Eggers admitted to him May 31 that she had placed the advertisements.

The advertisements read: "Private hos pital during confinements; babies adopted; best and cleanest place in the city." The judge received the advertisements as evidence. When questioned Mrs. Eggers denied having had anything to do with the schemers-in fact, has caused another one advertisements, although she admitted being in charge of a private hospital at the umber mentioned. She evaded answering most of the questions put to her by City Prosecutor Lee.

Attorney Wappich contended it was the intent of the law to make the advertisement in question a misdemeanor when the person inserting the advertisement had as a motive the inducement of persons to attend the hospital during confine ment, while the police judge ruled that the advertisement of itself, under the law, became an inducement regardless of motive.

GATHRIGHT TWENTY YEARS

Youngest of Flury Murderers Goes to Penitentiary on Plea of Guilty.

Clarence Gathright, one of the colored trio who shot Street Car Conductor Flury in an attempted holdup of his car at Albright last March and who turned state's evidence against his companions, was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary Thursday afternoon by Judge Sutton." Gathright entered a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree.

He gave the court no reason why sentence should not be passed upon him, but his attorney, S. I. Gordon, asked clemency on the ground Gathright was only 19 years old and had been lead into crime by older companions. He also dwelt on the fact Gathright had helped to bring the older criminals to fustice and had given the evidence that had convicted both Harrison Clark and Calvin Waln. He also spoke at some length on the fidelity of the negro race during the war and called attention to the fact Gathright's father had been a slave.

County Attorney Slabaugh recommended leniency, declaring it to be proper to recognize the services of Gathright in the punishing of the worse criminals, Clark and Waln. He did not ask for any specific term.

"The greatest mistake a young man can make," said Judge Sutton in passing sentence," is in trying to live without work-There is always plenty of honest work to do. You started wrong by trying to make a living by stealing instead of earning it. You ought to recognize that you deserve a long sentence and you should not take your punishment in a vindictive
