The telephone is becoming a most valuable ald in the operation of trains in large yards and terminals, and quick work is necessary because of the constantly increasing volume of business.

It is most necessary that the train dispatcher, telegraph office, yardmaster, car inspector, roundhouse, towers and switch shanties should be supplied liberally with telephones. By a liberal use of the telephone between these much time often may be saved for freight conductors and whole train crews and also in expediting the starting of trains.

YOUNGER BOY ONLY FOURTEEN YEARS OLD

Mother Believes in Guilt of Sons and Says She in Afraid They CRAIG Neb., June 10 .- (Special.)-The oroner's jury today laid the murder and robbery of Jacob L. Headley at the door of his two sons, Jesse, 19, and Noah, 14 years of age, and ordered both boys beld for the crime. The eldest son is held as the principal and the younger as an accessory. Robbery is ascribed as the motive for the deed.

Neither boy displays great saxiets over his predicament. Neither seems at all to realise the enormity of the charge preferred against him. Both insist that the last time they saw their father was when he ate breakfast prior to going to Tekamah and they declare their innocence in a sort of listless, indifferent manner, which would indicate the weight of their situation had not fully borne down upon

Mrs. Headley believes in the guilt of her sons. She does not talk much about the crime, but admits she thinks her elder son, animated by lust for money, which is said to be his ruling passion, led the other boy into the crime of taking their father's life. She seems indisposed to exert any great effort or spend much money trying to free them.

Jesse Headley has been implicated in several criminal offenses. He once stole a team of horses from his father and ran away with it. On the occasion of a visit to the home of an uncle the boy stole $30 from the uncle and has borne a bad reputation generally.

When the mother was asked if she would exhaust her resources to free her sons. she replied that she was afraid if the boys killed their father they might as readily kill her.

IMPROVEMENTS AT NORTH PLATTE

City Council Orders Several Miles of New Sidewalk Laid.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., June 10 .- (Special.)-The city council held a prolonged session Tuesday evening, the midnight hour having passed before the aldermen adjourned. During this meeting a number of important matters were considered. The committee on sidewalks made a report recommending that all wooden or board sidewalks within the corporate limits be condemned and that the street com missioner be authorized to tear out all dangerous walks wherever they may exist. The committee also recommended the passage of an ordinance for the construction of sidewalks on a long list of streets, regardless of positions, and the city attorney was instructed to draft an ordinance providing for the construction of these sidewalks. Two ordinances, one relating to official time and the other providing for a permanent survey of street center lines from which to properly lay sidewalks and curbing, were passed. An ordinance regulating the laying dewalks was also time.

The chairman of the street committee was empowered to have the slough at Eighth and Cottonwood streets drained by tapping the sewer and putting in a catch basin. The city engineer was instructed to make estimates and the city clerk to advertise for bids for construction of sidewalk approaches and street and alley crosswalks. Grading was ordered as follows: Front street from Dewey to Cottonwood, Pine street from Front to First, Third street from Dewey to West End and Grand avenue from Second to Bixth.

Several communications from residents were read. Isaac Dillon complained that part of Twelfth street had been fenced and he desired the fence removed; one from W S. Doison asking for the gutter grade and the construction of a crosswalk and one from F. W. Richards protesting against the probable action of the council in condemning sidewalks.

EPIDEMIC OF SPOTTED FEVER

Anselmo and Merna.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., June 10 .- (Special Telegram.)-The dread malady that has made its appearance in certain sections of the county in the last ten days claimed its fourth victim last night in the person of Arvilla Wachter, the 17-year-old daughter of Alpert Wachter, fiving nine miles north of here. The girl was taken sick at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and died at 9 o'clock last night. The body was buried today. Dr. Spaulding of the state board and County Health Officer Dr. Pennington pronounce the disease that of spinal meningitie or spotted fever. Other physicians are disagreeing. Pennington issued an order this morning quarantining churches, schools and places of public gatherings in the towns of Anselmo, Merna and Broken Bow to prevent the epidemic from spreading. The disease is purely local and does not effect the general public. No services were held in the churches today. W. B. Abey, the third victim, is not expected to live during the night. So far the disease seems to have confined itself to one lo cality.

Judge Sutton, in discharging the jurors from further service in the case, thanked them for their work.

"Jurors are like soldiers," he said.

"They have to serve their country for very small pay, but this service is necessary for the protection of life and property."

The crime for which Mrs. Hayes has been convicted is so unusual that attorneys have been unable to find a record of a similar case in the records of the court. She and J. T. Hayes, with whom she has been living as his wife, and a man named Simpson came to Omaha from Texas about May 6. All three of them had bad records in the south, according to information received here by the police. Shortly after their arrival, according to Mrs. Hayes' story, Simpson skipped out with $30, all she and Hayes' had. She told sevilar to the court of the south and hayes had. She told sevilar to serve any contract of supply the simplest analysis to any charge. A scarcing in the received here by the police. Everything is bad except the accusers. Everyrounds of the jewelry stores. The susbody is bad except the accusers. Everybody seems to be on the verge of being drawn into the filth and size of damation or the deadly firedamp of suspicion. Committees are sent out to bring back shocking things, and if they come back without them others are sent with more sensitive olfactories. Those whose judicial temperament unfit them for hysteria are threatened with dismissal or branded as remiss in duty. The people who wait for both sides of the case are tools of trusts. How long can a nation endure such a condition of things? They threaten the stability of all forms of business and create universal distrust. Shall we publish to the world that we have no courts for the correction of evils, but that we must leave such things to magazine writters and makers of sensational literature and the investigation of smelling committees who are seeking things to condemn, and to spepicions of some of the jewelers were aroused by her actions and they informed other jewelers to look out for her. Detectives Maloney and Drummy started out to make a search of the stores for the woman. They found her at T. L. Combs & Co.'s store, where she was looking at some diamonds which were being shown her by Mr. Furen, the diamond salesman. Detective Maloney took his station outside the diamond room and watched her. While Mr. Furen's back was turned he saw her place one of the gems in her mouth. Mr. Furen also missed the diamond and he asked Mrs. Hayes where it was. She told him he had put it away, investigation of smelling committees who are seeking things to condemn, and to special executive messages to be read by all nations, while the protesting voice of the accused for justice is overwhelmed and drowned in the roar of popular framsy and sentence is pronunced by the exparts verand then the detective rushed in on her and demanded the diamond.
