

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Strength Develops in All Items on the List. LACK OF RAIN THE BULLISH FEATURE. What Very Strong, but Yields Half-Cent on Profit Taking—CORN Up Nearly Two Cents at One Time.

OMAHA, June 12, 1906. Absence of rain in the southwest and moderate receipts for corn determination were responsible for considerable strength in the wheat market today. Due to lower cables and the general anticipation of the government opening the market was very strong.

Weather continues to be the factor in corn. Rain did not fall last night and the market was strong after an opening 1/4c lower. The bulls had their way and prices went up nearly 2c, there being no reaction at the finish.
