right as a wife to refuse to testify against her husband. She will, however, be required to appear before the grand jury.

The district attorney's office is busily engaged in looking up Thaw's antecedents, his mode of living, reported dissipations and indulgences, with a view to analyzing their bearing on his mental condition. On this point Mr. Nott said today:

"Thaw is not insane now, nor was he insane at the time he shot White."

Asked concerning the probable date of the trial Assistant District Attorney Nott said:

"I know o moreas on why Thaw should be treated any differently from an ordinary accused murderer. He will have to wait his tur nto be tried, in all probability. However, Mr. Jerome will be back in town on Monday next and will decide that."

Mrs. White Prostrated.

Up to tonight the district attorney's office has received no communications from members of Mr. White's family. Mrs. White came in thi smorning from her summer home at St. James, in Long Island, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Prescott M. Butler, and went to the town house in Gramercy park, where she is now with her son Lawrence, who came down from Harvard and parted with his father only an hour or so before the tragedy. Mrs. White was reported to be completely prostrated by shock and grief.

Mr. White's body was removed to the house this afternoon. The autopsy held today showed that two bullets had taken effect, one in the corner of the left eye, which penetrated the brain and was instantly fatal and one in the upper lip, knocking out several teeth and striking the left shoulder.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday at St. Bartholomew's church Archbishop Greer officiating.

Thaw's bearing in the Tombs was the source of much wonder to the wardens who had him in charge. While he appeared to be in a sort of daze and unable to comprehend his position, his appetite was unimpaired, for he disposed of three substantial meals during the afternoon and having dined at 4 o'clock with every appearance of enjoyment he remarked that he expected to spend a comfortable night.

Mother of Mrs. Thaw Talks.

PITTSBURG, June 26.—Mrs. Charles Holman, mother of Mrs. Harry Kendall Thaw, who lives at Brookline, a suburb of this city, was apprised early today of the shooting of Stanford White by Mr. Thaw. Mrs. Holman listened to a recital of the tragedy, but beyond asking a few questions as to further details, said little.

She said she did not know Stanford White, the dead architect; had, in fact, never heard of him, and that she did not know what she was going to do regarding the matter.

The news of the killing came as a distinct shock to the friends of the Thaw family in Pittsburg and was a matter for discussion today in all the prominent clubs and homes in the two cities. All efforts to find a member of the family in this city have proved fruitless. It was reported that Josiah Copley Thaw, a brother of Harry, was in Pittsburg, but he could not be found and it was stated at the clubs that he and his wife were out of the city and had been for several weeks.

At the home of Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry, who sailed from New York last Saturday to spend the summer with her daughter, Alice, the countess of Yarmouth, it was said that she would be reached as quickly as possible and notified of the unfortunate affair.

Theatrical Man Praises White.

CHICAGO, June 26.—George W. Lederer, manager of the Colonial theater in this city, who was the employer of Mrs. Thaw, when, as Evelyn Nesbit, she went on the stage, said today that he believed the interest taken in her career by White was merely that of a good friend, who desired to see her advanced in her profession.

"White was one of the finest men that ever lived," said Manager Lederer.

"He became interested in Miss Nesbit when she was playing in "Florodora" and tried to help her when he knew what a struggle she and her mother were having to get along. I know of many cases where White had aided young people striving to obtain a foothold on the stage. He was a most kindly and generous man."

DESPONDENT MAN ENDS HIS LIFE

Leaves Letter Indicating Sickness is Cause of Act.

DAKOTA CITY, Neb., June 26.—(Special.)—Groans emanating from a room in the second story of the Great Northern hotel, Landlord Hileman, when notified, went to the room and finding the door locked kicked it open to find a stranger in the last throes of death. He was lying on the bed, shoes off, and had replaced a dark-colored work shirt for a dress shirt purchased early this morning. On the floor back of the bed was found a pint beer bottle with a few dregs in the bottom, which disclosed a powdered substance. Investigation disclosed that the man had purchased ten cents worth of powdered strychnine at McBeath's drugstore about 9 o'clock this morning, giving his name as John Reed, residence near Homer, and stating that he wished the poison for gophers. Upon searching the body, $5.15 in money and two letters were found. The letters were addressed to Miss Myrtle Baull and J. N. Holman, both of Decatur, Neb., and were signed Leslie Holman. The letters were opened by Coroner Sawyer. He addresses Miss Baull as a former sweetheart, to whom he was to be married this spring, and states that he is about to end his life. The other letter is addressed to his father, in which the writer says he is going to kill himself. That since leaving home he has worked in Iowa, at Sargeant Bluffs, and that he can't get well. Coroner Sawyers did not think it necessary to hold an inquest, in view of the fact that it was a clear case of suicide. Relatives have been notified.

Democrats Call Convention.

NORFOLK, Neb., June 26.—(Special.)—The democratic congressional convention of the Third district will meet in Norfolk August 29 at 2 o'clock to name a candidate. This will be determined by the central committee, which held a meeting here. It was the sentiment of the committee that probably Edgar Howard of Fremont or Judge Graves of Pender could have the nomination. Judge Howard, however, stated that he hardly believes his business will permit accepting the nomination, if offered. His friends say that he probably will be nominated by the state convention a week earlier for railroad commissioner.

Drops Dead in Garden.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., June 26.—(Special Telegram.)—Paul Searson, an old and well known resident of Georgetown, twenty miles south of here, dropped dead while working in his garden late yesterday afternoon. He was well advanced in years and had been ailing for some time.

Oxford Votes for Water Works.

OXFORD, Neb., June 26.—(Special Telegram.)—By a decisive vote Oxford today voted to issue bonds for $15,000 for waterworks and $3,800 for a lighting plant.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Three Independent Telephone Franchise Ordinances Introduced.

EACH COMPANY ASKS FOR PRIVILEGE

Eleasser Demands Investigation of "Ice Trust," and Light Companies Decline to Lower Their Present Rates.

Three applications for telephone franchises were received by the city council last night in ordinance form and referred to the committee on telegraphs and telephones, with an understanding that the promoters will be given a hearing Monday afternoon. One proposition came from the Omaha Home Telephone company, another from the Heim-Parmelee-Pollock interests and the third from Albert von Hoffman of Milwaukee, who claims to control $2,000,000, with which to finance his enterprise.

The ordinances read very much alike, and each provides for the legal submission to the voters for appraval or rejection. The Home company and the Heim-Parmelee-Pollock interests ask for a fifty-year grant, but Mr. von Hoffman seeks perpetual rights to the streets, with a clause giving the city the option of purchasing after twenty-five years. The second proposition is one that has been presented to the council and as many times described in the newspapers. Its maximum rates are $72 for business 'phones and $48 for residence 'phones.

Returns to the City.

The Home company proposes to pay the city a royalty of 1 per cent on the gross earnings of the first five years and 2 per cent thereafter, also to offer free toll service with South Omaha. Von Hoffman offers a royalty of 1 per cent on gross earnings for the first three years, 2 per cent the next five years and 3 per cent thereafter. He agrees to make connections "at reasonable terms" with all "independent" companies building copper metallic circuit lines to the city limits. His prices are $48 a year for business 'phones, $24 for residence 'phones and 12½ cents additional per month for each 1,000 'phones more than 10,000 added to the system.

All agree to give a $25,000 cash bond to the city to guarantee building the exchange and system and carrying out the terms of the franchise. As everyone who had any special interest in the matter knew that the ordinances were coming and what they would offer, no particular interest was displayed in them.

Councilman Bridges introduced the ordinance to abolish the gas inspector and to make the city electrician "gas inspector, ex-officio." It was referred to a committee without any remarks.

"Ice Trust" on the Pan.

The muck rake is to be drawn over Omaha to see if it has an ice trust. Pete Elsasser sprung a resolution directing the judiciary committee and the city attorney to do the work and mentioning the fact that ice cost $10 a ton, but only 15 cents per 100 pounds last summer.

"How is the city attorney to make an investigation?" asked Zimman.

"Huh!" exclaimed Elsasser wrathfully. "They found an ice trust in Kansas City and some of the members got fined $2,000 and some were sent over the road. Huh!"

"All right," said Zimman, "let 'er go."

"Do you belong to an ice company?" asked Elsasser, afraid.

"If I did," responded Zimman, "I would use a ton of it right away to pack you in."

No Cut in Light Rates.

The Gas company and the electric light company sent letters to the lighting committee, saying they didn't see how they could possibly reduce their rates any, considering the fact that Omaha has the best and lowest-priced service in the United States for a town of its size, age and geography. The committee submitted letters without adding anything of its own and the documents were laid on file. Mr. Nash said the average rate received by the electric light company was 5 cents, "a less rate than received by any company in the United States similarly located as to fuel, labor and other conditions applying to the manufacture and distribution of electric current." Also that figuring in the royalty of 3 per cent Omaha got its lights at a lower price than any city in the country.

President Hamilton of the gas company remarked that the franchise held by the corporation permits it to charge $1.45 per 1,000 cubic feet for its product, but it only asks $1.25, having made three voluntary reductions and having another drop of 10 cents scheduled for October 1, 1906. He pointed out the vicissitudes of manufacturing and distributing gas in Omaha and the special reasons that made it difficult, and said that the combined royalty and taxes paid amounted to 17 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, which is more than any other company in the United States and brings the net price of gas down to less than $1.

All this was brought out by the council's polite inquiry to the corporations asking the latter if they would not help to carry out the democratic platform pledges.

Message from the Mayor.

Mayor Dahlman, in a message, declared enlargements were needed for the city jail and that the Capitol avenue market house should be transposed from a mere monument to idleness into something useful. He said that from three to five more cells were needed at the jail and should be provided, but he urged the council to inquire into the project of selling the jail and grounds and building a new and modern police station elsewhere with the proceeds. He had been told that this was feasible. With reference to the market house, he said he understood an automobile dealer was willing to sign a three-year lease for $3,000. In this connection his honor said perhaps it would be a good idea to make a public bath house out of the structure; that perhaps plumbers might be induced to bear the expense of equipment in exchange for advertising privileges, and that 5 cents charge for baths would pay for towels, soap, water, caretaker, etc. The message went to the committee on buildings and property for consideration.

The council refused to sustain the veto of the mayor to the resolution proposing to create the office of second assistant city attorney at $2,000 a year. The mayor said he thought a salary of $1,500 a year sufficient. Zimman and Funkhouser took issue with him on the point. Zimman said that Union Pacific tax litigation involving $48,000 is lying in the federal court because the legal department does not have time to attend to it. He asserted that more litigation with the water company is probably in store, and with that corporation employing the best lawyers it could find, he thought the city should have better than $1,500 men opposing. He said he would favor a higher salary than $2,000 for the position. The council majority saw it his way.

Taylor Draws the Job.

Tom Lee and John C. Lynch were again rejected for the positions of prosecutor and gas inspector, but the mayor's appeal to reconsider action on Egbert Taylor, colored, for janitor at the city jail, on the ground that his honor had known the appointee twenty years and he was a "consistent democrat and a man of good habits," was heeded by the council and Mr. Taylor awarded the job.

Councilman Alma Jackson, Churchill Parker and James Schneiderwind were named and confirmed as the board of appraisers for city property.

Treasurer Fink's protest against the rooms assigned him on the second floor at the city hall was referred to the committee on buildings and property.

A resolution by Councilman Brucker reciting that whereas complaints had been made of short weights on ice, coal and meat, prices ascending and rumors of trusts and combinations in the air, that citizens were advised to weigh doubtful deliveries and report discrepancies to the city clerk, created so much amazement that it was referred to the inspector of weights and measures. The city has laws covering the subject and supposed to be enforced.

Councilman Zimman introduced an ordinance to amend the circus license ordinance so that shows cannot escape paying full rates by cutting a cent or two under established charges.

EDWARD ROSEWATER HOME

that assurance, that his political support was not included in his employment. It has been traditional with The Bee that a man's politics or private opinions were sacred to him, and that they would not any time be encroached upon or interfered with by reason of the fact that he was an employe of The Bee.

I feel safe in assuring Mr. Rosewater of the loyal and faithful and energetic support of every man employed by The Bee. The long years we have worked for him have endeared him to us, we respect him as a man, honor him as a citizen and love him as an employer, and I am sure that every man is anxious and eager to do any and all things that he can do to bring to a successful issue the making of Mr. Rosewater United States senator.

I was out last week on a trip of the Commercial club which took us around to many counties. I was very much encouraged with the words I heard. There seems to be a general sentiment among the people that Mr. Rosewater is to be made United States senator at this time. One of the most encouraging things I found on the trip was the sentiment of the business men of Omaha. We had not been out long when they came to me by twos and threes and told me that they were for Mr. Rosewater, and were anxious that he should be elected the next United States senator.

Sentiments of Others.

George B. Tzschuck of the counting room, Thomas F. Doyle of the composing room, William Neckel of the press room and Walter Bridges of the engine room followed, briefly voicing their own and their companions' sentiments, and expressing the confidence of the men in Mr. Rosewater. They renewed their pledges of support at the polls, and promised to give any aid asked in connection with the coming primary election.

The meeting adjourned with three cheers for Mr. Rosewater.

On Thursday evening Mr. Rosewater will meet with the candidates for delegates on his ticket and the members of his campaign committee.

JUST TWELVE MONTHS TOO OLD

Engineer from East Refused Employment Because He is Forty-Six Years of Age.

A graduated civil engineer of Cornell university, and a man who has had years of experience in engineering work in various parts of the United States, arrived in Omaha Monday, looking for employment. He applied first at the office of the city engineer and was told no vacancies existed which he might fill. Assistant City Engineer Craig suggested trying the Union Pacific.

"The engineering department of that road is hiring all the skilled engineers and draughtsmen it can find," said Mr. Craig. "They are on the lookout for good men. Your credentials should get you a place at once."

The engineer returned to the city hall in the afternoon. He was still looking for work.

"I just missed a job," said he. "I applied at headquarters, was told engineers were needed, had my papers examined and everything was pronounced satisfactory. I was then handed a formal application blank to fill out. One of the questions asked my age. I wrote, '46.' This was observed and I was told to write no further.

"Why not?" I asked.

"Forty-five is the age limit,' was the reply. We cannot hire men older than that.'

"If I had known the requirement I could have shaved off my whiskers and told something of a falsehood, and got the job. As it is, I am still open to engagements."

Assistant City Engineer Craig referred him to several other places where engineers are employed.

FASTEST MAN GETS SHOES

Thief Takes Footgear and Keeps Them Because He Can Outrun Their Owner.

Alexander Reed, collector for the Royal Arcanum, lost a fine pair of shoes Tuesday morning because he could not run fast enough. While in a Farnam street ambrecial buffet teling a coterie of friends why Sherman marched to the sea, a culprit picked up Mr. Reed's pair of new shoes and began to do rapid sprints, with Mr. Reed and a posse in close pursuit. The man with the footwear became a mere speck in the distance, so Mr. Reed gave up the chase and reported the matter to the police for further action.

PRINTERS' TRUST IN ST. PAUL

Charge that Minnesota Firms Combined to Raise Price on State Work.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 26.—Six secret indictments, said to be a gainst firms and members of firms of local printing establishments for an alleged violation of the state anti-trust and combination statute, were returned today by the Ramsey county grand jury. It has been alleged and formal complaint filed with the county attorney by the legal representatives of the Typographical union that a combination exists among local printing establishments in the matter of presenting bids on state printing which is in effect a violation of this act.

Cambria Salt Company.

F. B. Wilcox, representative of the Cambria Salt company, was in the city Tuesday in the interests of the company. He said the plant was complete and practically ready for operation, the final test to be made in the first part of July. Mr. Wilcox says the process is evaporation and they expect to turn out about five carloads per day when they get to running at full capacity.

RATE BILL GOES BACK

CONGRESS WILL FINISH WORK

House Leaders Say No Important Bills Will Be Allowed to Go Over.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Congress will stay in session until its work is finished. This is the dictum of Speaker Cannon and his lieutenants and is being emphasized at this time to counteract the impression that the pure food bill at least might go over until the next session.

There is also trouble on the meat inspection bill and the tieup on the railroad rate bill indicates delay. The immigration bill is also in conference as are several of the appropriation bills. All of these things must be worked out without any date of adjournment being set, according to the decision of the house leaders. When the work is done an adjournment resolution will be forthcoming in short order.

While the situation today spells delay until next week, the work on the floor is progressing. Members say there is no need of prolonging the session beyond Friday if the conferees make up their minds that the work must be done or that agreements which will meet all demands can be arranged on all matters before that time and that if the idea of prolonging the session for the purpose of killing certain bills is abandoned this week will see the end.

The house today passed the senate bill which repeals the so-called twenty-eight-hour law by fixing the maximum of time in transit for stock at thirty-six hours, upon the written request of the owner or person in charge of the particular shipment.

The rent of the old customs house in New York again showed itself in the general deficiency bill in a provision for the current year. Mr. Sulzer of New York made a point of order against the item which was overruled. Mr. Sulzer asked the republicans how much they expected to get out of the amount for the forthcoming campaign.

"Not as much as the people will get out of it," replied Mr. Tawney.

A provision was inserted in the bill directing the officials of the Territory of Oklahoma to continue the maintenance of all public institutions and execute all existing contracts until the new state government shall have been established.

Mr. Hull of Iowa offered an amendment appropriating $30,000 to reimburse officers and enlisted men of the army, who were on duty in San Francisco during the recent disaster and who suffered losses of clothing and other personal effects. Mr. Littauer made a point of order against the amendment. The chair sustained the point.

A long discussion ensued over the item appropriating $375,418 to reimburse the state of Texas for moneys expended between February 28, 1855, and June 21, 1860, in payment of state volunteers or rangers called into service by the governor of Texas.

Mr. Dalzell made a point of order against the item. Without deciding the point of order the general deficiency bill was laid aside and the house at 6 o'clock took a recess for two hours.

The house tonight in a session lasting three hours was occupied with speeches on a variety of political subjects, although the pending measure was the bill "to simplify the laws in relation to the collection of the revenue." Mr. Boutelle of Illinois replied to the speeches of Messrs. Rainer of Illinois and Williams of Mississippi on the "Watch trust." Mr. Boutelle spoke in a humorous vein, referring to the subject as a "great drama," to which he gave the title "government by advertisement, or who gets sold the most in the watch trade." Mr. Boutelle referred to Mr. Williams' position regarding the tariff on watches and said that Mr. Rainey, "standing like Teneriffe, smote him (Williams) with his eyes." Mr. Boutelle humorously pictured what he termed the different "acts" and drew on Shakespeare to illustrate his points and convulsed the house and galleries with paraphrases of well known street car advertisements. He referred to "Sunny Jack," the Statesman's Breakfast Food," one meal of which, he said, will make a democratic congressman feel so buoyant and gay that he can contemplate the all-pervading prosperity of his country with equanimity. "Roast 'em," which he said "cools the blood, soothes the nerves, warms the feet," he prescribed for those "whose nights are made miserable by frightful visions of avaricious trusts glaring at them out of the darkness at the foot of the bed." He had a colloquy with Mr. Williams, growing out of a discussion of Sea Island cotton and long fiber cotton, in which Mr. Williams denied certain statements attributed to him.

Mr. Payne sought to prevent Mr. Williams from replying by suggesting that the democrats have occupied thirty-five minutes more than the republicans. Mr. Williams replied to Mr. Payne and Mr. Dalzell called for regular order, as the disputants glared at each other across the aisle.

"Why did you not call the gentleman from New York to order, howling like a wild demon around here?" asked Mr. Williams. This evoked applause from the democrats.

Mr. DeArmond of Missouri discussed "Government by Injunction," and asked where the invoking of the writ of injunction is going to stop.

The house adjourned at 11 p. m., until tomorrow.

Captain Wynne Convicted.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The court-martial which recently tried Captain R. F. Wynne, United States Marine corps, on charge of insubordination, has found him guilty and recommended his dismissal from the service. The court-martial made no recommendation for clemency. The Navy department has recommended to the president approval of the sentence, but in view of Captain Wynne's services and the provocation under which he acted in the most serious offense charged, the department advised that execution of the sentence be delayed until Captain Wynne could be given opportunity to resign. The president later approved this recommendation.

CONFERENCE ON THE MEAT BILL

Deadlock on Pay of Inspectors and Date of Labels.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The meat inspection amendment to the agricultural bill probably will be returned to the senate and house disagreement. The conferees twice had it under discussion today and the indications are that the differences in regard to the payment for inspection by the packers or by the government or whether the date of inspection must be placed on cans of meat are irreconcilable. Another effort to get together will be made at 10 o'clock tomorrow. A complete agreement was reached on all other matters in the bill.

Practically all of the important amendments concerning the usual features of the agricultural bill were accepted by the house conferees. These amendments include appropriations of $15,000 for the establishment at points of export of laboratories to examine and report upon the nature, quality and condition of seed or grain, to serve as a basis for the fixing of definite grades; and $5,000 for investigating the insect known as the white fly, which affects orange growers. Amendments were offered providing that 10 per cent of all money received from each forest reserve each year shall be paid to the states or territories in which the reserves are situated, to be expended for the benefit of the public schools and roads; also the amendment for an investigation of the effect of cold storage upon the healthfulness of foods. An amendment eliminated was that which provided for an investigation of crops best adapted to irrigated districts.

General Baldwin Retires.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Brigadier General Frank D. Baldwin, commanding the southwestern military division, with headquarters at Oklahoma City, was placed on the retired list today by operation of the law on account of age. The vacancy in the list of brigadier generals caused by his retirement will be filled by the promotion of Colonel Walter D. Duggan, now in command of the First infantry in the Philippines.

Executives Exchange Greetings.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Cordial greetings have been exchanged between President Roosevelt and Mutsuhito, the emperor of Japan, over the American cable connecting the island of Guam and Japan, which recently was completed. The president's message, expressing the good will of America and himself, was sent yesterday and the emperor's reply reached Washington today.

Senate Confirms Nominations.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The senate, in executive session, today confirmed the following nominations:

Lester Maynard, California, consul at Sandakan, British North Borneo; Hiram E. Booth, Utah, attorney, District of Utah.

Postmasters: Iowa—E. W. Meyers, Denison, Ia.; W. M. McClure, Greene. Idaho—Francis M. Winters, Montpelier. Indian Territory—J. E. Long, Stigler.

Twenty-Eight-Hour Law Repealed.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The house today passed the senate bill which repeals the so-called twenty-eight-hour law by fixing the maximum of time in transit for stock at thirty-six hours, upon the written request of the owner or person in charge of the particular shipment.
