DICKINSON AND HIS ORIENT

Vice President of New Road Says Six Hundred Miles Are Going.

PICTURES GREAT FUTURE IN SONORA

Says it Will Be the California of His System—Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson Proceed to Fort Meade.

E. Dickinson vice president and general manager of the Orient road, rolled into Union station Tuesday morning in his private palanquin, the Orient, accompanied by Mrs. Dickinson, and left shortly afterwards for Fort Meade to visit their daughter, Mrs. Kauska. He was the same hale, hearty, genial railroad man as of yore when he was at the head of the Union Pacific and was enthusiastic over his new road and the country through which it travels.

"The southwestern section of the United States is in the finest possible condition," said Mr. Dickinson, "and the crops are the finest ever. The Orient system now has 45 miles of road in operation and we expect to have 150 miles shortly after January 1. In Mexico half of the territory is now covered with a completed line, 325 miles of the 650 now being finished. It has always been understood that it was impossible to cross the mountains in Mexico, but we have the work half done. The strength of the road will be its local business, for we don't have to cross any barren wastes, as most of these transcontinental lines do. Sonora is to Mexico what California is to the country. This state is 250 miles by eighty with eleven large rivers crossing it, so the whole state can be irrigated.

Ninety-seven varieties of hard wood are to be found and all sorts of tropical fruit—green corn and strawberries are to be had every day of the year. Sisal, similar to our hemp returns 10 per cent on a valuation of $300 per acre.

"In Sonora is found plenty of anthracite coal over 4,000,000 acres or more than Pennsylvania can produce. When our road is completed it will have a fine line of boats to the Orient. We are already tied up with the Hamburg-American line, the largest on the waters, to furnish plenty of boats as soon as we give the word."

Construction Work Rushed.
The Union Pacific has completed the laying of rails on the new North Platte-Northern line as far as the river, twenty miles west of North Platte. The bridge has been built across the river and the work is going on as fast as the graders get out of the way. All work in the west is being pushed as fast as men can be secured to do it.

A neat fight is on in the west between Harrison and Gould. Each is taking advantage of the scarcity of labor to promote his own interests. Labor agencies have been engaged to lure men away from the camps of the Union Pacific to put them to work on the Harrison line. This of course is a weapon which works both ways and the fight is on in earnest.

The work is progressing nicely on the Stromburg-Central City line of the Union Pacific and the contractor hopes to have this ready for the tracklayers soon.

The Northwestern is making a hustle to have its line from Casper completed for the registration for the opening of the Wind river or Shoshone reservation. The drawing will be held at Worland and Thermopolis and Shoshone from July 16 to 21, and as over 1,000,000 acres are to be given away an immense throng is expected to migrate that way for the drawing. The land is to be acquired at $1.50 per acre and there will be over 2,000 farms which ought to be worth $100 an acre in a year.

The Northwestern has announced that the Wyoming & Northwestern railroad, the line running west from Casper, will be opened for both freight and passenger business as far as Shoshone July 2.

Burlington to Drop Charge.
The Burlington has announced that effective July 15 it will quit paying the electricity charge of 1 1/2 cents per 100 pounds on grain at Missouri river points. Other roads are preparing to make the same change as soon as some contracts with Kansas City firms have expired. The announcement that such action was intended was made sometime ago.

Other Roads Fall in Line.
Most of the western roads have decided to reduce fares to correspond with the announcement made by the Union Pacific a couple of weeks ago. The Southern Pacific, Atchison, Topoka & Santa Fe and a few other roads have decided upon a reduction of local passenger fares. On the main lines of the Southern Pacific in portions of Colorado, Wyoming and Utah the reduction is from 4 cents to 3 cents per mile, in all of Idaho from 4 to 3 cents; in Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico from 5 cents to 4 cents; in California the various rates are made 3 cents per mile, except east of Auburn and Banning, where they are made 4 cents instead of 5 cents. On the branch lines in the states and territories above mentioned the rates will be 5 cents where not now less.

BOTH MEN HANG ON MONDAY

Jay O'Hearn and Harrison Clark Sentenced to Die November 12.

FORMER DENIES CRIME TO THE LAST

Negro Murderer of Flury is Silent and Judge Sutton Tells Them to Prepare for Death.

Sentence of death was pronounced upon Jay O'Hearn and Harrison Clark (colored) Tuesday afternoon by Judge Sutton. The date of the execution of both was fixed on Monday, November 12, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., the court departing from the usual custom of placing the execution on Friday.

The sentences were pronounced only before a small number of people who happened into the court room on business. Not over half a dozen were present when O'Hearn was sentenced, but the crowd increased somewhat by the time Clark was brought up.

O'Hearn was taken to the court room at 1 o'clock and chatted with his attorney, J. P. English, while the court was waiting for H. H. Flury. Judge Sutton went on the bench a few minutes later and announced he would overrule the motion for a new trial.

O'Hearn then took his place before the judge's bench and Judge Sutton asked him if he had anything to say why sentence of death should not be pronounced upon him.

"All I have to say, your honor," answered O'Hearn, "is that I did not fire the shot that killed Nels Lausten. Nelson fired that shot and he perjured himself when he swore I fired it. That's all I have to say."

Mr. English spoke briefly, saying he believed the verdict was probably the result of public clamor. He said he would take the case to the supreme court and if that body would not grant a new trial they would have to abide by the verdict.

Judge Sutton spoke slowly and impressively as he pronounced the sentence.

"Jay O'Hearn," he said, "the court now comes to the most unpleasant duty it has had to perform. I had hoped it would never be my duty while on the bench to pronounce the death penalty, but the jury has decreed that you suffer death, and this body would not grant a new trial. The supreme court will correct it."

"But you have no right to gamble on any possible action of the supreme court. It is your duty to prepare for death. No hope or promise held out to you by your counsel should keep you from doing everything to prepare for death. It is due you and your friends that you prepare your soul for a better world."

Pronounces the Awful Doom.
"It is the order of the court that within 100 days you be taken to the penitentiary at Lincoln, and on November 12, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., you be hanged by the neck until dead. And may God have mercy on your soul."

Beads of perspiration stood on O'Hearn's forehead when these words were spoken. He did not show any other indication of emotion, however. After consulting with his attorney he was taken back to jail.

Harrison Clark was brought into the court room immediately afterward. Since his trial he has grown a bushy black beard that covers his face. Judge Sutton announced he would overrule the motion for a new trial.

Clark said he had nothing to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon

CROPS ON THE BURLINGTON

Winter Wheat Greatly Benefited by Recent Rains and Corn is Excellent.

The Burlington crop, soil and weather report for the week ending June 23 in the Nebraska district shows the state to be in fine condition after the recent rains. Good rains fell on the two eastern divisions during a quarter of an inch to 4 1/2 inches on the Lincoln division and from 50 of an inch to 3 1/2 inches on the Wymore division. This has put the soil in excellent condition. Very little rain fell on the McCook division and the ground is becoming very dry. The rain which fell Sunday, June 24, relieved this division.

The good rains of the last week have been very helpful to the wheat crop. Winter wheat looks very well on the Lincoln division and was not damaged by the dry weather. On the Wymore division the recent rains helped fill out the heads and to growth, the result being that the corn is not as large as it usually is at this season of the year. With continued warm weather for the next two weeks the crop will be very near, if not entirely, up to the average.

The rains during the last week were of little real benefit to the spring grain, but will be exceedingly short and in most places heads poorly filled. In the northern part of the Wymore division and Lincoln division about a half crop of oats is expected. Other spring grains are practically a failure in all parts of the district.

Late potatoes in the district are in excellent condition. On the Lincoln division early planted potatoes are said to have been damaged somewhat by the dry weather.

Pastures on the Lincoln and Wymore divisions are in good shape, the rains of the last week having come just in time to save them. On the western part of the McCook division, owing to the continued dry weather, pastures are not in the best condition; rain is needed badly. On the east end of the McCook division pastures are not suffering for moisture, but a good rain would be very helpful. The second crop of alfalfa promises to be another good one.

SALESMAN IN QUEER WRECK

J. Frank Munro Mixed Up in Peculiar Collision Near Pawnee Last Week.

J. Frank Munro, a salesman for the Nebraska Electric company, was mixed up in a curious wreck near Pawnee last week.

"It was caused by a small boy and a large cow," said he. "The small boy had two companions and another cow. He was leading one and driving the other. The outfit started to cross the tracks, coasted from the engineer by trees and bushes. His warning whistle scared the driven cow across, but the boy yanked on the rope of the other and managed to hold her on the track long enough for the engine to strike her. The carcass rolled under the engine and an instant later the train was off the rails and bumping over the ties. I looked out of the window just in time to see the engine roll down a long embankment, turning over and over, and the fireman thrown from the opposite side clear over the engine. The mail car followed. I was in the smoker and that car started to go down the embankment, too. The dozen men did not have time to make a move. We all made our farewell thoughts when the car stopped dead still. We climbed out slowly for fear our weight might tip it over from the angle which it struck. After we were out one man saw his flask of whiskey last just about three seconds."

The engineer and fireman escaped seriously injured, but a mail clerk was badly bruised. There was fresh beef along the track for a long distance and a small boy benumbed his loss.
