The market on fat cattle has been in very good condition this week as viewed from a seller's standpoint. Values were quoted higher every day until Friday, with the trade active at the prevailing prices. On Friday the advance came to a standstill, and white medium cattle retained the advance aiready made, medium grades were in spots 5gipto lower. At the close of the week it is safe to quote desirable beer cattle fully 25c higher and some would quote the advance more than that. Medium to common kinds have not shown as much improvement, but they, too, are higher. The advance, so far as can be domined, is due to improvement in the consuming demand, together with a falling off in the receipts of desirable killing grades at the different market centers.

Cows and heifers participated in the advance to about the same extent as beef steers, being quoted nighter every day until Friday, when the upward movement came to a standstill. The fact is, packers at this point have been unable on many days to get as many good cows and nearers as they would like to kill out with the namber of steers that are coming. Grass cows, owing to the scarcity of good kinds, showed considerable improvement in prices, but shippers will understand that they are sure to be discriminated against whenever the more desirable kinds are in sufficient supply to fill packers requirements. In other more desirable kinds are in admirant sup-ply to fill packers requirements. In other words, grass cows at this meason of the year can advance or decline 15c before one hardly realizes it, and in Luying that kind of stuff for shipment great caution should be used.

Only a few stockers and feeders arrived during the week and while there was no great demand the few to be had sold to pretty good adv mage, the general rains in the country a. improved condition of the beef mark t giving buyers encouragement.

HOGS-Sellers seemed to feel this morning that they were entitled to a little more money for their nogs than yesterday and atarted out generally trying for an advance. The fact that it was a Saturday was so much against them that instead of securing stronger prices the market proved to be if anything a little easier. Snippers would pay 8.47% for the kind of nogs that they could use or were wanting. Bome of the packers were also paying that price or a few of the best that has happened and to sell the seller large of the packers were also paying that price for a few of the best that has happened and to seller largely at 8.6 and it was hardward to sell the seller largely at 8.6 and it was hardward to seller largely at 8.6 and its was hardward to seller largely at 8.6 and its was hardward to sell the seller largely at 8.6 and its was hard work to get any more than that. Every tourist who ever traveled over the famous "Georgetown Loop" in Clear Creek county, Colorado, has heard the names of the following mines—the big producer that, for four decades, have brought forth the yellow gold and the shimmering silver that have made this section far famed:

The Terrible, the Centennial, the Mendota, the Snow Drift, the Silver Plume, the Griffith, the South American, the Pay Rock, the Fred Rogers, the Cashier, the Star of the West, the Scoot, the Polar Star Extension, the White, the Silver Glance and the Clift, which produced from $125,000 to $8,000,000 each.

Right in the midst of these, midway between the cities of Georgetown and Silver Plume, is the property of the Georgetown Loop Mining Company, owning 25 claims and a mill sight; in all, 108 acres. This property, on Clear Creek, with railway facilities, is being opened by a crosscut tunnel that will drain the property while developing it at depth. Assays, running from $17.50 to $105 a ton, prove that mineral is there—and we know it is there in quantities. When you buy into Georgetown Loop, you connect with something worth your while. At 10 cents (par $1.00) this stock has no equal. Twenty-five cents is the next jump—and then likely fifty cents. The property, the development, the mineralization, the location, the management-everything combines in recommending it.

General rains throughout the corn producing states of the middle west caused free nelling of corn early in the day and resulted in moderate weakness. On the decline some of the leading cash houses bought fully and at the same time sold September. This caused a rally in the July option and started active covering by shorts. The result was a strong market during the last hour of trading. September opened unchanged to be lower at 521s75624c, sold off to 52c and then advanced to 520s. The close was strong at 52%c. Local receipts were 606 cars, with 344 of contract grade. The oats market was less active than for several days and the volume of business comparatively small. Early in the session the market was influenced by the weakness of wheat, but later the strength of corn caused a steadler feeling Scottember opened 1464c lower at 3546262c, advanced to 57c and closed at 26%c. Local receipts were 155 cars.

Provisions were quiet and firm. Local packers gave the market fair support and seeling was scattered. Small receipts of market. The combination of a shortage in the oats and hay crops gives the speculative position a builtsh tone. Receipts are moderate and cash demand continues good. Primary wheat receipts were 53,000 bushels and shipments $1,000 bushels. against receipts last year of 357,000 bushels and shipments $1,000 bushels. against receipts last year of 762,000 bushels, and shipments of $11,000 bushels. CHICAGO, June 20.—The continuance of excellent weather in the southwest induced free liquidation of wheat today and resulted in a weak market. At the close wheat for September delivery was off 192%c. Corn was up 1/2c. Oats showed a loss of 1/2c. Provisions were from 5c to 7/2c higher.

The feature of the wheat market was the renewed liquidation of July holdings by discouraged longs. The weakness which followed the selling had a sympathetic effect on all other deliveries, the general market being quite weak. Support was also lacking, as the majority of purchases were made by shorts. Good weather for harvesting was the principal cause for the selling pressure, although it was in some measure due to clearer weather in the northwest. Southwestern wheat markets were weak because of selling caused by the anticipation of an increased movement from the winter wheat territory and this depressed prices on the local market. Sentiment was bearish all day and the market closed weak, with prices near the lowest and flour were equal to 122,000 bu. Primary receipts were 350,000 bu. as against 357,000 for the corresponding day last year.
