Primary election today. Great Britain has had its first serious railroad wreck for many years.

Ohio mine officials will hereafter see to it that whisky is not in camp when they are out.

Congressmen are coming home now and those delayed congressional convention calls may be expected soon now.

The compartment car of Europe seems to possess little advantage over the American model when the crash comes.

Colonel Bryan should remember that while many an orator has "twisted the lion's tail" on the Fourth of July, few have entered the den to do it.

The use of ice as lighters in unloading Wellman's supply ship shows an adaptability to conditions which should prove successful in the flight to the pole.

With a Canadian crew winning the challenge cup at the Henley regatta, British collegians are justified in arranging a few sporting events for home talent.

Polls will be open for the primary election from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. in Omaha and South Omaha and from 12 noon to 9 p. m. in the country precincts.

Now that the sultan of Turkey has lifted the ban from the Jews opinions may differ as to the policy of the Russian flag flying from the mosque of St. Omer.

The official ballot contains duplication of names in several places. Be particularly careful to put your cross after the right Andersons, Johnsons and Smiths.

The arrogant assumption of the Fontanelle bosses that they control a monopoly of "intelligence" is likely to be badly punctured when the returns are tabulated.

Admiral Rojestvensky admits he was ready to surrender, which shows that he was able to recognize the inevitable—something not always possible to Russian officers.

Vote early. Take all the time needed to mark your ballot just the way you want it. Count the crosses and make sure you have made eighty-three and no more.

Fortunately for the Indian Territory the statehood bill was passed before the lynching proclivities of the inhabitants were made public or the enabling act might have had another rider.

The report that Speaker Cannon fears the result of the election can only mean that Uncle Joe is afraid there will not be enough democrats in the next house to enliven the proceedings.

Don't let the Fontanelles disfranchise you with any "rotation" ballot jugglery. Rebuke the perpetrators of the "rotation" ballot outrage and vindicate your right to vote by going to the polls tomorrow and voting for the eighty-three Rosewater delegates.

The Kansas insurance commissioner declares that companies which do not pay California losses in full cannot operate in that state.

TODAY'S PRIMARY.

The primary election to be held today turns, so far as the republicans are concerned, entirely upon the issue of their preferred candidate for United States senator. The primary is held to select the delegates to the republican state convention apportioned to Douglas county and the call for the convention includes the endorsement of a party nominee for United States senator.

The infliction of the "rotation" ballot outrage upon the voters by the Fontanelle bosses and the filing of a multiplicity of names has had one object in view—to disfranchise and confuse the voters to the extent of preventing correct registration of their wishes.

There is only one way to make sure that the Douglas county candidate shall hold a commanding position in the state convention when the nomination for senator comes to be made and that is by giving him the substantial backing of his own county.

REMONETIZING A SILVER COINAGE.

The operation of the law passed three years ago regulating the coinage system of the Philippine islands, which congress has just been forced to amend, forcibly illustrates how any coin which is undervalued in the mint stamp is thereby in effect demonetized.

PIPE LINES AS CARRIERS.

The effect of the amended interstate commerce law as it relates to oil pipe lines is naturally much misunderstood, and its practical importance is probably much overrated so far as the near future is concerned.

BETTER BE SAFE THAN SORRY.

You should bear in mind, if possible, that a little disappointment for Johnson will not prove half as bitter for him as a little operation.

PROVISIONS FOR HOME USE.

Congress has heard a lot about preservatives, and many of them believe that the pork in the pork barrel contains a preservative of their popularity at home.

ONE AVENUE EXTENDED.

A company has been formed in New York with a capital of $20,000,000 to control the chicken and egg supply of America and all dairy products.

SOFTENING INFLUENCE OF TIME.

It is reported that the Interstate Commerce commission will recommend national ownership of the anthracite coal deposits.

THE FREE PASS CLAUSE.

Admitting that the anti-free pass provision of the rate control law is far from perfect, it still does not merit the ridicule which hostile and partisan critics are heaping upon it.

THE FREE PASS CLAUSE.

The bill as originally introduced in the house, in which form for months public opinion demanded that it should be passed by the senate without change, was wholly silent as to free passes, except so far as forbidding discriminations in general could be construed as applying to them.

PROSPECTS THAT GROW BRIGHTER.

Mr. Rosewater's prospects for becoming Nebraska's next United States senator continue to grow brighter as time rolls by. Not only is this true in the rural districts of the state, but also in Omaha, where the biggest battle of the campaign will be fought out in the primary election.

SETTING DOWN TO TWO.

The senatorial situation is gradually settling down to a drawn out fight between Norris Brown and Rosewater. There are others in the field, but we hear comparatively little of them.

NO RETREAT ON THE BOARDS.

The railroad republicans are beginning to argue lustily against a convention nomination for United States senator. The animus of the argument lies in the fact that the railroads are afraid that their plans to control the state convention will fail and that a candidate not to their liking will be nominated.

WOULD NEED NO INTRODUCTION.

If Edward Rosewater was elected to the senate he would need no introduction to those with whom he would be associated. He would not have to state a word for six years, as Brown would, to get acquainted.

ONLY A GREAT BIG BLESS.

The political enemies of Mr. Rosewater within his own party ranks are proclaiming from the housetops that if that gentleman is nominated for United States senator the state will surely go democratic.

NEBRASKA SENATORIAL CAMPAIGN.

Only Two Prominent Candidates. Geneva Signal (rep.). Considerable stir is likely to be created in the state before the question of the selection of a republican candidate for United States senator is settled.

People with Him All Through.

Edward Rosewater has returned from Rome. He will no doubt be well pleased with the people of Nebraska for his senatorial endorsement.

Qualifies for Senatorial Timber.

Edward Rosewater of The Omaha Bee, who represented the republican state convention when it meets August 22, there are only two prominent candidates.

Resigned Efficient Service.

Hon. Edward Ricketts, editor of The Omaha Bee and candidate for United States senator, has returned from Rome, where he went as a delegate to represent the United States at the International Postal congress.

Room Steadily Expanding.

Edward Rosewater has returned from his trip to Rome. Now watch that senatorial boom expand.

ARMY GOSSIP IN WASHINGTON.

Current Events Gleaned from the Army and Navy Register. There will be no company barber shops in the army. That question has been settled finally by the War department in its action on the request filed by a company commander for permission to establish and operate a barber shop for the benefit of the command.

An Order will shortly be issued from the War department relating to the organization of a provisional regiment of field artillery at Fort Riley.

It has been decided not to send to Fort Leavenworth for preliminary instruction, previous to final examination, those army candidates who have been designated for appointment as second lieutenants.

And squarely passed upon the question noted.

But many of the states, with constitutions similar to the federal in this respect, have for years maintained commissions exercising the power to control rates without any question of the legislative right to confer this power, and the United States supreme court itself, in talking away from the interstate commission its formerly-exercised power to fix rates, did so simply on the contention that congress had not distinctly conferred the power.

PERSONAL NOTES.

General Henry Joseph Brugere, commander-in-chief of the French army, has been retired, having attained the age limit. His successor is General Harroun.

So far as is known there is not in Washington a single photograph of Senator Kittredge of South Dakota.

The czar of the Russias has a habit of spending a large percentage of his time in study—more so than most any other ruler in Europe, it is said.

Rev. J. C. Battle is a negro and the Boston "Afro-Americans" don't please him.

While addressing the senate the other day Mr. Warren of Wyoming was interrupted several times by Mr. Beveridge of Indiana.

Sound Reasons for Gladness.
