Rotation Scheme Dangerous.

The primary law as a whole has co . stay and we should be careful in administering it that the natural enemies to it-the special interests-cannot find weaknesses that prove disagreeable to the voter. If this rotating or names is not corrected before another state convention we will have thrown at us one of the strongest arguments used by the lobbyist for the the ministry. special interests against the state primary 'aw, namely, the expense to the county. I have heard that the printing bill for the morning rotation ballot alone will be about $7,000. Under the old party primary plan the entire cost never exceeded $3,000, including the
