

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Weakness and Lack of Interest in Whole Grain.

SEPTEMBER WHEAT HALF-CENT LOWER

Receipts liberal and Acceptances of Bids on New Wheat in Southwest Numerous-Corn Market Drains and Lower.

Wheat closed higher at the end of a slow session. American weakness of yesterday was not reflected by today's action, but this was more than offset by the weather in the northwest and southwest. Receipts of new wheat in the southwest were about twice as large as last year. Trade and accepting activity today was almost entirely caused by reports of black rust in Minnesota.

Features of the Trading and Closing

CHICAGO, July 6.—The weather for the new crop in the United States showed weakness today in the local wheat market, the September delivery being at a low of 40 1/2c. Corn was down 1/4c. Oats were 1/2c lower. Provisions were 7/8c higher.

Over the entire spring wheat territory the weather was extremely favorable for the growth of the crop. The absence of rain facilitated greatly the movement of grain from the newly harvested grain. Because of the heavy market was under heavy selling pressure all day long.
