Mother Admits Knocking Children Down When They Do Not Mind:

FEW CUSS WORDS BY WAY OF EMPHASIS

Cells the Court that Her Methods Produce Results, However, and Children Remain with Her.

"I don't use any worse language than most of them that keeps a snooping around and making trouble. I believe in makin' children mind. Sometimes I knocks 'em down a time or two, and I find they generally mind after that, I may swear at em pretty bad, but they do exasperate he so I actually sometimes don't know what I am saying," asserted Mrs. Alfretta Brayman of 236 South Eighth street, in the juvenile division of the district court yesterday morning while Judge Wheeler was holding an investigation as to whether the woman was a fit person to continue to have the custody of her two daughters, Brayman of 200 South Eighth street, in have the custody of her two daughters, both under 14 years of age. Complaint had been made to Rev. Henry Delong by neighbors of the woman that Mrs. Brayman was in the habit of using language of the foulest character to her young daughters and that she was not bringing them up as a dutiful mother should. Mrs. Brayman had been directed to bring the two girls into court, but failed to do so, asserting one of them was working in the country and that the other was sick at home.

After listening to the evidence and the defense of Mrs. Brayman, Judge Wheeler took the case under advisement. For the present the girls are to be left with their mother, but under the supervision of Rev. Henry DeLong, probation officer, who is to keep the court informed as to the future behavior of Mrs. Brayman.

Four Hundred Acres in Kausas City Wholesale District.

KANSAS CUTY Mo. July 7-The title to real estate valued at $60,000,000 in the West Bottoms district of this city was brought into question today by articles filed in the office of the recorder of deeds. The proceeding is designed to cast a cloud upon the title of 400 acres of land in the wholesale district.

The claim for one-tenth of this property is made by the heirs of John McCarty. who base their claim upon the statement that he with nine other men in 1847 formed a copartnership and bought the 400 acres in 1858. The other nine men formed a cor poration and sold all of the land, but Mc-Carty was not a party to this sale, and his heirs now make the claim that onetenth of the property belongs to them. The heirs filed with the recorder of deeds articles giving a local banker power of attorney to take all necessary steps to recover the property they claim.
