

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH THREATENED HER LIFE.

Pe-ru-na Greatly Relieved Her of Her Ailment Gained Thirty Pounds In Weight.

MRS. JOHN C. RUSSELL.

The Sensational Cure of Mrs. John C. Russell and Her Gain of Thirty Pounds in Weight...

Mr. John C. Russell, 810 County St., Portsmouth, Va., writes regarding his wife's case as follows: 'I thought I would be doing but justice to your great medicine to tell you what it has done for my wife.'

'Since that time my wife has gained thirty pounds. We are never out of Peruna.'

'When the children or I have a cold we take some of mamma's Peruna. I find that it has cut my doctor bills down to almost nothing.'

Frequently catarrh victims lose flesh rapidly. This is due to a derangement of the digestive organs by catarrh. Little by little their flesh decreases, until they become, in some instances, mere skeletons.

A medicine that will remove the catarrh and thus restore the digestive organs to their natural activity is the correct remedy for these cases.

A great many people who have lost flesh for months, on beginning to take Peruna, find their flesh returning. They soon have solid, healthy flesh, and their weight comes back to normal, showing that Peruna has indeed a wholesome effect upon the system.

NO ONE WILL BE PROSECUTED

Such is Official Statement After Two Verdicts in Kursaal Disaster.

SARPY COUNTY INQUEST IS CONCLUDED

Finds 'Deaths Due Solely to Gross, Wanton and Criminal Carelessness of Management and Owners of Resort.'

With a jury empaneled at Papillion, Dr. R. B. Armstrong, coroner of Sarpy county, Nebraska, held the second inquest at the Kursaal at Lake Manawa yesterday afternoon over the victims of the Fourth of July disaster.

The following is the full text of the verdict returned by the jury: At an inquest held at Manhattan Beach in Sarpy county, Nebraska, on the 7th day of July, 1906, before me, Robert B. Armstrong, coroner of said county, upon the bodies of Robert L. Scott, E. Huff, Mary Sheehan, Mary Sheehan, Mary West and Lena Rosenblum, lying dead, by the jurors, whose names are hereto subscribed, said jurors upon their oath do say that said persons met their death on the evening of July 4, 1906, in the course of the waters of Lake Manawa, in the county aforesaid, and that said drowning was occasioned by the collapse of a portion of the floor of the veranda of the bath house or 'Kursaal' located on the south side of said lake.

'We further find that the deaths were due solely to gross, wanton and criminal carelessness of the management and owners of said resort in permitting thousands of people to crowd upon a platform of insufficient construction which was entirely inadequate and insufficient to sustain the great weight thereon imposed upon it. We further find that no effort was made to prevent the overcrowding of said veranda and that no arrangement was given in reference thereto. We further find that proper and capable employees in restraining said crowd from going upon said platform in large numbers had been employed, but had prevented said accident and saved the lives of the persons drowned.'

Testimony same as before. W. R. Patrick, county attorney of Sarpy county; Ed C. Brown, deputy fish and game warden of Council Bluffs; J. W. Kirk, deputy sheriff, employed at the Kursaal, were the only witnesses at the inquest yesterday afternoon, although the testimony of George T. Abbott of Omaha and Samuel Dobson of Council Bluffs, as given at the first inquest Friday afternoon, was read to the jury. The testimony of the three witnesses examined was substantially the same as that given by them Friday afternoon.

No criminal prosecution will be had of the management of the lake resort, despite the finding of the Sarpy county jury. County Attorney Patrick stated after the inquest that under the Nebraska statutes 'criminal negligence' did not constitute a crime and that there was no law providing for a penalty in a case where a person met death through the carelessness or negligence of another person. As it appears to be taken for granted that the Iowa authorities have no jurisdiction over that portion of Lake Manawa in which the Kursaal is located, there will be no prosecution in that state either.

The verdict of the jury yesterday afternoon at the Kursaal was apparently prepared in Papillion before the hearing of evidence. It was typewritten and there was no typewriter at the Kursaal or on the other side of the lake.

Crowd at Miss Looey's Funeral.

The funeral of Miss Mary Looey Saturday morning was the largest ever held at St. Agnes' church at South Omaha. Before the time of the ceremony the church was packed to the doors and before the body was brought from the residence the stairs were crowded and many were forced to remain in the streets. According to Rev. Father James Aherne, it was the largest funeral he had conducted since the date of his coming. He was assisted in the ceremony by Father P. A. Flanagan and Father T. O. Callahan. The solemn requiem mass was pronounced over the body of the beloved young woman. After the ceremony of the mass Father Aherne gave a short address of eulogy, which affected his hearers to tears.

Three fraternal orders were out to give her homage. Her own sodality, the person blessed Virgin Mary, marched at the head of the funeral procession. Following came the members of the Ladies' Catholic Order of Foresters. The Knights and Ladies of Security were in carriages. In the procession there were over forty carriages in line. According to arrangements made the funeral procession on leaving the church was joined by that of Miss Mary Sheehan of Omaha, fully as large as Miss Looey's, at Twenty-fourth and Q streets. The funeral of that young woman was held at St. Patrick's church and was fully as imposing as the first. On joining the two processions moved abreast across the viaduct and so to St. Mary's cemetery at Thirty-sixth and Q streets. Here the short burial rites were pronounced by the fathers.

Miss Looey, being the older of the two cousins, was buried first and while the sextons were silently filling her grave the body of her cousin, Mary Sheehan, with whom she died, and in whose arms she was found in the water of Lake Manawa, was lowered to her sleep.

Still Under Doctor's Care.

Miss Robina Kammerer, 1155 Frederick street, aged 72, who was one of the persons involved in the Manawa accident, is still under the care of a doctor at her home. Miss Kammerer is a daughter of Frank Kammerer and is a saleswoman at the Boston store notion counter. She was saved from the water by a plucky man whose name is not known, pulling her in the arms of her by means of a chair, but this broke and she was forced to swim out and drag her to a safe landing. Her face, right arm and body were bruised and she has suffered severely from the exposure and shock.

The Royal Hawaiian band is a musical organization supported by the Hawaiian government, and has been carefully trained by Captain H. Berger, a famous German army officer and a string orchestra, a choir, mandolin, guitar and banjo clubs and several superb solo singers. Every member of this superb organization plays upon from five to ten different musical instruments, and in addition to this they all have trained voices and sing beautifully. There will be two concerts daily during the Omaha engagement of the Royal Hawaiian band, a matinee at 2:30 o'clock and an evening concert at 8:30. The prices for these concerts are such that everybody can afford to attend, not only once, but many times. The tickets for this great concert season will be sold up to and including July 21 by which purchasers may save money and at the same time secure reserved seats at very reasonable rates. These book tickets are now on sale at Manager Gillen's office in the Auditorium, also at Myers-Dillon, Sherman & McConnell's, Beaton Drug Co., O. D. Kiplinger's cigar store, Bennett's and Thompson & Belden's. No book tickets will be sold after Saturday, July 21.

Krug Park. The Denver Post has raised an important question for discussion, that is exciting much interest among actor folk and patrons of amusements, and it has expressed its own opinion on the subject. The Post has decided that elephants do laugh. This decision was reached after viewing the exhibition of Eph Thompson's elephants at Elitch's Garden in that city. These elephants make a rattling boxing contest with a knockout; they shove each other, and after the elephant is shaved he is given a bottle of wine, which is the custom in the African jungle, where, they play football, play a tune on a string of bells to band accompaniment, give a military drill and march, and, among other interesting performances, Mary turns a somersault. She was nineteen months learning how to do it. The Post says that the tricks were hugely enjoyed and rapturously applauded by several thousand people. Right here the Post claims that the elephant actor is just as appreciative of applause, just as delighted with his own success, as the human actor. The actions of the elephants during the applause, the twinkle of their eyes, the waving of their trunks, and the motions of their open mouths, proved to the Post reporter that they were laughing at the success of their own performances and pleased with the effect of the same upon the large audience.

PEARL BRYAN IS BACK AGAIN

Atlantic Authorities Send Her to Omaha in Charge of Salvation Army.

Pearl Bryan is back again. Seated in a buggy between two members of the Salvation Army Rescue corps she bobbed up Saturday evening at the police station from whence she was banished several days ago.

Miss Bryan's initial introduction to the Omaha police authorities a week ago was unusual and suspicious. She arrived in the city from her home at Atlantic and was 'all in' financially, physically and mentally, at least to all appearances. It was not long before she had found her way to the police station and was half carried by sympathetic policemen into the surgeon's office. Her knees refused to support her, her neck and back became limp and it was a shameless heap that was at last placed in a comfortable chair. Surgeon Elmore hurried in, and taking one glance at the patient, it was deemed best to first try and get her name and address before she succumbed to the inevitable. Captain Mostyn, her loving relatives could be notified. Removing the tattered hat from the touselled hair Elmore was about to take the rolling dead gently in his hands and lift the closed eyelids to see if signs of approaching death had begun to gather, when suddenly the form straightened up, and Elmore understood, as all born doctors understand, that the patient wished to speak. Thinking it might be a dying message to John or instructions about what to do with the poodle, he bent his head to catch every faint syllable. This is what struck him in the ear in a harsh voice: 'Say, Doc, got any chewing tobacco?'

When order had been restored the visitor was locked up. She didn't get any chewing tobacco, nor any of the other stuff her drug-soaked system craved and for which she begged the doctor. It was discovered she feigned extreme exhaustion in the hope of being given a stimulant, and as soon as transportation could be arranged for she was shipped back to Atlantic.

The police had just begun to congratulate themselves upon the good riddance, when, just like the proverbial cat, she came back Saturday evening. She was in charge of Julius Esperson of the Salvation Army detachment at Atlantic, who told Captain Mostyn the sheriff there had asked him to bring the woman here. Esperson first took her to the Reacus home here, and as they could not keep her there, she was transferred to the police station. Captain Mostyn was indignant over the action of the Atlantic authorities and at Esperson for persisting in shifting his charges into Nebraska territory.

As a result of their little buggy ride both Miss Bryan and Esperson were locked up on vagrancy charges and Captain Mostyn, old Esperson he will turn the matter over to the county attorney and secure his conviction if possible for bringing a public charge into the state, thus putting an end to such practices.
