

POSSIBILITIES OF AMERICA

Power of New Nation to Uplift Mankind Unlimited, Says Dr. Wadsworth.

COUNTRY BLESSED AS NONE OTHER IS

President of Bellevue Designates Political Corruption as Prime Evil and Urges Gospel as Only Infallible Remedy.

"The Possibilities of America in Uplifting Mankind" was the subject dealt with by President Guy C. Wadsworth of Bellevue college in a sermon at St. Mary's Avenue Congregational church Sunday morning.

"I will know nothing but Jesus Christ and him crucified," was his motto, and divinely inspired to preach the gospel to the Roman, he said, "I must also see Rome."

"Paul's life was one of singleness and continuity of purpose," said Mr. Folsom. "I will know nothing but Jesus Christ and him crucified," was his motto, and divinely inspired to preach the gospel to the Roman, he said, "I must also see Rome."

"Let us look upon the trials and sorrows of life with calmness, holding fast to God, our steady power. Out in the storm the waves roll high around us, but we cling to the plank our hands touch; it is God, the steady power, you may lose your family and your worldly possessions, but see that you hold fast to God. You may be sick and weary, almost ready to give up the struggle of life, but hold fast to God. Do not pity Paul; he does not need your pity. He has his own power, his own strength, his own singleness of purpose. Rather pity the man who weeps and groans under the weight of his own pleasures.

"Remember, too, that there are always souls trusting in your true heart and they need your cheer, just as the sailors need the reassuring words of Paul on the voyage to Rome. Stand calm, steady and confident, passing through Asia, Macedonia, Jerusalem and finally on to Rome. Before you reach Rome you may be shipwrecked, and with the steady power of God you will be able to hold out your hands to your fellows and say, 'Be of good cheer, we are not lost; we will reach Rome.'"

"Political corruption is a practical danger that confronts us. There are signs of hope, but all is not accomplished by any manner or means. By 1920 we are told by statisticians our urban population will be greater than our suburban population and we must look seriously after the government of our cities.

"The Bible does not say that money is the root of evil. It does say that the love of money is the root of all evil. History shows that when Rome reached a certain state of riches it immediately began to go down to destruction. It is not necessary for us to look back to the corrupt days of Greece and Rome. In our cities today crimes are committed that cause any one to blush to even contemplate describing them in public—crimes as bad as any in the time of Nero or the worst days of Greece.

"What is the remedy? The remedy is perfectly sure. It is religion and morality. It is false to say that the bulk of the preachers of this country are clinging before the influence of wealth or other influences of a material nature. The gospel today is preached with power, faith and simplicity, and it is the power of the gospel that is the remedy. The dangers of wealth are nothing when wealth is brought forward and consecrated to God. God loves the rich man who uses his wealth to make the world better, to dry the tears of the grief-stricken, to assuage the pain of the afflicted and spread the gospel through every land."

LORD'S SUPPER SYMBOL OF JOY

Not instituted as a Feast, says Dr. A. C. Clarke. The institution of the Lord's supper and its significance was the topic of the sermon by Dr. A. C. Clarke at Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday morning before the administering of the sacrament. He traced the origin of the service in the Jewish Feast of the Passover. Joy, he declared, and not fasting, was the significant idea of the sacrament.

"The feast has been perverted from its original meaning by the churches," he said. "We must get out of our minds the idea of the priest and the sacrifice in the simple service around the table. Our service grew out of the Feast of the Passover. We, too, have the lamb. We must have the lamb, Christ, before we take part in the feast. We know how we feel when we speak of one that has gone from us. We can almost feel his presence. That is what the Lord's supper does for us. It is a symbol. It was never intended we should believe by some hocus pocus the bread and the wine actually become the flesh and the blood. It should bring to our recollection the love of the Redeemer, like the stars and stripes bring back to the traveler the thrill of the love of country.

"The unleavened bread is here the symbol of purity and sincerity. Before the feast the Jews searched their houses for leaven and they found any that they put it away. That is what the Lord wants us to do, to search our hearts for malice and untruth and when we have found it put it away from us. The bitter herb signified repentance. The wine in the scripture is the symbol of joy. It is not intended as a fast, as some churches teach. It is a feast and intended as a symbol of joy."

LAY HOLD ON THE LIFE ETERNAL

Rev. Mr. Grob Urges God Instead of Trivial Vanities. "Lay Hold on Eternal Life" was the subject of the discourse of Rev. Leonard Grob at St. Mark's Lutheran church Sunday morning.

"In his epistle to Timothy, Paul uttered a strong warning against worldliness and the fascination of worldly affairs," said Mr. Grob. "And Paul sought to impress upon Timothy the full necessity of holding fast to the eternal life and not to the things of this world. There should be no half-heartedness in our forgiveness of those who we may think have wronged us. 'Vengeance is mine, I will repay,' saith the Lord, and 'whatsoever ye shall measure to others, so it shall be measured unto you.' I have seen this lesson exemplified often in my own life. It behooves us to free from the wrath to come, as we would from a plague, earthquake or panic. Free ye, therefore, from worldliness. We become spellbound and fascinated by the visible temptations of worldly affairs. We should follow after Godliness, faith, meekness, lowliness and patience, against which there is no law, divine or human. These things are the fruit of the spirit. Fight the good fight that you may stay with Paul, 'I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course.' Without faith it is impossible to be with God. Your faith means your convictions of the mercy of God. We must not

FAREWELL TO REV. A. J. FOLSOM

Plymouth Congregational Pastor Goes to Y. M. C. A. in Michigan. Rev. Arthur J. Folsom of Plymouth Congregational church preached his farewell sermon to a large congregation Sunday morning. He will leave Tuesday for Grand Rapids, Mich., where he will have charge of the religious work of the Young Men's Christian association. Mr. Folsom took for his subject Sunday morning "The Steady Power," and for his text the words of Paul in Acts xix: "I must also see Rome."

SECRETARY WILSON IS MOVING RAPIDLY IN INSPECTION PRELIMINARIES

Secretary Wilson is moving rapidly in inspection preliminaries. The secretary is particularly fortunate in obtaining the services of men qualified in every respect for the important duties imposed upon them, and so far as can be judged at present, he has also secured a score or more men for consular places of exceptional merit.

In this connection it is worthy of note that in transferring the duty of collating and publishing consular reports from the department to the Department of Commerce and Labor a wise move was made. That most valuable of government publications, known as the Daily Consular Reports, is published under the direct supervision of Major John M. Carson and Mr. E. J. Gibson. The former was for a quarter of a century the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, and he was for several years during that period clerk to the committee on ways and means during the incumbency of "Big Iron" Kelley and William McKinley as chairman. Mr. Gibson was for a long time the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger. Both gentlemen are thoroughly equipped newspaper men and there are none better posted on the foreign commercial relations of this country than Messrs. Carson and Gibson. The Daily Consular Reports are recognized by manufacturers and exporters as of the greatest value, and they will continue to increase in importance with the reorganized consular service behind them.

APPOINTMENTS BY CIVIL SERVICE

Uncle Sam's Guaranty on Meat Products is Expected to Give Them a Standing in World's Markets for All Time.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8.—(Special.)—Secretary Wilson is rapidly perfecting the organization of the inspection service and within the next two or three weeks every one of the larger packing houses from Boston to Denver will be supplied with a force of inspectors to pass upon the healthfulness of every pound of beef which enters into commerce between the States. The secretary, who has absolute discretion in the matter of fixing the compensation of the inspection force, has not yet announced the salaries to be paid, but this has not caused a deficit of applicants, and there will be no dearth of men willing to serve their country, even in such unattractive places as the slaughter pens and packing house plants of the great centers of the trade. When the committee on agriculture of the house first voted to suspend the civil service law so as to enable Secretary Wilson to make appointments promptly it was with the understanding that the civil service commission could not supply the demand for this particular line of employment. It must be understood that no one is eligible for appointment as a meat inspector who has not been trained in a college of veterinary surgery. But nearly every member of the committee declared that he, individually, had no desire to be consulted in the matter of appointments. Just as soon as the president declared his opposition to the bill, the service committee of the bill it was promptly stricken out; there was not a dissenting vote. It is now announced that the civil service eligible list is sufficiently well equipped with the names of veterinary graduates, who have passed the examinations prescribed, to insure the appointment of an adequate force as fast as the other necessary preliminaries can be completed with.

LABELED CANS SOON ON SALE

It will be some months before the new law can be put into effect in every city of the country. But before the end of July the shelves of the retail stores, in the larger cities at least, will be supplied with canned meat products bearing upon their labels the stamp of the federal government, showing first that the animals from which they were made were healthy when slaughtered, next that the carcasses exhibited no signs of disease and most important of all, perhaps, the contents of the can were prepared in an absolutely sanitary manner.

No other country on earth has enacted such stringent regulations to govern the killing of animals for human food or the preparation of food products. It will take some months to make the European markets which have been lost and in the interim hundreds of tons of American canned meats, now in European warehouses, will be destroyed or sold for a song, but once that label of the United States Department of Agriculture becomes recognized as an absolute guaranty of wholesomeness and healthfulness the meat industry of America will have obtained a standing throughout the world of which it cannot be deprived again.

LOYALTY WILL BE WATCHWORD

Motto of Omaha for Baptist Young People's Union. "Loyalty," the motto displayed on the banners all over town to welcome the coming of the young people to the meeting of the Baptist Young People's union in this city this week, was taken as the theme of a sermon Sunday morning by Rev. J. W. Conley at the First Baptist church, the text being "Whosoever will confess me before men him will I also confess before my father which is in heaven."

"This word loyalty will be displayed in Omaha this week as it never was before," said Dr. Conley. "The street cars, wagons and homes will fly the banners bearing the inscription, 'Loyalty to Christ.' If we are ever to become noted for our loyalty to the Lord, it is to be a person and that person should be Jesus Christ. Many things in life we cannot understand, but we can understand a person such as Jesus Christ. The word loyalty directs attention to the very center of Christian life. The power of Christianity can be found in the person of Jesus Christ and in the true Christian life is faithfulness to a purpose. We owe allegiance not to an institution, not to a creed, not to a form of worship, not to historic dogmas, but to the person of Jesus Christ. Loyalty implies intelligence and study of the word of God. Loyalty must have courage in its makeup. We must magnify Christ as He really is and put our thoughts on Him as He is. If we wish to be loyal to Christ we must recognize the features of His life as first as a Savior of men, second as a teacher and third as an interpreter of life. Life is the riddle of the universe and He alone can tell us the causes of life's disorders. Lastly, we must recognize Him as commander. He is our prophet, priest and king, all are combined in Him."

THE VERY BEST REMEDY FOR BOWEL TROUBLE

Mr. M. P. Burroughs, an old and well known resident of Burton, Ind., says: "I regard Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as the very best remedy for bowel trouble. I make this statement after having used the remedy in my family for several years. I am never without it."

TO CORRECT FALSE REPORTS

The report being circulated that Hayden Bros. are using the depositors' money in their business is absolutely untrue. The deposits in Hayden Bros' bank are loaned on the best and most available security for the safety of the depositors. Not only that, but Hayden Bros' bank has more solid wealth and cash resources for its liabilities than any other bank we know of, either in this state or elsewhere. There is no mortgage or incumbrance of any kind on Hayden Bros' property. It is all clear to strengthen and support the bank assets in case of panic or adverse conditions of any kind. It might be well to think of these facts when making your savings deposits.

MILL CITY VIEW HILL LINE

Mississippi Men See in Ashland Out-Of-Bir Feeder of Grain for It.

OMAHA DEALERS THINK DIFFERENTLY

Gate City Elevator Men Regard it as Another Opportunity to Reach Seaboard Markets via Duluth.

Grain men of Minneapolis think they see in James J. Hill's new cut-off from Ashland to Sioux City a great help to the grain market of Minneapolis. They think they see in that line an effort on the part of Mr. Hill to capture for Minneapolis the immense tonnage of grain grown in the eastern part of Nebraska on the Burlington and the cut-off. They claim that while Mr. Stokely with his Great Western has been trying to build up Omaha as a grain market, "the Great Northern has quietly been at work on the Ashland loop which, by way of that otherwise unimportant station, has connected the Burlington and Great Northern, opened up a more direct route to Minneapolis, made possible closer cooperation and quicker transfer of north-bound freight and made the Great Northern a powerful competitor for the Minneapolis haul on grain that in greater part has heretofore gone east to Chicago.
