

BAPTIST SABBATH IN OMAHA

Minister-Delegates to Convention Preach in Evangelical Churches in Morning.

ALL HAVE GOOD-SIZED CONGREGATIONS

President Chapman Talks to Young Men's Christian Association and Fills Them with New Zeal.

Scarcely an evangelical church in Omaha yesterday morning had its pastor in its pulpit to preach. Minister-delegates to the convention of the Baptist Young People's union filled the places of the pastors, and good sized congregations turned out almost in every instance. The visiting preachers had come from far and wide, some from the Pacific, some from the Atlantic, others from the north and others from the south and they all had laid special stress upon the sermon they were to preach in Omaha Sunday morning. Filled with the zeal and enthusiasm of the week's successful convention—the best in the history of the organization, according to President Chapman—these men of God carried the fire of the gospel with them into the strange pulpits and they seemed to infuse it into the hearts of their strange congregations.

The Sabbath of a religious convention is not a day of rest to the conventioners, save as any day is one of rest to a zealous Christian when he can spend it busily doing the work of his Master. Such a day was yesterday for the Baptist delegates and their friends in Omaha of all other churches. President Chapman set the example for his minister brethren by lecturing in the afternoon at the Young Men's Christian association rooms. Some of the ministers visited and addressed the prisoners at the county jail.

REPORT KEY TO JOHN'S MINISTRY

One Word Characterizes Whole Career.

In his discourse at the Second Presbyterian church yesterday morning Rev. A. A. Mainwaring, pastor of the First Baptist church of Logansport, Ind., characterized the ministry of John the Baptist as summed up in the word "repent." Indiana preacher gave an interesting talk on the life, work and character of John.

"John led the morning of the early Christian era. Today the full sunshine of God's love is beaming on us, and we need more than ever before to repent. The conscience of the people of the United States is being aroused as never before and we are becoming more sensitive to what is right and wrong."

To keep pace with the wonderful growth and prosperity of this country Dr. Mainwaring urged that the Christian church reproduce itself more by sending out ministers, as but few young men today are consecrating themselves to the work.

"John was a voice. His was a voice crying to all to prepare the way of the Lord, and he brought down with him the mighty Jewish superstitious. We, to be workers for God, must reduce ourselves to voices. John's ministry did not merely consist of sound, as he powerfully aroused the sleeping consciences of his hearers and disturbed their latent forces. John was not the product of his own age, but rather the incarnation of the deep thoughts of many ages and of God."

Dr. Mainwaring declared the outlook for a general repentance throughout the country was never brighter, the softening of the denominational lines being a happy move in that direction.

Rev. Newman Hall Burdick, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, occupied the pulpit with the visiting minister. Prof. Harry L. Maxwell, a prominent singing evangelist, had charge of the choir and sang "Open My Eyes That I May See." Prof. Maxwell's sweet tenor voice added much to the inspiration of the service.

SIN IS THE BAR TO PEACE AND LOVE

Keeps Men Out of Fellowship, Says Rev. W. R. Howell.

Rev. W. R. Howell of Detroit occupied the pulpit of the First Methodist church yesterday morning, taking "Fellowship" as the topic of his sermon. The conclusion was from I John 1: "That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us; and truly our fellowship is with the Father and with his son, Jesus Christ." In part, he said:

"The one thing that keeps men out of fellowship is sin, the one thing that breaks up homes is sin, the one thing that divides husband and wife, that plunges nations into war and corrupts municipalities is sin. It is the desire of God that we should live together in fellowship."

"We are told that fellowship is a matter of the heart, but that the mind has cognizance of it. It is a matter of common conviction, of agreement in service. It means side by side toll. It is also a matter of spirituality and depends on regeneration. Jesus said we are not to be born again, to be transformed; John says our fellowship is with the Father and if we say we have fellowship in God and walk in darkness we lie. It is also a matter of accommodation. We may develop it. We should be able to rejoice with those that rejoice and weep with those that weep. What the world needs is sympathy. We ought to help bear the burdens of others and carry out the teachings of Christ.

"Fellowship is a matter of support. It is one of the sustaining factors of the Christian life. Paul worked with his companions. That is what the world needs today, to have men and women who are willing to be used in common. We grow weary at times, but to us comes the refreshing thought that we have companionship and it gives us spirit to work and die for Jesus."

SECRETARY WEBB ON POWER

Manifestation of Spiritual Power is Not Full Enough.

Rev. George T. Webb of Illinois, international secretary of the Baptist Young People's union of America, preached at St. Mary's Avenue Congregational church Sunday morning on "Power."

"There never was a time in the history of the Christian church when we talked so much about power as we do now," said he. "But there is not the full manifestation of spiritual power there should be considering the number of words spoken about it. There has never been so large a literature on the subject as during the last fifteen years, nor have we been so rich in songs of praise and hymns of power as in recent years."

"To a large extent there is a misconception of the whole subject. Spiritual power is too much thought of as something related to spiritual ecstasy. We have set it apart in the cloister while we have been out in the busy world. If power is in the cloister and the Christian is in the world then the Christian is without the power he ought to have to adequately represent Jesus Christ. The world today, out of all its confusion, distress, agony and unbelief longing, cries out in a cry that it does not understand itself. 'We would see Jesus.'"

"Jesus would manifest Himself to the needy world through His body, which is His church, whether it be in Corinth, at Ephesus, in Galatia or in Omaha. There is only one way in which He makes Himself manifest, and that is through His church."

"Power lies in the exercise of gifts and the full development of the talents with which we have been endowed. The church, to become the church of greatest power, should have every member discover what his or her gift is and use it according to God's plan. There is not a dispensable member in the church of Jesus Christ anywhere. Your position may be obscure and your gift small, but there is no one whom the church does not need. Find out your place and serve."

INDIVIDUALITY IS SWALLOWED UP

Rev. Bruce Kinney Deprecates Lack of Personal Responsibility.

"In this day of peculiar economic, industrial and social conditions, we have no longer any great sense of personal responsibility," said Rev. Bruce Kinney of Utah, preaching Sunday morning at the First Christian church. "All things are specialized now, and a man is only a small part of great whole, losing to a great extent his sense of personal identity. Not many years ago a shoe factory consisted of a shoemaker, a little shop and tools. Today the factory is a great institution. Then the man himself was the factory; today he is only a wheel, or perhaps even a tiny cog in the great system of machinery."

"The same conditions run through all of our industrial and economic life. We see corporations doing things the individual would not dare do and take the responsibility in the sight of God and man. He may have voted for it in directors' meeting, but it was the corporation that did it. Labor unions do things which the individual laborer would not think of doing, for fear of the responsibility it entails. The citizen votes for a measure, but to escape the responsibility for the results of the vote he hides behind the cloak of his party."

"Too many men lead lives of convenience, instead of lives of conviction, though if there is anything the church needs today it is men of conviction."

"Let us break away from the tendency resulting from twentieth century conditions, and be men and women. The only fish which floats with the current is a dead fish, and he's so dead he stinks. I tell you if some people don't wake up and live according to conviction and not by convenience there'll be some smells around here by and by."

THEY WIN WHO SIDE WITH GOD

Crisis of Faith Theme of Rev. R. M. West's Sermon.

Hundreds were turned away after all the staves, the choir left and standing room was filled when Rev. R. M. West of St. Paul was the speaker at the First Baptist church Sunday morning, filling the pulpit of Rev. J. W. Conley, who was pastor of the First Baptist church in St. Paul for five years before Mr. West came there. The "Crisis of Faith" was the theme of a sermon, the text of which was, "But I have prayed for thee that thy faith fail not and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren."

"Faith is a matter of considerable importance in life and Jesus had a way of opening the eyes of the blind," said Mr. West. "The battles are not the small questions and kept to the main issue, as was illustrated in the case of Peter's faith. The Brooklyn bridge stands out prominently in relief with four cables of galvanized steel steel wire holding up the whole structure. The cables are not the most imposing part of the structure, yet they carry all the burden. Life has tremendous loads to carry in various lines, but faith, anchored to God, will carry us through. We should determine to build our lines on the carrying power of faith and determine that our power in life shall be gathered from faith in God."

"The life of Jesus Christ was human and the principal crisis came when man wished him to be king. He pondered long and late into the night and met the situation by faith. The people were chafing against the Roman rule and held hatred against that government and were ready to make any sacrifice for deliverance. They believed they saw in Jesus Christ the right man to lead them against the armies of Rome. They would do His will if He would but consent to lead them. His decision was, 'I will do the work which my Father has planned for Me.' He realized God had sent Him into the world for the whole human race and not simply for one little race."

"We are assured from the plan of God into schemes of commerce and we have seen the time for God's work. In the meanwhile God's plans move with a less sweep and you stand by building indestructible temples while God is building the indestructible without your help. This is the crisis of faith and we must settle the question of whether our time and resources shall be used for God or mammon; not to stop the roads of commerce, but to so live as to not let your life be sidetracked. In many places human genius is landing a little fish and letting a big craft go down to destruction. Lay yourselves subject to God's plans. They used to get Him to denounce His Father, but He saw His faith must rest in God. They always win who side with God. The man who in his faith holds with God is sure to triumph. Men argue wrongly for the divinity of things temporary. Life is a noble thing and is divine as well as human."

SANBURY JURY DISCHARGED

Unable to Agree on Verdict After Being Out Twenty-Four Hours.

After being out twenty-four hours, the jury in the case of Robert Sanbury against the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company was discharged by Judge Estelle without having arrived at a verdict. This was the fourth trial of the case, two disagreements having preceded this one. At the first trial one of the jurors broke his arm and the case was stopped. Sanbury is a boy. About two years ago he was severely injured by being struck by a street car near Twentieth and Hickory streets. The company asserted the accident was due to his own carelessness. The vote in the jury room on the question of the liability of the company is said to have stood at first at 7 to 5 in favor of the boy, and later at 10 to 2.

ELKS ON THE WAY TO DENVER

Omaha Welcomes Large Delegations of Order Passing Through.

LIVELY SCENES AT DEPOTS ALL DAY LONG

Mayor Dahlman and Bill Canada Lead in Greeting the Visitors Who Are Accorded Most Hospitable Treatment.

Elks galore passed through Omaha, the gateway to the west, Sunday morning, afternoon and evening en route to Denver, where the grand lodge meeting will be held July 16 to 21. Union station never had more jolly crowds in one day and so constantly the scene of some trainload of Elks and their families and friends, either alighting from the cars and being welcomed by the local lodge officers and Mayor Dahlman in behalf of the city or of some trainload which was leaving with many regrets.

Mayor Dahlman was on hand and as the crowd would alight he would make a characteristic speech of welcome, giving the travelers the privileges of the city, and promising them the best the town afforded as long as they would remain within the gates. W. T. Canada, exalted ruler, in behalf of the local lodge of Elks, would follow with a warm speech of welcome, inviting all to take a trolley ride and to use the club rooms to the fullest extent. Many of the trains were held over in Omaha while the members of the various parties accepted the invitation of the local Elks and viewed the city from special trolley cars and from automobiles which were kept on the move all day.

Open House at Club. The Elks club rooms were greatly decorated for the occasion and the larder was well filled from which all were invited to partake without cost. The rooms were well filled all day and the large number of women was a noticeable feature of the tourists. A majority of the travelers seemed to have their wives and daughters, and special provision was made for the entertainment of these.

At the station George West for the North-western, W. H. Murray, Dave Lincoln and officers of the operating departments for the Union Pacific, City Passenger Agent Rowe and Fred Rutherford, division passenger agent of the Rock Island, Will Davidson of the Milwaukee, Will Davidson of the Great Western, and Sam North of the Illinois Central were present all day, looking after the comfort of the passengers on the numerous trains which were constantly pouring their cargoes of living freight into the Union station. W. H. Canby, traveling passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande for this district, was on hand to give the Elks copies of the official program which had been prepared by his road.

Several trains arrived during the night and these went right on through, as most of the men and women were asleep in their berths, but with the coming of the sun the local committee was on hand and all were induced to look over Omaha. George P. Cronk, ex-grand exalted ruler of the order, was also on hand to extend a greeting to his old associates. The lunch room at the station did a great business all day and one of the waitresses was just $15 ahead from the tips she had received from those who had lunched there.

Prize Train from Lowell.

The largest train of the day was that from Lowell, Mass., which came over the Great Western from Chicago, and which was in charge of W. J. Dolan, division passenger agent of the Great Western for the New England states. The train, which carried over 200 people in eleven cars, made a fine run from Chicago, leaving there at 5 o'clock Sunday morning and arriving at Omaha before 8 o'clock in the evening.

The crowd which seemed to be having the best time of any was that which came on the Rock Island from Davenport at 4 p. m. and left over the Rock Island at 7:30. This bunch carried its own band and a novel feature was that the large number of women Elks accompanied their husbands and brothers wore long purple silk coats, purple and white being the Elks' colors. The train was in charge of C. C. Gardner, traveling passenger agent of the Rock Island at Davenport, and members will surely let people know when they arrive in Denver with their band and blue coats and other decorations. The badge of this crowd was half an ear of popcorn dyed purple on a white ribbon, which was very striking.

Reception Committee Busy.

The reception committee did its work in thorough manner and was appreciated by all. Reservations were made to welcome the Mayor Dahlman and Exalted Ruler Canada by leading Elks from the different sections of the country. E. C. Page and Arthur Wakeley also helped out with the speechmaking and assisted in making the visitors welcome.

The local lodge is not content with welcoming and showing a good time to those going to Denver, but will repeat the performance when the return movement is on. Many will return through Omaha who went to Denver via some other route.

The Burlington trains were also filled with people going to Denver, but that road carried but one organized party during the day. The reception committee transferred operations to the Burlington depot while that train was in town.

Parties expected today are the Camden, N. J., Elks at 7:30 this morning, the Syracuse and Albany Elks at 8, the Jersey City, Brooklyn, Hoboken and Hazelton Elks on the Milwaukee at 10:30 this morning, and the Nebraska Elks leave at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the Union Pacific.

Best Medicine in the World for Colic and Diarrhoea.

"I find Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to be the best remedy in the world," says Mr. C. L. Carter of Saurin, Ala. "I am subject to colic and diarrhoea. Last spring it seemed as though I would die, and I think I would if I hadn't taken Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I haven't been troubled with it since until this week, when I had a very severe attack and took half a bottle of the 25-cent size of this remedy, and this morning I feel like a new man."

AT THE PLAY HOUSES.

Vaudeville at the Bijou.

If the Bijou continues on its present course its success in Omaha is assured. Its second week opens with an even better bill than that which attracted so much attention and drew such favorable comment for a starter, and the performance was smooth and satisfactory in all regards.

Okura, the Japanese juggler, was compelled to go through his act alone owing to the sudden illness of his wife, who assists him. She is under care of a physician with prospects of being out early in the week and able to assume her share in the performance. Okura does some very clever things in the line of juggling and tumbling. His work with an umbrella, which he manages with his feet, is marvelous. Some good work on a bicycle is done by Le Fevre, who is a graceful and agile gymnast. Bandy and Wilson are good dancers and the Backetts have a turn in which they introduce a little of everything. Their ball singing is high class. Pauline Courtney, who is a fixture, made her customary hit with her illustrated songs.

"Love and War," a dainty little comedy, was presented with excellent effect by the stock company. Mr. Van Dyke, Mr. Truesdell, Mr. Fenner, Miss May and Miss Courtney had the characters. The motion pictures that close the show are good. The theater was comfortably filled and the audience most attentive.
