PLEBLO, Colo., July 16.-Inability to hit McNeeley when hits meant runs gave today's contest to Omaha Faurot was sent in for Pueblo but was not in form and after two runs had been made in the fourth Vollendorf was substituted. He pitched a good game but the Indians could not overtake the visitors. Cook singled in the first inning followed by Howard's error and a three sacker by Melchior gave the locals two runs. Omaha tied the score in the third on two two baggers by Runkle and Howard and a single by Gonding. Three singles and a steal gave them two more in the next inning. In the sixth the visitors added another on Bassey's bomer to left field. The score:

O'BRIEN AND BERGER FIGHT Gameness of Californian Surprises the Spectators.

PHILADELPHIA, July is Sam Berge he California amateur heavyweight, to PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—Sam Berger, the California amateur heavyweight, tonight gave Philadelphia Jack O'Brien the hardest six-round battle of his career. Notwithstanding that O'Brien continually sent, his left to the chin and wind, Berger came back and forced the fighting in every round. O'Brien had all the advantage in the opening round and landed almost at will. His foot work seemed to dazzle Berger, but as the fight progressed the Californian improved. In the second round Borger opened up a deep gash over O'Brien's left eye and the Philadelphian had Berger bleeding from the nose. Both were covered with blood as they went to their corners.

The third round was one of the fastest ever witnessed in this city between heavy-

The third round was one of the fastest ever witnessed in this city between heavy-weights. O'Brien was forced to use all his cunning to avoid Berger's rushes and the latter again opened up O'Brien's damaged eye with a vicious right. Just at the close of the round. O'Brien's short arm joit to Berger's jaw made the latter's knees knock together. Both men were tired when they went to their corners.

The fourth round was a repetition of the third. It was give and take from the time the men faced each other until the goog sounded. O'Brien fild the greater part of the leading in this round as in the previous ones, but his blows did not have the force of Berger's.

ones, but hi of Berger's. of Berger's.

Berger had the Philadelphian decidedly worried in the two closing rounds. When O'Brien led he would invariably jump into the air and swing his left arm around Berger's neck, the evident intention being to scare his heavy antagonist. When the fight ended both men were covered with blood and the referee's shirt was crimson from his efforts to separate them. When they rushed to the clinch it was several seconds before the referee could make them break clean.

The men entered the ring in perfect condition and as they had agreed to fight at each weights, no announcement was catch weights, no announcement wa made of their respective weights, Berger' made of their respective weights. Berger's manager said that the Californian weighed about 250 pounds, while O'Brien weighed close to 175. No decision is allowed in the bouts in this city, but it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that O'Brien had a slight advantage. Berger, however, surprised the spectators by his cleverness and also his gameness. He always came back after the clusive Philadelphian, no matter when O'Brien sant his left in the process. when O'Brien sent his left to Berger's jaw.
