Eastman, Ha The canvassing board that has been gog over the returns from the late primary after ten days' work adjourned sine die yesterday afternoon shortly after 4

The last returns canvassed were those on the democratic congressional delegates, over which there has been considerable rivalry between the Dahlman and anti-Dahlman or Hitchcock factions of the party. The returns show that of the sixty-six delegates thirty-seven were on both slates, thirteen on the Dahlman slate, fourteen on the Hitchcock ticket and two-Michael Hogan and William Fleming-were independent. James P. English was high man, with 673 votes, and George Rogers was the low man to be elected, with 365. The first totals gave Mr. Rogers only $62, but a second delegates to the congressional convention count gave him three more, raising him was completed Thursday forenoon. The two votes above John A. Bennewitz, who highest vote was received by Thomas A. had beaten him on the first count.

Pink is High Man. Complete figures of the vote on delegates to the republican state convention place among those elected, each receiving at the primary election were made by the canvassing board yesterday afternoon. They show but little change over the figures published in The Bee immediately after the primary-none of any consequence. County Treasurer Fink is high man on the Rosewater delegation, securing 2,679. W. J. Broatch is high man on the Fontanello ticket, securing 1,296. This makes Fink's majority over the opposing high man 1,383, his vote being more than double that of Broatches. E. A. Willis, the low man on the Rosewater delegation. has 2,160, giving him a majority of 864 over Broatch. The average vote for the delegates pledged to Mr. Rosewater was over 2,400, while the average Fontanelle vote was about 1,000, J. C. Robinson the low man, dropping down as low as 590. County Comissioner Fred Bruning is scond on the Rosewater delegation, getting 2,673; white H. H. Baldrige is third, with 2,636.

Out of the total amount received $23,081.89 was paid for provisions and caring for refugees at Omaha and $4,500 represented a cash remittance. This leaves a balance of $165.08, which will be forwarded to San Francisco at once.

The exhibit made refers only to cash and does not include the huge quantities of food and clothing contributed and sent by the carload from Omaha, the donated services of scores of wagons and teams and the labor given for nothing by various people, etc. The real value of the whole effort in San Francisco's behalf would not fall far short of $35,000. After winding up its affairs and making a full accounting the committee was dissolved.

SHOOP FAMILY IS RELIEVED San Francisco Refugees, Father of Whom is Dereliet, Receives Help in Omaha.

The Associated Charities, through Super. intendent Morris, has come to the rescue of the Shoop family of four, San Francisco refugees, and is prepared to care for Mrs. Shoop and the two daughters and to find employment for the head of the family. It appears that the case has been under the superintendent's surveillance since last week and that he found a clerical position for Shoop with Paxton & Gallagher. The man reported somewhat the worse for liquor Wednesday and was rejected. It is ow proposed to hold him at the police station for a few days in order to free him from the influence and pressing necessity of strong drink. The Associated Charities is ready to look after and provide for the wife and daughters when the latter are ejected by their landiady, not desiring to take a hand until this contingency occurs. It is stated that the Visiting Nurses' association left supplies to last the family over last Sunday. Neither the Humane society nor Alfred Millard, the treasurer, will take any hand in the matter.

The Water Works Question. OMAHA, July 19 .- To the Editor of The Bee: The suggestion of Mr. Dumont for a ompromise with the Water company on were possible. I was told afterward that it was held that nothing could be done until the award was made by the ap-900 bonds. Omaha to date has invested praisers on the valuation, the very thing I was anxious to avoid. It was said that petition and remonstrance were filed we must wait. We waited, I thought then as every man of sense and candor must more than $2,000,000 at Florence, and an-.$178,231.09 other of equal responsibility had made it plain to me that the piping of the great 25,624.69 plant alone, one of the hest in the worldthe piping being, under ample tests in state of perfect preservation and practically as good as new-had cost $3,000,000. My carnest plea at the Commercial club was that negotiations should be opened with the Water company for a re-lease of the plant before, and not after, the award should be made. My fear was that the newspaper engineers were certainly mistaken in placing the valuation at from $3,000,000 to $3,500,000 and that it would be hearly twice those sums. I also feared, and often said to Governor Boyd, Mr. Wattles and other citizens that I was greatly fearing that the Water company, acting within its rights under the law, might seek to compel the purchase, whether Omaha wished it or not. This is precisely what has happened. I think it was Addison who said that when a man was worth only £100 nobody had any respect for his opin-ion, but one worth £15,000, which was a great fortune in his day, was esteemed be full of wisdom. I am but too apt forget that the philosophy of Addison i as applicable to these times as it was t those of Queen Anne. But with something akin to contempt for it, I asked the Commercial club to take a few days' notice of its responsibility in the case. The companies and the executive committee were very courteous in the matter indeed, as they always are to me, and kindly filed my communication in a trunk.
