DAHLMAN FOR SQUARE DEAL

Mayor Determined to Enforce Just Weights and Measure of Staples. BOUND TO BREAK UP SYSTEM OF FRAUD

Following his determination to insure the weighing of all deliveries and to secure full measure for what consumers pay, Mayor Dahلمان has begun a veritable crusade to stop petty cheating in all kinds of retail commerce...

When Councilman Brucker introduced a resolution in the council some weeks ago asking the public to take evidence and report all cases of suspected short weight or measure...

Set Their Own Trap. The announcement that the mayor was having an ordinance prepared to cover the point and to hold the employes and employer equally responsible caused ice dealers to hurry post haste to the executive chambers and protest...

Then last Sunday the inspector of weights and measures found eight out of seventeen ice scales belonging to the Omaha Ice and Cold Storage company to be defective.

Many Short Measures. Now the inspector has discovered there are multitudes of short milk measures in use and has begun a wholesale process of condemnation.

WYOMING A COMING KINGDOM

New State's Wonderful Resources Exploited by Congressman F. W. Mondell. SHOSHONE, HE SAYS, IS RICH COUNTRY

Prattess John L. Kennedy and Other Members of Nebraska's Delegation in Congress as Strong and Industrious. Congressman Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming is in the city enroute homeward to Newcastle, Wyo., from Washington, accompanied by Mrs. Mondell and their three children.

"We are all interested in the Shoshone opening just now and I am a little surprised there has not been a greater rush for the reservation lands. That country is susceptible of the greatest developments and is one of the best irrigable sections in the west."

"The extension of the Northwestern railroad westward and north through the Shoshone country to Yellowstone park and the extension of the Burlington Tolara branch southward to its Cheyenne line at Worldman there will be a great crossroad of those roads somewhere within the Shoshone country, giving it the best railroad facilities in western Wyoming."

"There is not the slightest cause for Nebraska becoming alarmed over the diversion of the waters of the North Platte by the building of the great Pathfinder dam fifty miles west of Casper. On the contrary the North Platte irrigation districts through Nebraska will be immeasurably benefited by the Pathfinder dam."

DENVER GREAT TO THE ELKS

Colorado Metropolitan Entertainers Convention in Royal Style, Says Brucker. Councilman Brucker, who is one of the few Omaha Elks who went to Denver, is lavish in praise for the entertainment set forth by that city.

"It surpassed any anticipation I might have had," said Mr. Brucker. "Besides a purse of $75,000 for electric lighting, school and entertainment, many merchants spent from $50 to $1,000 ornamenting their establishments with incandescent lights and colors. It was too bad that the Omaha Elks did not have a larger attendance at this meeting, which was the largest the order ever held. I had a splendid time there."

The councilman said he did not know enough about the last move with regard to the city engineer's position to discuss it. The Denver Times estimates that the Elks spent $3,000 in Denver during their stay, so the Elks were also a good thing for the Queen City.

Commissioner J. M. Guild of the Commercial club has returned from Frankfort, Mich., where he appeared before the western classification committee in the interests of the shippers of Omaha. The committee met first Tuesday afternoon, was still in session when Mr. Guild left Thursday night, and expected to finish Saturday evening. It was one of the longest meetings ever held by the committee and a larger number of shippers and Commercial club representatives appeared before it than ever before.

Mr. Guild protested against certain changes in the classification and asked for others, but the fact that the jobbers were interested in so many various items prevented him from making a fight on any particular item. The result of the deliberations of the committee will not be published officially for some time. Aside from whatever good might have been accomplished for the shipping interests of Omaha, Mr. Guild feels the acquaintance he has gained with traffic officials of the railroads and Commercial club commissioners has repaid him for the trip.

When Superintendent Morris of the Associated Charities called to inquire into the case of Mrs. Henderson, an aged, white-haired negroess, which had been reported as urgent, he found the woman sick and destitute, but crawling about her rooms trying to clean them with a broom. She lived at 264 Cuming street and was about to be ejected for nonpayment of rent.

NO OMAHA BONDS FORGED

All Securities of This City Good and Pink So Wires the East. REPORT THERE OF SPURIOUS PAPERS Receipt of Duplicate Interest Coupon by South Omaha Treasurer

City and County Treasurer Fink was disturbed Saturday by the information that a report existed in the east that a forged issue of Omaha municipal bonds was on the market. The news came in a letter from E. H. Rollins & Sons, bond dealers, from Chicago, making inquiries about the issue.

As nothing is known in Omaha about any forged bond issues of this city, it is supposed the receipt of a duplicate interest coupon by the city treasurer of South Omaha a few weeks ago has produced the talk. Advertisements have been wired to eastern banking and bond publications declaring the report a falsehood and denying that there is any forged paper attributed to the city of Omaha floating around anywhere. The letter from the Rollins house reads:

Our Boston house advises us that there is an issue of forged Omaha bonds being offered on the market. We kindly advise you that we may know about this, and send you a description of the issue being forged. We are on the alert for any such bonds (the issue to be sold), and, of course, the fact of there being forged bonds will hurt the market for any securities while said bonds are outstanding. It would be impossible for a forged bond issue to remain undetected by the local treasury department more than six months, because requests to pay the semi-annual interest coupons would reveal the fraud," said Mr. Fink. "The forged issue would not be of value to anyone unless sold. No one would buy it except an innocent purchaser. The innocent purchaser naturally would collect his interest when it fell due, and when he endeavored to do so the forgery would be ascertained."
