M. Yermoloff, former minister of agriculture and leader of the conservative centrists in the lower house, who several weeks ago vainly tried to form a coalition ministry, in conversation with the correspondent of the Associated Press tonight, declared that the situation was extremely critical, but he refused to believe that the mperor had taken an irrevocable decision to diasolve Parliament, though he consid ered that such a step might become neces-Bary. He was without hope, however, that a conflict could be avoided.
