PINE FOREST IN SAND HILLS

C. S. Harrison Has Scheme for Transforming This Region Into Beauty Spot.

Suggests that Land Be School and Planted to Jack Pines from the Ferents of Min-

C. S. Harrison of York, president of the Park and Forest society, thinks Nebraska's pure as it can be made. Being a great famous sand hills might be transformed into the most inviting summer resorts. He

"Our state is somewhat monotenous and we often wish we had pleasant resorts within our own borders. We do not realize what we have, and that even a forbidding region can be turned into delightful places for summer outings. I refer to the possibilities of the sand hill. 'The last place facts. In that seemingly desert region there are pure streams, which might be dammed into lakes, and there are lakes of good size already made by nature.

'Few realize the possibilities of this region. Government experiments have shown that even these drifting sand dunes are absolutely hungry for pines. 'A new work on evergreens has recently been published by the experiment station of York, which gives the report of Charles Scott of the government service, with illustrations, showing the remarkable growth of jack pines on the barren sands. A picture shows trees fifteen years old, twentyone fact tall, which are already reproducing themselves, and which in so short a time would produce thirteen cords of wood to the acre.

"The experiment station at York has demonstrated the fact that the bull pine

You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's any-so alone as to this; what he claims for his "Discovery," is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the medical profession. A request by postal eard or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffale, N. Y., for a little book of extracts from eminent medical authorities endersing the ingredients of his medicines, will bring a little book free that is worthy of your attention if needing a good, safe, reliable remedy of known composition for the cure of almost any old chronic, or lingering maisdy.

IDEAL PLACE FOR HEALTH RESORTS They could lay out the grounds in an artistic manner and plant a large area to pines. In a few years there would be charming drives, beautiful groves and young forests of evergreens, which would fill the sie with healing aroma. "As it now stands that region is one of the healthiest on the globe. There is no rank, rotting vegetation-no maiaria. The water, seeping through the sands, is as deal farther north than Omaha, with a much higher elevation, it is much cooler, and the night air among the young pines would be delightful. In a short time such . resorts could be made sanitariums of the highest order.

Not Only a Health Resort.

"Again you would not only have a ealth resort, but you would have a propon earth, some one says. Lock at the have gone beyond the experiment stage and face the absolute fact that those make saw logs as rapidly as possible, cut away, and you have a real good mine in the sand bills.

> there was a Sahara of drifting sands in the heart of France and this was constantly encroaching on the best portions of the empire. Some times fine farms would be engulfed and ruined; even villages would be submerged, and steeples would stand out of the sand drifts like gravestones, telling where lay a buried Hamlet. Brementier, a patriot-a man of thought-studied over the problem and laid his plan before the great Napoleon. He saw the reason of it. That est area was planted to the maritime pine and now beautiful forests cover all the former desolation. "The government has a fine income rom them. Rosin and turpentine are shipped from them all over Europe, and even to America, to supply the waste caused by our own improvidence. What has been done in France and in the barren regions of Belgium and Germany can be lone in our own Nebraska. Such an enterprise as we have mentioned would be pure patriotism' to our own grand state and it would soon meet with a splendid reward. Land is going up. Money to seeking investment and there is no secion where a judicious investment would bring in better returns. Talk about the dessings which come to the man who makes two blades of grass grow in the place of one." What can we say of the man who can clothe an unsightly bank of drifting sand with charming evergreens, which give promise of beauty and utility for years to come? "The expense of such an enterprise will not be prohibitive. Choose a favorable tocation, secure a section of land, more or less, lay it out in an improved manner. have a competent man to superintend the work, have a nursery right on the ground and it will not take long to have the work well started. All those sandy regions would now be covered with pines were it not for the fires. In laying out the grounds this danger could be guarded against. Soon the trees would be so large the cattle could not injure them and there would be excellent pasturage until the trees took full possession of the land.
