SOME GRABBING NEAR HOME

World-Herald Tries to Exact Double Rates From the City.

SEPARATE CHARGE FOR SUNDAY PAPER

Ex and Would-Be-Against Congressman Shows New Administration Some Fine Points in Financial Finance.

While not exactly a "salary grab," a little grabbing seems to be going on much nearer home than Washington or even Nebraska.

An avowed tendency shown by the World-Herald in trying to charge double rates for publishing official notices in the Sunday paper is causing criticism at the city. The World-Herald submitted the lowest bids for city advertising recently and was awarded the contract without a contest. It was supposed all along that the Sunday World-Herald is an issue of the Evening World-Herald, under which style the contract was awarded, because the law expressly provides that the advertising shall be in a "daily" newspaper.

In the past the "Independent" demo-pop organ, in contests with The Bee, has claimed that such was a fact, but now Publisher Hitchcock seems to take an entirely different position. He has notified the city that the Sunday World-Herald is not an edition of the evening paper, nor to be considered in any sense, and that if the city wants publications on Sundays, in order to assure consecutive advertising as enjoined by law, it must pay double the contract rates for the privilege. The Bee, during the many years which it was the official paper, printed notices in the Sunday morning issue, as required, charging no more than the rates agreed on.

What the Law Says.

Certain notices with regard to paving must be advertised for fifteen consecutive days, according to law, and others relating to sewers, seven days. By reason of a supreme court decision holding clearly on the subject, Sunday was regarded as one of the links in the consecutive chain, regardless of an apparent conflict with the morning paper. Consequently the Sunday morning papers were called into service and the plan met legal tests.

The present legal department is looking into the matter, to advise the city clerk how he shall act. Assistant Attorney Dunn, while not ready to express his opinion, seems to regard the Sunday publication as unnecessary.

The whole question is one so important that some city hall attaches are urging that the World-Herald claims be ignored and the policy that has protected the city in the past be followed to the letter, lest there occur another series of faulty improvement levies, meaning the escape from taxation of a large number of property owners perfectly able to pay.

Already the city clerk's office has been stumbling in the matter of publications and notices to construct sidewalks. Advertisements have been printed that are clearly insufficient, and the errors not yet recognized, apparently. Owing to mistakes in dates of notices involving about 100 lots a city sidewalk contractor was compelled to pull off a force of men building permanent walks the other day. A delay will occur now of a month or more, so that the mistakes may be corrected. The inconsistency was discovered by the city engineer's office.

SOME ASSESSORS EXPLAIN

York Man Looking Up Automobile Shortage While Others List Them as Vehicles.

KICK ON INCREASE IN STOCK VALUATIONS

Judge Jensen and His Friends to Make an Active Campaign Against Pollard in First Congressional District.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, July 27.—(Special.)—Since the publication of the shortage of automobiles reported to the State Board of Equalization, compared with the number registered in the office of the county assessors, the telephone has been kept busy by county assessors explaining. Those who are not explaining the automobile shortage are protesting against an increase in the value of horses and mules.

The county clerk of York county today sent in the names of those who own machines that were assessed, which, however, is short of the number registered. He asked that the registration be sent him, and the owners of machines will be looked up.

The explanation offered by several of the assessors is the same as anticipated in this column: the automobiles had not been separated from vehicles, though the schedule plainly provides they shall be listed separately.

The assessor of Jefferson county comes to the defense of his deputies and his own assessment by telling the state board it would be an injustice to increase mules in his county 10 per cent, as the board contemplates. He wrote in one precinct sixty-five head of mules, 4 mules of which were assessed at an actual value of $2,620, and in another precinct thirteen head of 1-year-old mules, which were assessed at an actual value of $60 a head, while fifteen 1-year-old mules were valued at $100 a head and fifteen 2-year-old mules at $115 a head and two 4-year-old mules at $445 a head.

The assessor of Butte county, E. F. Sisson, writes he noticed the board intended to increase the valuation of horses 10 per cent in his county. He said Butte county horses were assessed high enough, inasmuch as the assessment included a large number of Indian ponies, which were worth from $10 to $30 each, and these cut down the average assessment.

Assessor Reed of Douglas county wrote the board he would object to an increase in horses if it was necessary in order to make the assessment of live stock in Douglas county come up to the assessment of the rest of the state.

The board will meet again tomorrow, at which time it will object to the automobile proposition. The action of the board last year in increasing a number of counties has resulted in the assessors making strenuous efforts to keep up the valuations this year.

Have Rights on Pollard.

Friends of Judge Pollard are going to make a mighty effort to prevent Congressman Pollard from going back to congress this year and a number of Pollard's friends in Lancaster county have already showed signs of dissent. Judge Jensen, who is announced, will inaugurate a speaking campaign and visit every county in the district except Lancaster and Cass.

The fact that Pollard, the farmer's friend, took salary to which he was not entitled under the law or morally, so his opponents say, has discredited him, and the fact that the Journal-News, the fake reformers, are apologizing for Pollard by saying he was not doing anything, has not helped Pollard materially.

Just how the contest will come out, of course, it is impossible to predict. Pollard's friends claim he will win easily notwithstanding the salary matter, because he was a beneficiary of the combine by which the Journal-News-Brown alliance landed the Lancaster delegation for Brown and Pollard and shut out Sheldon, Cass county's favorite for governor.

Lincoln News is Omicron.

The Lincoln News, the junior member of the bunch of fake reformers, has now gone into Cass county and told Sheldon whom he must appoint on his delegation to the state convention and whom he must leave off of the state of the last three years. The Lincoln News is about to make the management for Sheldon the same as it has assumed to manage Dr. Winnet's delegation.

This has created some talk in Lincoln because the Lincoln News is a combination that threw Sheldon here when he had a chance to endorse him for governor after using Sheldon's name to get votes for Brown in Lancaster county.

Lancaster Republicans Organizing.

The republican nominees of the county convention met this afternoon and selected J. S. Baer, deputy district clerk, and Howard Schlegel, secretary, and Benam Fox treasurer of the county committee. These names will be recommended to the committee for adoption, the committee having final power in the matter. Walter Roberts, the present chairman, did not want to serve again.

Examining Teachers' Papers.

The board of examiners appointed to grade papers submitted by teachers, in accordance with the new law enacted by the last legislature, has done a record-breaking business the last month and as a result reports were mailed back this afternoon to the following counties: Dawes, Hitchcock, Dakota, Custer and the Fremont Normal school. These papers included the July examinations. Inasmuch as the teachers are anxious to know how they came out at their examinations, the board is working overtime to keep up with the receipt of the papers, and it may be of interest to know that while the western counties have submitted their papers and have had them graded, the nearby counties, including Lancaster, have not yet sent in the examination papers to be graded. Those who pass the examination, after having attended the summer schools, it is said, will receive from $5 to $10 each more on the month than in the past, as those kind of teachers are in demand all over the state.

Money to Keep Hospital Open.

At its meeting this morning the Board of Public Lands and Buildings authorized the expenditure for the maintenance of the Orthopedic hospital of all the money which that institution had received from pay patients, amounting to $10,000. The meeting and action was due to a letter received from Dr. John P. Lord, superintendent of Omaha, who wrote that the institution would have to be closed by October unless some way was provided by which its expenses could be paid. He called the board's attention to the $10,000 which had accrued to the institution, but said without an order from the board this money could not be spent.

The last legislature, which created this institution, appropriated $10,000 and provided that when this sum was spent there should be no deficiency, but that the institution should close. The law, however, allowed the institution to accept money from other sources and use it.

S. Main has gone to the scene of the accident to investigate the case.

PORT NIORAHRA NOT ABANDONED

To Be Retained by War Department for Encampments.

ONEILL, Neb., July 27.—(Special.)—The report that the Port Niobrara was being abandoned as a military post, Congressmen Kinkaid and Johnson, who are following from the secretary of war, which clearly proves the report to be erroneous.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—My Dear Judge Kinkaid: There is no truth in the statement that the Port Niobrara is to be abandoned as a military reservation.

On the contrary it will be retained for military purposes. I have just directed the allotment of about $25,000 for an additional fort at Port Robinson. Very sincerely yours, WILLIAM H. TAFT.

This report was also an abandonment three years before Judge Kinkaid entered congress, but his persistent efforts to have it retained, and the efforts of the balance of the Nebraska delegation, has been successful, as will be seen from the above.
