JAPAN WANTS MORE COTTON

Finds American Staple the Best, but Now Uses Much from India.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Yoshuichi Sakuri has just arrived from Japan in the interest of the cotton merchants of Japan. Speaking of the trade of the United States with Japan, he says that in the next ten years Japan will get over three-fourths of its cotton from the United States.

Last year Japan used over 1,000,000 bales of cotton and of this about 750,000 bales came from the United States. The rest came from the cotton fields of India and Asia. This country, he said, is the one which comes to Japan from the southern states and all the fine work is made with cotton from the United States. The other is found to be too coarse and rots easier. The Japanese realize the superiority of the American article and all first-class cotton weavers are coming to use it. The export of cotton from the United States to Japan is bound to increase enormously in the next few years.

CZAR VISITS SUMMER CAMP

Attack on Grand Duke Does Not Interfere with Plan of Ruler.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN TO PROTECT HIM

St. Petersburg Railway Station Is Guarded and Civilian Can Only Leave After Strict Examination and Identification.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 14.—Despite the attempt on the life of the Grand Duke Nicholas on August 10 at Krasnoe Selo, the emperor, accompanied by his entire family and the major portion of the court, has gone to Krasnoe Selo to spend a week at the guards' summer camp. Six additional guard regiments have gone to the camp from St. Petersburg and the most rigid precautions have been taken to protect the safety of the emperor during his stay at Krasnoe Selo. The railroad station at St. Petersburg is heavily guarded and no civilians are allowed to leave there for Krasnoe Selo until after being fully identified. A grand review is scheduled for August 19, after which the imperial family will go to Krasnoe Selo instead of returning to St. Petersburg. The newspapers report that it is the intention of the emperor to immediately go by sea to Livadia in the Crimea and spend the autumn there.

Pleased with Arrests.
The authorities attach great importance to the capture of revolutionists at Moscow and vicinity, they believe they have broken up the headquarters of the military fighting organization and arrested its leaders. In addition, to seizing their clandestine printing establishment and a large supply of bombs and explosives, including Shimose powder, the authorities secured a number of plans which were to be used in the event of an uprising.

Ambassador Meyer left for Krasnodar today to take the cure.

Major William W. Gibson, the American military attaché, has gone to Krasnoe Selo, at the imperial invitation, to attend the maneuvers.

FIRE IN ROHRBOUGH BUILDING

Starts Up Under Roof and is Speedily Controlled by the Firemen.

A fire which started in, or near, the roof of the Rohrbough building, Nineteenth and Pacific streets, at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday night, furnished entertainment for a crowd of several hundred people and gave the firemen plenty of work for half an hour. The blaze was confined entirely to the section of the building in which it started, but it was very hot and the firemen were very busy. The fire was caused by a gas stove in the kitchen of the building. The firemen were very busy and the fire was very hot. The fire was caused by a gas stove in the kitchen of the building. The firemen were very busy and the fire was very hot.

A meeting of the executive committee of the boys' department of the Young Men's Christian Association was being held on the third floor when the smell of smoke was discovered and an alarm turned in. Other portions of the three-story and basement structure are occupied as offices, lodgings and dance halls, while it is the home of the Omaha Commercial college and the Lyric theatre, but fortunately there were no large gatherings scheduled for Tuesday evening.

When discovered the fire was burning principally in the neighborhood of the elevator shaft, and from this it is thought a spark from the elevator motor in the shaft was the cause. The flames crept along to other parts of the roof, breaking out through a cupola and other places, a lurid hue being given to the surrounding buildings. The telephone girls in the Nebraska telephone office, a few floors from the Rohrbough building, were badly frightened at the threatening flames and experienced great relief when they saw the fight being won by Chief Salter's men. Next door to the building is the DeWitt automobile garage, in which was stored a number of cars. A spread of the fire there would have been as fast as possible out of danger.

PALMER IS FOR THE CANTEEN

But the Omaha Postmaster is Not Candidate, Favoring Brown of Ohio.

Postmaster Palmer has gone to Minneapolis to attend the national Grand Army encampment. Captain Palmer will not be a candidate for the position of commander-in-chief this year, but will do what he can for the election of Candidate Brown of Ohio. He will also take part in the controversy relative to the re-establishment of the canteen at the national soldiers' home. Captain Palmer is strongly in favor of the restoration of the canteen at the home.

"The only liquor sold at the home," said Captain Palmer, "is a harmless quality of beer. Since the abolition of the canteen at the home, drunkenness has increased among the old soldiers, and I hope to see the canteen restored to the home."

O. Morse, one of the watchmen in the federal building, has gone to Minneapolis to attend the national Grand Army encampment. As a consequence the other two veterans who are watchmen are put on twelve-hour duty shifts. While the old vets are not particularly kicking over the top, their four-hour duty in order to let their comrades enjoy his vacation they feel that some arrangement might be made whereby they should not have to make up the time lost on vacations.

STENSLAND'S MANY TRUNKS

President of Defunct Chicago Bank Makes Extensive Preparations for Flight.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Another warrant charging Cashier Hering of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank with forging a note for $10,000 in the name of Marcus S. Kirby was issued today.

Testimony indicating that extensive preparations for flight were made by Paul O. Stensland, president of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank, and that a woman entered into these preparations was secured by Assistant State's Attorney Olsen today through the cross-examination of Mrs. Ellen McConn, housekeeper for Stensland. It was learned that Stensland took with him in trunks and boxes sheets and other bedding, towels, bath towels, window curtains, carpets, rugs and a silver dinner set. Some of this is said to have been traced to Baraboo, Wis., but the big trunk said to have been taken by Stensland and his associates have not been able to get a trace of it.

CHIEF OF JUSTICE OF HIS SIDE

"I am so sure of the justice of our position that even if we were not interested in the business I should hold that it was a fair proposition."

"Our statement is that we have endeavored to create an exact parity; if it can be shown that we have placed Omaha at a disadvantage, that we have taken away an advantage that they have previously enjoyed and to which they were entitled, and that whether they were right or wrong, every business man in Omaha would boycott the Rock Island road until we restored previous conditions. All that we have done or expect to do is to establish and exact equality."

"The secretary of the Omaha Grain exchange states that it is not claimed that we have placed Omaha at a disadvantage, but that we have taken away an advantage that they have previously enjoyed and to which they were entitled, and that whether they were right or wrong, every business man in Omaha would boycott the Rock Island road until we restored previous conditions. All that we have done or expect to do is to establish and exact equality."

Little Conference Held.

The railroad committee of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange, Secretary Striker of the exchange, Secretary McVann of the Omaha Grain exchange and John Utt, general agent of the Rock Island, held a meeting Tuesday afternoon. After the meeting Mr. Striker said nothing had been decided, which could be given to the public, and as the meeting was entirely informal, he felt he was not at liberty to say anything of the subjects under consideration. Mr. McVann declined to say anything of the meeting.

CURRENT LITERATURE

"Where Speech Ends" is a novel of marked originality. The author is Robert Haven Schaffer, a young Princeton graduate who is well known by his fiction contributions to the Century magazine and his essays on music in the Outlook and elsewhere. The musician-novelist so often feels his mission that a simple, genuine, moving love story, like this one, that is also, in the best sense because unconsciously, a music story, is indeed a rarity. This is a novel of the celebrated Chicago orchestra and in which the atmosphere has that quality of reality that can only be imparted by the pen of one who was, if only for a short period, himself a professional. A prelude of great beauty by Henry van Dyke introduces the narrative. Published by Moffat, Yard & Co.

In "Hugo Hermand," edited by James D. Bruner, Ph. D., associate professor of Romance languages in the University of North Carolina, this dramatic masterpiece is presented with ample aid to its reading in class. The introduction treats fully of the theory of the romantic atmosphere and character, language plot and characters of the play, together with an account of its first performance. The notes are numerous and copious, referring not only to historical and grammatical matters and explaining all allusions, but also drawing many comparisons between the play and the atmosphere and those of other well-known plays. A complete vocabulary is included. Published by the American Book Company.

"In Vanity Fair: A Tale of Frocks and Femininity," Eleanor Hoff Brainerd has given a picture of the life of the fashion world in Paris that is not only a masterpiece of the pen, but also a masterpiece of the pen. The book is a masterpiece of the pen, and it is a masterpiece of the pen. The book is a masterpiece of the pen, and it is a masterpiece of the pen.

"A Book of Errors in English," by Frank H. Vlastakis, F. S. A., is a handy little volume. The English language is the common property of the English-speaking peoples, and it is they who give it its virility and expressiveness, yet their one besetting sin is carelessness in speech. The book is a masterpiece of the pen, and it is a masterpiece of the pen. The book is a masterpiece of the pen, and it is a masterpiece of the pen.

"The Voice of the Street," by Ernest Poole, is a story of temptation. A great singer, born in a tenement house and lifted from obscurity by a wonderful voice, finds his place in the great life of New York. The gambling fever is in his blood. It is a story of temptation and conflict, of love and self-sacrifice, and of the feverish pulse of the metropolis ruled by the fever of chance. The author is one of our most successful short story magazine writers. Published by A. S. Barnes.

"Planning the Guest Room" is the title of a very interesting article in the August Interior Decoration, written by Amy Mall Hicks, one of the best known of New York's women decorators. The woman decorator's standpoint is in many respects different from that of the man decorator, and Miss Hicks tells the story concisely and effectively.

William B. Bailey's statistical study of marriage, divorce, suicide, immigration and crime, with special reference to the United States, will be published soon by the Century company under the title of "Modern Social Conditions."
