Persistent Effort of Health Commissioner to Compel Dealers to Sell Pure Milk Puts Them on Warpath.

The Omaha Milk Dealers association has decided to fight Health Commissioner Connell in his attempt to make them deliver milk not warmer than 50 degrees and to advance the wholesale price of milk and oream to retailers. Action toward this end was taken at a meeting held Friday night, at which an attorney was present. It is understood that the dairymen agreed to been lessened considerably, both because of ure resort in the vicinity of Omnha. cooler weather and the disinclination of te warrant the action.

Amount of Increase.

The first increase in price is to be from 12% to 15 cents a gallon on milk and from 60 to 70 cents a gallon on cream. The prevailing retail price of milk at grocery stores and milk depots has been 5 cents, cream, according to rule, being twice as much. Now it is said the retailers will have to tump to 6 cents, in order to make a profitable margin.

Besides this it is understood the association will raise the retail price of wagon deliveries on September 1, selling seventeen quart tickets for a dollar, instead of from eighteen to twenty, as is now the custom. The higher class milk purveyors have had the higher rate in vogue for a long time, but the others have not. A marked scarcity in milk and cream and

A pleasant incident of the tour was an enthusiastic Fourth of July celebration in Prague, in which some forty Americans participated, and which was written up and illustrated in an elaborate manner in the Prague newspapers. Mr. Rosicky says, "there is no place like home," and home

VETOES CUT IN PAY BOARD County Commissioners Allow Salary to Engineer Who Serves on Jury.

The county commissioners departed Saturday from the rule laid down some time ago providing that county employes who receive money for jury service must submit to a corresponding cut in their regular salaries by allowing the claim of Albert Swanson, engineer at the court house, for $42. Several of the clerical help at the court house have had their claims cut down because they were receiving money from the county for service as jurors, and in accordance with this rule County Auditor Smith scaled Swanson's salary. Swanson, who was a juror at the May term of court, put in his bill for the amount, asserting he had done his work mornings and evenings, and the commissioners voted to CUT OFF LAKE IMPROVEMENT Club Formed to Protect and Increase the Beauties of the Pretty Body of Water.

The "West Side Cut Off Lake Improvement club" was organized Friday evening last at the "Big Five Shack" on the lake The club was organized for business and judging from the enthusiasm at last night's meeting, it means business. Robert Stein called the meeting to order and stated the object of the call. The following officers were elected to serve until the first Tuesday in March next, at which time the annual election of officers takes place: W. G. Shriver, president; C. A. Peterson, viep president; Theodore G. Baumer, secretary;

After the election of officers bylaws were adopted. The object of the club is the betterment chip in 5 apiece on a fund to be used for of conditions of Cut Off lake as to fishing, the securing of an injunction seeking to hunting, boating, bathing and pleasure; the restrain the health commissioner from improvement and beautifying of the streets confiscating milk and cream from wagons and shore around the lake and other necesand milk depots. > Two subjects of importance to the lake were generally discussed. One was the parking of Ames avenue from Sixteenth street to Tenth street; the other was the taking of two feet of water out of the lake. It was rumored that some of the property owners on the east end of the lake were going to try and have two feet of water drained out of the lake in order that some of the low land along the lake on that side could be farmed. By a unanimous vote the club emphatically put itself on record as not standing for that for one minute. The Rod and Gun club and other organizations on the lake will be asked to co-operate with the West End club in preventing any water being taken out of the lake in the manner proposed.

Second Fall Merchante' Meeting Brings More Dealers Than First.

RECORD-BREAKING SALES MADE

Activity Especially Noticeable in Dry Goods Houses, Where Floor Sales Are Large-Conditions in Country Generally Favorable.

The second fall merchants' meeting of this season has been the means of bringing more dealers to the city than came for the first meeting, and as they have proven very active in selecting stocks, many of the local wholesalers report sales which break their record for the third week of August. In addition mail orders and salesmen's orders are reported fair, and, generally speaking, the week has been a prosperous one for Omaha's jobbing world. The dry goods houses have the lead in point of advantage derived from the merchants' meeting, and numerous orders of several thousand dollars from single dealers have been reported. Visitors speak of conditions throughout the territory as extremely favorable and all are expecting a good fall meason.

Omaha's dry goods houses have done a record business the last week. The second merchants' meeting brought a large influx of buyers and purchasers have extended to all departments. Sales of dress goods, cloaks and underwear have been particularly large and domestic business also has greatly improved, which added a strong tone to the market. The leading brands of bleached goods were advanced in the death of the death of Improved Trade in Shoes. Improved Trade in Shoes.

Jobbers in boots and shoes reported the improved trade which they have predicted for the last of the month, and which is mainly due to the presence of merchants from the country. Business has been good on the floor, some mail order business has been done and the traveling salesmen are turning in a satisfactory number of orders. The local jobbers are preparing their sumples of spring styles and expect to send them out the first week in September. Prospects are good for a large trade this fail and winter. No changes in price in the local shoe market have been named, and the leather market remains unchanged from a week ago.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the Big Five Shack, on the west side of the lake, on Saturday evening. September 1, at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation to all is given to attend this meeting.

which is equivalent to 60 francs per bag, or equal to $11.04, cost and freight, to New York.

"We believe that these figures are about correct. It will require some time to arrange the details. When this is arranged, and the Brazilian government has the money in hand, we should think that there will be at least 2½-cent per pound advance from present prices. There certainly is nothing ahead of us but an active, advancing market and prices look perfectly safe to us without valorization; and, while it is reported that the government has the reports of the money necessary to carry out this project, it being about 15,000,000 pounds, it is also stated that full details as to supplying the necessary funds have not as yet been consumated. Of course, you understand this is the actual net cash cost to the importer. To this cost must be added literage at the ported New Yest. cost to the importer. To this cost must be added literage, at the port of New York to warehouse; warehouse charges, insurance, brokerage and carrying charges."

With Canned Goods Jobbers.

The conditions surrounding the tomato pack are not all satisfactory, and although the conditions in some respects are more favorable, yet there are very few canners that care to name prices. Callons are in strong position and have been advanced in both Indiana and Maryland. The next two or three weeks will probably settle the question as to whether there will be a normal pack or whether it will be short.

There is no change in the situation so far as future corn is concerned. Reports from a large number of canners indicate that their acreage is materially less than ast season and that the production per acre will not exceed 75 per cent of that of last season. There is very little trading and probably will be little until the final outcome of the pack is ascertained.

Reports from some of the largest packers in California indicate that it will be impossible for them to fill their orders complete and they are already figuring on prorating

The packers are all determined to take advantage of the situation on peas and almost without exception have advanced their prices on surplus stock from 10 to 20 cents above opening prices, according to the

The oyster packers of the gulf were expecting to name prices on their fall pack this week. A wire from the south indicates that they are unable to make terms with their shuckers and other experienced help which they usually get from Baltimore, and therefore the naming of prices is indefinitely postponed. It looks now as if it would be impossible to put many oysters on the market before the middle of November, and even then the supply will not be large.

Evaporoated ruspberries are increasing in value week by week. Some of the short sellers report that the crop has been bought up. On evaporated apples the market is

On evaporated apples the market is de-clining, as supplies are becoming liberal not only from the south, but from Michigan and New York. It looks now as if new prunes would be available earlier than usual, and the first shipments will come on to an absolutely bare market so far as the best selling sizes are concerned. The price of new fruit will rule considerably less than the prices which have been ruling during the last six months.

Paints, tills and Glass.

Paints, Ulls and Glass.

Carter's lead sells for 7% cents, with south-Carter's lead sells for 7% cents, with southern quoted at 7% cents.

The plate glass market is the same as at the last report. Deliveries are now heavy on old contracts, however; that is contracts made earlier in the year, bu not called. The window glass market is strong. There is a probability that all the factories in the United States, both machine and hand, will come to an agreement not to start their plants until November 1, instead of September 1, as usual. If this occurs stocks in the hands of jobbers will be light, as it takes thirty days to get glass on the market after the factories start. The demand for window glass is now excellent.
