SPORTING GOSSIP OF WEEK

Billy Talk of Dropping Denver is Again Revived. SIOUX CITY STARTS THE STORY ANEW.

Denver, Des Moines and Omaha Are Viciously Necessary to the Circuit and Neither Town Can Be Dropped. Again the pipe. This time it is Sioux City that is smoking.

Here's another thing. Out at Denver the sporting writers have been hammering away at Tebeau for the last few weeks.

Mike Cantillon has been so quiet of late that it is based for a suspicion that he has returned. If Mike had only taken this streak three months ago, the race in the Western league might not have been any different in result.

Although foot ball is looked upon by some as a tabooed game, still there never was greater interest in the great college sport than at the present time.

By making the rules more definite and more protection is afforded the players who are compelled to handle the ball while in a defensive position.

pointed to help to secure more competent officials to umpire and referee the games and to secure a more strict and uniform interpretation of the rules.

When the technical side of the game is considered the players and coaches and officials find themselves confronted with a huge mass of new bewildering legislation.

Western colleges are going in for the same as if all the ballplayers was not raised last fall. Some schools have agreed to abolish foot ball for a year.

What says losers those New Yorkers are. Here's Mugsy saying that Pullman has won the pennant for Chicago because he put the great John J. on the blink for several days.

Samuel Karp, secretary of the American Bowling Congress, is making arrangements to make another tour of North America with an all-star trio of bowlers.

Foot ball is already trading on the heels of base ball and soon the supremacy of the pigskin will be acknowledged by the horsehead.

Levine. Friends of Forbes deny the rumor that he is not to return to Yale. Jim Foster, the Yale grandstand builder, has been here for two weeks overhauling the Yale grandstand and strengthening it for the coming season.

The official British paper, Lawn Tennis, prints a cartoon of Miss May Sutton in the regular series that has been running in the magazine.

Labor day will be a busy one in the fighting line. In every city where boxing is permitted the manager of the club that has been holding shows is busy making arrangements to bring off a battle.

When the battle of Pittsburg Landing was fought the first report which reached Detroit was that there were killed and wounded. I was a train newsboy then and I told the telegraph operator at the Detroit station that if he would wire the main facts of the battle along the line, so that announcements could be put up at the station bulletin boards.

"That called my attention to what a telegraph operator could do. I thought to myself that telegraphing was simply great, and I made up my mind to become an operator as soon as possible.

"Well, one day I was sent for by the president of the Gold and Stock Telegraph company to talk about a settlement for my improvements. He was General Marshall Letterson, colonel of the Seventh regiment.

which I could not understand, being partly deaf. My heart sank and my legs trembled. I handed the check back to him, but again he pushed it back with the same unintelligible explosion of words.

Occasionally attention has been directed to late to the breaking of the Colorado river into the Salton basin in southern California, the consequent troubles of the Southern Pacific railway and the threatened destruction of the settlements in the so-called Imperial valley.

In order to understand this change it must be realized that in the far back ages the head of the Gulf of California was about 200 miles northwest of where it is now, and that much of what is now San Diego and Riverside counties was under water.

The new lake thus created is already more than 400 square miles in area, and except Lake Michigan and Great Salt Lake is the largest body of water wholly within the United States.

Saved by His Eyeglasses. In writing of his hunting adventures in Nubia in Harper's for September, Captain T. C. S. Speedy tells how he was saved from the attack of a native by the reflection in his glasses.

Carpenter's Letter. (Continued from Page Five.) House in despair. The failure worried me, and a day or two later in thinking about it, I came to the conclusion that there must have been something metallic about the bed upon which President Garfield was lying.
