CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

With Cool Weather's Advent, Usual Fall Briskness is Noted.

YEAR EXPECTED TO BE BEST IN HISTORY

Prices for the Most Part Are Firm Advances Being Named in Ginghams, Tomatoes and Fish-Sugar Remains Unchanged.

Among the Omaha jobbing houses the usual fall briskness of trade is apparent and it is now considered as absolutely certain that the year 180s will be written down on the books of the jobbers as very much the best in their history. The movement is steady, the volume is large, and, which is a very good thing for the jobber, prices are firm. In some lines, especially in dry goods, the jobbers are having a difficult time in getting enough goods to supply the demand, and this is now their principal grief.

Bome advances in price have been noted,

Bone advances in price have been noted, the most important being on dress ging-hams, tomatoes and canned goods and salt fish. Sugar remains stationary and salt fish. Bugar remains stationary and coffee is firm.

Unlike last fell, when quick changes for higher prices were the rule, boots and shoes remained stationary for weeks at a time this season. The leather market, however, is firm and indications point to higher prices before the winter is over. A good many late orders are being sent in by salesmen and are coming from buyers who held off under the evident and mistaken impression there would be a slump in the market. Under present conditions the market is likely to advance at any time and these buyers are lucky to get their goods at prices named at the height of the season.

Dress Ginghams Open Higher.

Dress Ginghams Open Higher.

Quotations have been made on dress ginghams, opening Mile above last year's opening quotations, and some of the important lines have already been withdrawn. All cotton goods are high and scarce. No change in these are expected in the near future, but when a change comes it will undoubtedly be for higher prices. Salesmen are very busy on the road just now and the orders are more than liberal. They are taking advance orders for next spring s goods. House trade is also good. Pfactically all of the fall shipments have been cleaned up.

Though some fluctuations have taken place quring the week in raw sugars, both raw and relined are now unchanged from a week ago. The news from Cuba continues the dominating factor in the raw market, and the fact that hostilities have been temporarily suspended has checked the upward tendency of prices. The result is a much quieter tone and there is very little disposition to speculate. There is, on the other hand, however, not much disposition on the part of producers to sell and little inclination on the part of refiners to buy. Heavy withdrawals are reported, as the consumption demand is much larger than usual, and many refiners are still several days oversold.

The coffee market is firm. Arbuckle is reported a heavy buyer. Recent telegrams from the east tend to increase the strength of the market. The new crop is said to be poor, and this is seemingly true, for all the samples which have thus far been shown in Omaha by representatives of eastern coffee importers show small and undestrable beans. If the people want good coffee this season, said a local man, they will have to depend on the old crop.

Mackerel Catch Very Light.

Mackerel Catch Very Light.

Late advices from Helland say there has been an advance of 2 cents a keg on white hoop Holland herring. While the catch has been large, the consumption has been the largest on record and stocks are being used up as rapidly as they are prepared for market. Local dealers say lower prices may not be expected this season.

The mackerel catch in and around Goucester has been a practical failure, not a half of the ordinary catch being landed. What have been caught are small, counting 300 to 376 a barrel. The market has advanced rapidly, and from reliable sources comes the information that an advance of 11 a day per barrel for several days would not be surprising. The catch will be disposed of in a very short time.

The catch of codfish is 10,000,000 pounds short of what it was at the corresponding date of a year ago.

An advance of 4,00% took place in the cheese market early in the week and another advance is anticipated. It is claimed there is 25 to 30 per cent less cheese in cold storage than a year ago and that the recent dry weather has made a 15 per cent lighter output than last year on the September make and a 30 per cen lighter output than last year on the September make and a 30 per cen lighter with the increased consumption, naturally puts prices up. It is said that in New York condensed milk manufacturers are paying for milk on the basis of 16% cents for cheese and consequently the farmers are selling to the condensers.

Canned and Dried Fruits.

Canned and Dried Fruits.

Much attention has been centered in tomatoes during the last week. The market has been advanced in the cast 24/56c per dozen on No. 3, and 25/60c per dozen on gailons. The feeling all over the country is very strong on tomatoes, with every appearance of still higher prices. The shortness of the season, which will be virtually over by the middle of this week, is largely responsible for the advance and very strong feeling. As recently advised, the syndicate controlling the carry-over of 1905 pack, after careful consideration of crop condistions and prospects, withdrew its offerings
from the market and will not sell now, expecting to obtain better prices in the near future.

No change is reported in canned corn, but many of the canners have finished their pack and smaller packs are reported than in 1905, in all of the states Oblo, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsell and Minnesota. It is a settled fact that the fowa pack is not as large as last season, but what difference there will be has not yet developed.
In some sections of liffinols the pack has been very disappointing; in others 30 or 30 per cent of last season's pack. Maino also is very short of the expected output.
While there is some carry-over from the 1905 pack of corn, when the conditions of other canned vesetables is taken into consideration, notably peas and tomatoes, it would appear that there is abundant room for speculation in corn. Neither peas nor tomatoes can be retailed, if bought on today's market, at less than two for 25 cents.

Almost without exception advances have been made in gallon fruits. This advance is particularly sharp on gallon raspberries and blueberries. Blackberries and gooseberries have also come in for a share of this advance, only apples and pumplins in all the pie material remaining about stationary. Really first-class apples in gallons have not yet come on the market.

Bone few are coming from Missouri and Arkansas, but to users of New York state
goods this fruit is said to be very unsatisfactory.

Further a

Paints, Oils and Glass.

Ornamental glass has shown no change in the market, so far as prices are concerned, but the demand is very satisfactory, this being due to extensive building operations. Plate stass is also in good demand and the market is stronger at prices which were advanced recently. Paint is moving freely and there is a hig demand for brushes, putty, etc. Turnentine is still $8%c. Lead remains the same as a week ago. Carter's being quoted at Tic. while southern is 7%c. Oil remains at last week's quotations, boiled being $2c, while raw is $8c.

Hardware Quotations Steady.

Outside of a few scattered small changes there have been no fluctuations in the hardware market during the hat week. The situation on all stapic goods remains just the same. More than at any time during the year the extreme scarcity of all classes of goods is being feit, and all indications point to the scarcity growing more pronounced in the near future. This condition of affairs, if continued, will without doubt force a tendency to higher prices in all staple lines. A shortage of freight cars is also manifesting itself, and makes it difficult for large shippers to secure prompt service. The fruit cans are almost impossible to secure, while glass jars are scarce and are commanding rather higher prices. The stove trade is much more active than it had been this season, and all indications point to a very large fall trade in stoves. Orders for huskers are now coming in in good shaps. One feature of the stove board trade for 1996 is that but very few orders are given for paper-lined boards, the trade demanding almost altogether the higher-priced and more durable wood-lined goods. The demand for barbed wire and wire fence has slackened off some, while the demand for nails is still as large as ever. New lists on mica, adopted by manufacturers for this sesson, advance prices materially.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING A MODEL Local Home Attracts Secretaries from

All Over the Country Want-

Omaha's new Young Men's Christian asso-ciation building has become an object of study on the part of numerous secretaries all over the land who are planning new homes for their own associations. Saturday Secretary W. A. Scott of Houston, Tex., and Architect Carl G. Staats, from the same place, looked over the building and asked Secretary Wade 1,000 or mora questions. Last Tuesday Secretary Bishop of Kansas City and his architect were here for the same purpose. Several other secretaries have studied the structure in the last few weeks.

Mr, Wade hopes to open offices in the new building about the middle of October, though it will not be ready for any department work until much later.

The Buick Motor Car company promised a delivery to their Omaha agents not later than October 15 of one of their new fourcylinder touring cars. If this car meets the predictions of the manufacturers it will be a wonderful proposition, as they guarantee this machine to develop thirtysix actual horse power and weigh not to exceed 2,000 pounds. The car was originally manufectured and ready for the market nearly a year ago, but owing to a temporary restraining order that was fought at considerable length in the courts by another company, claiming infringement of patents, it was impossible to deliver the car in quantities until the present time. The machine is claimed to a speed of fiftyfive miles an hour and is claimed to stand in the same relative position in its class as the two-cylinder car has this season, Three carloads of Buicks received by H. E. Frederickson in one week is about the record on any one make of machine for Omaha. These are the '07 models, upon which only slight change has been made over 1906. While most of these have been sold, some will be offered for immediate delivery the first time since June that Mr. Frederickson has had unsold Buicks on

TALK OF NEW ORGANIZATION Gossip of Third Country Club Revived Over Finances of Field Club.

Now that a movement to on foot to double entrance fees and annual dues at he Field club, talk of organizing a third country club is being revived. Some members of the Field club say another club s sure to come into existence within a few months, in case the vote at the Field club is for an increase in fees.

"There are many members," said one of these men, "who do not care to pay more than the present fees, and if they have to pay more, will drop from the club. As It s, they have to pay $70 for entrance, and $20 annually. In the opinion of some, a accrease in membership would be a good hing, as the club has a membership large enough to be unwieldy, If fewer members are wanted, the condition could be brought about by the proposed action. It would undoubtedly hasten the organization of another club, which is already con-

In the summer a movement was started among members of the Field club and others to organize a country club and secure land near Dundee, but this has been dropped for the time being, at least. One of those interested said Saturday that the project was all but sure of success, when the object of the originators of the plan became public, and then the real estate men raised the price of the land to twice what it had been offered at. The price was prohibitive
