AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Council Backs Up on Paying Estimate for Missouri Avenue Paving.

DONE TO HEAD OFF INJUNCTION SUIT

Ordinance Granting Right-of-Way to the Union Pacific is Passed and There is Talk of Another Injunction.

Items of considerable importance occupied the city council last night. One of these was the motion to reconsider the allowance of the appropriation of the fourth partial estimate for the paving of Missouri avenue. The estimate was voted at Friday's session of the council and amounted to $5,250. The reason for the reconsideration was the rumor of a pending injunction which was said to have been prepared for service this afternoon to prevent the payment of estimates in advance of the actual work. There was no attack on the contracts. While the council had faith in the promises of Mr. Murphy to carefully perform all the work it appeared that some citizens thought differently. It is not probable that the injunction will now be served.

The city clerk was instructed to advertise for proposals for the erection of a city hall. These proposals will be received until 4 p. m., October 15. This instruction, therefore, amounts to an approval of the plans of the architect.

The ordinance granting to the Union Pacific the right-of-way over several of the city streets lying between Twenty-seventh and Thirtieth streets was recommended for second and third readings and final passage. The rules were suspended and the ordinance was passed. It is said that some of the property owners along the course of the proposed tracks are dissatisfied with the proposition and that they are endeavoring to secure an injunction which would be resorted to if the construction, Martin Jett, that he knew of no one who had petitioned to the proposed improvement knew of no one who would be damaged.

Ordinance No. 187, was introduced by the city clerk on the proposition to extend the paving of the street to the cost of the paving of the same. The ordinance was passed and the council will have to be bound by the promises of its predecessor.

The library board made its annual report up to August 1, showing a balance on hand at that date of $700.32. The total amount expended during the year was $7,741.47. The funds available were $6,544.67. Of the amount expended, $4,415.52 was for books, $1,500 for salary, $1,628.54 for the expense of the building. There were some other miscellaneous expenses during the year. The institution was reported to be in a flourishing condition and well patronized. In volumes there were 4,430 in the library, a gain of 1,200 over last year. Care has been taken to secure books which are standard and fundamental to the development of any modern institution.

A petition to curb and gutter J street was presented. J. M. Tanner's bill of $14.65 was reconsidered. Gus Hamill was allowed a warrant for $2,000 for work done in laying permanent sidewalks. The mayor appointed appraisers for the grading of F street from Twenty-sixth to Twenty-ninth streets, who are to award damages if there be any. The appraisers are Joseph Murphy, J. J. Ryan and John McMillan. The council then adjourned to Monday, October 8.

Schools Close in Afternoon.

The Board of Education met last night at the high school. The schools were given a half holiday this afternoon in consideration of the industrial parade of the Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha. On account of the increase in diphtheria in the neighborhood near the Hawthorne school that building was ordered fumigated. This will be done today. The focus of infection seems to be there. One kid only was received for the erection of the new storehouse. This was offered by D. J. Farrell, who proposed to erect the building for $1,325. Superintendent J. A. McLean was granted leave of absence that he might attend the Knox county association on October 13 and the Lancaster association on October 20. The regular monthly bills were allowed, after which adjournment was taken.

Admit Being Coal Exchange.

Since the excitement of the recent Coal trust investigation has begun to die the South Omaha coal dealers are now free to say that they are members of a coal exchange. The published report that they had in any way secreted their membership is denied by the local secretary, J. A. Hall. He said he gave the impression to a press representative for the express purpose of misleading him. He said the books were lying before him at the very time. He said he was ready to produce them whenever they should be demanded by the proper authorities. He said the objects of the exchange did not contemplate or permit a dictation of prices which should be charged and thus destroy competition. They did aim, however, to make better terms where possible with railroads in the matter of switching and other accommodations. They took up the question of haulers and the wages paid for this service. The greatest object of the exchange was to guard against parties who would not pay their bills. Lists were made of this kind of patrons for the benefit of the exchange and business with the proscribed was confined to cash. There was also a move to confine the kind of coal to certain classes as far as possible. No dealer was ever ordered to sell on a schedule furnished by the exchange. The lowest dealer fixed the price for a certain grade of coal. All the others had to come down to his price. Nevertheless, there are others in South Omaha who deny that such is the case. They declare that cases can be found where a dealer has charged his friends the regular price as per schedule of the exchange, but on account of the friendship has come around later and paid a rebate with the explanation that he had to charge the price so that his books would not show that he had been cutting under the exchange dealer.

Law Broken by Mule.

Louis Burdorf, hostler for the J. S. Cooper company at the Union stock yards, was seriously kicked yesterday by a mule. The horse of the animal struck him on the side of the jaw and caused a fracture of the jaw bone and possibly a fracture at the base of the brain. He was carried to the South Omaha hospital in an unconscious condition, where his wound was dressed. He partially revived under the reduction of the fracture and kicked so on the operation, that the combined force of the hospital was needed to keep him from throwing himself to the floor. The fracture was wired temporarily, but a later operation will likely be necessary. Since the operation he has remained in a semi-conscious state. Unless there is a fracture at the base of the brain the fractured jaw will not be fatal. Burdorf resides at Gilmore, over the Sarpy county line.

May Use Injunction.

City Attorney H. B. Fiebrich stated last night that since injunction appeared to be the only way to accomplish anything in South Omaha, he had a mind to try his hand at it a little for the public benefit. The cause of his remarks is the reported invasion of the city by the Interurban railroad. It is said that the Interurban has begun grading within the city limits at Forty-fourth in the vicinity of T street. It has no franchise for the state of Iowa, was in South Omaha yesterday. Mrs. J. A. Hall has gone to Hastings to attend the grand Lodge of the Degree of Honor, held there Wednesday. Mrs. Hall's son accompanied her.

BOLLINGER GETS A BAD CUT

Engaged in a Fight Which Terminates Disastrously for Him.

Otto Bollinger, Lange hotel, was taken to the police station early Tuesday morning with a long gash in his scalp extending from the back of the head almost to the eyes and as deep as the skull, and was attended by Surgeon Elmore and Harris. Bollinger received the wound, witnesses stated, in a fight in a saloon with Jacob Fink of Fontanelle, Neb., and Adolph Fink, Concord, Neb., Ak-Sar-Ben visitors. The brothers Fink drank so much at the saloon that they became overly joyful, it was related, and took liberties which were resented by Bollinger.

The fight was continued on the sidewalk and Bollinger received the blow which nearly lost him his scalp by falling against a sharp stone. All three were locked up.

There are in the high school forty constructive English classes. In each class there are daily contests in spelling. At the end of each month the person having the highest average of spelling for the month meets

The proposed aims were later embodied in a letter to the clubs published in the state year book. The subject of household economics was presented at eight district meetings. During the fall, the matter of food adulteration was given special prominence and excited unusual interest.
