Welcome to Omaha's Modern Dry Goods Store.

Thousands of enthusiastic visitors have thronged this great store during these first fair days. Praise and comment were demonstrated in numerous ways. Some were heard to say "My, isn't it grand." Others were heard to say, "And their stocks are so fresh and clean." These and many other words of praise were heard on all hands. We have exerted every effort and have secured the best and most complete stock of fall and winter merchandise ever placed on view in Omaha.

Our prices are always the lowest, our qualities are always the best. Come Friday and let us prove this assertion. Always glad to show goods. We check hand baggage and packages free of charge.

New Flannels

Our Flannel department is very complete with the latest choice of men's flannels. Imported flannels at 10c and 12c a yard. Outing flannels at 7c, 8c, 10c and 12c a yard. Silk, unbordered cream flannels at 50c per yard. Scotch flannels for waists at 25c, 30c, 40c and 50c per yard. Wool eiderdown flannels, 36 inches wide, 50c per yard. Kinkedown, all shades, at 50c per yard.

Blanket Department

If you are looking for reliable blankets that are good not only on the surface, but good through and through, we can supply you at the same low prices. We buy direct from the mills. Omaha Society Blankets at $4.50 a pair. R. Mary's Blankets at $4.75 a pair. North Star Blankets at $4.50 a pair. New Bremen Blankets at $5.00 a pair. Oregon Blankets at $2.75 a pair. Creation of Solid Yellow

Louis Nash turned out a creation of solid yellow, in which Mrs. Ed Swobe and Charles Smith rode, with a handsome boy backed to represent the color. The parade was in black and the colors made a harmonious combination. The McKee motor car was beautiful in its magnificent covering of many colored flowers, only the windows being visible, through which many occupants looked out upon the multitude. The top was covered with a blanket of white roses, while purple flowers were used to cover the eaves of the car. The windows were encased in white. The effect was a mountain of flowers, a most pleasing sight.

Hard to Keep Same Rate.

The difficulty of maintaining the same rate of speed along the whole line of automobiles resulted in a drawing away of the forward sections in the parade, causing at times gaps in the line, often two or more blocks in length. These gaps were always the signal for much craning of necks to see if there was more to come, and a disposition on the part of the crowd to venture on the free space in its efforts to look down the line. The occasional policemen were powerless in some instances to prevent the street from filling up and, only for the perfect arrangements made for securing reinforcements for such emergencies, the parade would have found itself swamped in masses of humanity at several points.

Mayor Cut by the Omission

Dahlman Disappointed at Bunklesome Mistake Made Wednesday Night. The failure of King Ak-Sar-Ben to stop in front of the mayor's stand Wednesday evening, per custom of former years and in accordance with plans made for this year's celebration, was the chief topic of conversation about the city last Thursday morning. Some of the mayor's friends were inclined to think the incident was the work of some one who wanted to slight the mayor, while others charged the affair to carelessness on the part of the Ak-Sar-Ben parade committee. After having been urged by the Ak-Sar-Ben officials to do the honors in the name of the city on the reviewing stand, and then to be turned down, stung the mayor to the quick.

There is no question about arrangements having been made for the float to stop in front of the mayor and for the king to receive the official key, but how such a small and yet so important detail of the ceremonies should have gone by default is something many find hard to reconcile. The key was sent to the mayor's office by the Ak-Sar-Ben officials at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with the understanding that the mayor make the usual presentation. A week ago H. J. Penfold and the mayor had an understanding on this point while at dinner. The mayor said the incident was particularly embarrassing, as he had his family and a number of his personal friends from other towns sitting with him.

John C. Drexel, who impersonated the king Wednesday evening, called on the mayor Thursday morning and said he fully expected the float to stop Wednesday evening and was unable to explain the omission to stop, but his importunities were unheeded. One of the reports current at the city hall Thursday was that the men engaged to draw the king's horses were drivers of taxicabs and had been "fixed" to get even with the mayor for his attitude in the recent ice controversy. That report was given little credence by those in touch with the situation.

RAIN CANNOT STOP FUSMAKERS

Relief Shows Has Little Effect on Those Who Visit Highway.

For a while last night it looked as though rain would spoil the fun at the carnival, but after a sprinkle of ten or fifteen minutes the heavens ceased their weeping and thousands of people spent the evening in festivity along the King's Highway. The ground was damp, but the merry crowd did not mind care for the rain for a little dampness, the dust on the highway was laid. The air was rather cool, but they laughed the harder and danced the merrier and kept warm.

DEATH RECORD.

John Boss, aged 68, a patient of long standing at the county hospital, died at that institution Thursday morning. He had been at the hospital since February 13, 1906, suffering with kidney trouble, which was the cause of his death. He was of German parentage and it is believed had relatives in Indiana.

HAVANA, September 14, 1906.—The Secretary of State, Washington, D. C., has received no word from the government in the present disturbances should cease at once, the vice president has refused not to accept the office. Cabinet ministers have declared that they will previously resign. Under these conditions it is impossible that congress will meet for the lack of proper person to convene same to designate a new president. The prevailing state of anarchy will continue unless the government of the United States will adopt the measures necessary to avoid this danger. STEINHART, Consul General.

Milton Stellman.

Milton, the 6-year-old son of Morris Stellman, who resides at 21st Street and Durand, died Wednesday night after an illness of but a few hours from croup. The funeral will be held Friday at 2 p. m. from the family home, when the body will be taken to Holy Sepulchre cemetery for interment.

A Reasonable Plea For The Stomach

If Your Stomach is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work—Especially When It Costs Nothing To Try? Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest it is in great probability that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestine supply what nature demands. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural ingredients. They are prepared by the Chemical Laboratory, Telegraphic address, "Difundo," London. Telephone No. 1104 Central, 20 Cullum St., Fenchurch St., E. C.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., Temple Chambers, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adapted for the purpose for which they are intended. (Signed) John R. Brooks, F. L. C., F. C. S. There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 60,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 2,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

THOMPSON BOLDEN & CO.

Howard Street, Corner Sixteenth.

fer. Mrs. Nelson was her own driver and Miss Margaret Wood rode with her. Fred Hamilton wouldn't trust himself in his automobile for fear he would detract from its beauty, so he let the chauffeur do the work and had him dressed like a red devil. Miss Simons' was covered with red poppies.

American Beauty roses were used by Mrs. N. B. Uplike, and 5,000 of them made the big touring car a gorgeous mass of red. The machine was driven by Mrs. E. B. Westbrook, while the other occupants were Mrs. Uplike, Miss Madeline Merritt, Miss Marion Hughes and Miss Gwendolyn White.

A magnificent white rose, with a beautiful young designer as the centerpiece, was the beautiful offering of Miss Ruth Brandeis. The body of the machine was of yellow roses, and it was upon this the beautiful white rose rested. Miss Brandeis was dressed in a filmy gown of white and became a part of the rose as natural and beautiful as the petals themselves.

Red and white poppies, chrysanthemums and ferns were used by Charles Beaton to make a pretty float. The body of the machine was of red, trimmed with white. Paul Heston drove and he was accompanied by Miss Marian Connell, Miss Wakefield and Miss Edith Locke.

A great big watermelon, with the head of a little pickaninny popping out at appropriate times for the amusement of the crowd, was the unique contribution of Moby Brownstein to the parade. The watermelon rested upon a body of white roses, in the center of which to the rear of the machine was the initial of the owner in red. The driver was hidden in the melon.

Miss Ella Brown's Rambler contributed one of the effective features of the parade. The machine was covered with black poppies, with yellow centers, and hovering ahead were butterflies driven by ribbons. The occupants of the machine were gowned in black, with black picture hats. They were: Miss Ella Brown, Miss Ruth Dahlman, Miss Mabel Christie, Miss Philomena Gendelman and C. E. Holt, driver.

Joyous spring was depicted in Vance Lane's float, and even in the most minute details the idea was carried out. Water lilies were used for decorations, while three swans in spike fashion drew the float.

being driven by ribbon reins. The wheels were solid water lilies, as was the body of the machine. The occupants were Miss Katherine Beeson, Miss Alice Carter, Miss Hazel Evans, Miss Gretta Lane and Miss Lillian Lane, driver. All wore white.

Mrs. H. E. Fredrickson was out in her Thomas flyer covered with Easter lilies, while she and her companions were dressed in white and carried white parasols. Beautiful white butterflies rested gracefully on the lilies, the whole effect being a reminder of spring. Mr. Fredrickson drove the machine and Mrs. J. C. Cohen of Honolulu, Miss Grace Wheeling of Omaha, Mrs. E. R. Smith of Duluth, Miss Margaret Ruggs of Omaha, Mrs. Fisher of Denver and Mrs. Fredrickson occupied the auto.

D. C. Bradford, in his efforts to please the judges, sent to California for pampas grass, which was mixed with pink and white chrysanthemums with decidedly beautiful effect. The occupants were dressed in white and wore large white felt hats covered with long pink automobile veils and carried parasols of white decorated with tampus grass. A square of pink against a background of white formed the back of the machine. Plumes of pampas shot up in the front and back. Miss Florence Lewis was the driver and her companions were Mrs. Charles Cray, Miss Ethel Robertson, Miss Mattie Robertson and Mrs. J. A. C. Kennedy, each adding beauty to the picture.

Fred Davis exhibited pumpkin blossoms, gorgeous and tasty. The fenders were covered with solid white blossoms, with the yellow center, while the occupants carried parasols covered with pumpkin blossoms. Those who rode in this automobile were: Miss Mellora Davis, who drove; Misses Lillian Davis, Leola French and Elizabeth Osgood and Mr. Davis.

Mrs. Ella Nash decorated her electric runabout with lavender and purple, the blanket being broken at intervals by bows of purple ribbon. The wheels were of white roses trimmed with purple, while beneath the body was the white. Mrs. Nash drove her own machine and Mrs. Ben Cotton rode with her.

White and green chrysanthemums were chosen by E. I. Cudahy to decorate his machine and the combination made a beautiful sight. The flowers were arranged in blanket form, with alternate squares of the two colors. Miss Helen Cudahy was the driver. Miss Ruth Hitchcock drove a machine decorated a pure white, with no coloring. Miss Hitchcock was accompanied by Miss Ruth Hammer and both were dressed in pure white.

Dimick's comic German band graced the Balduff float, which was a unique feature. Louis Nash turned out a creation of solid yellow, in which Mrs. Ed Swobe and Charles Smith rode, with a handsome boy backed to represent the color. The parade was in black and the colors made a harmonious combination. Merchants are unanimous in saying this has been the happiest week for them for many a day. Every line of business has had an enormous trade and all the automobiles of the city have been sold. The opening of the giant new stores has had a tendency to hold the people a day or two longer than heretofore. The electric parade has been given Thursday night heretofore and people have left in hordes immediately after the parade.

The added attraction of the floral parade Thursday has had the effect of helping to hold the people a day longer and the parade Thursday morning presented as crowded an appearance as on the day before. The estimate of the railroads that a third more people would visit Omaha this fall than last year has been made good. Several things show this. The attendance at the carnival grounds is one indication. A year ago Wednesday was children's day with thousands of children in attendance and still there were 6,000 more people on the grounds this year. The day before showed an increase of 1,000 over the corresponding day of last year.

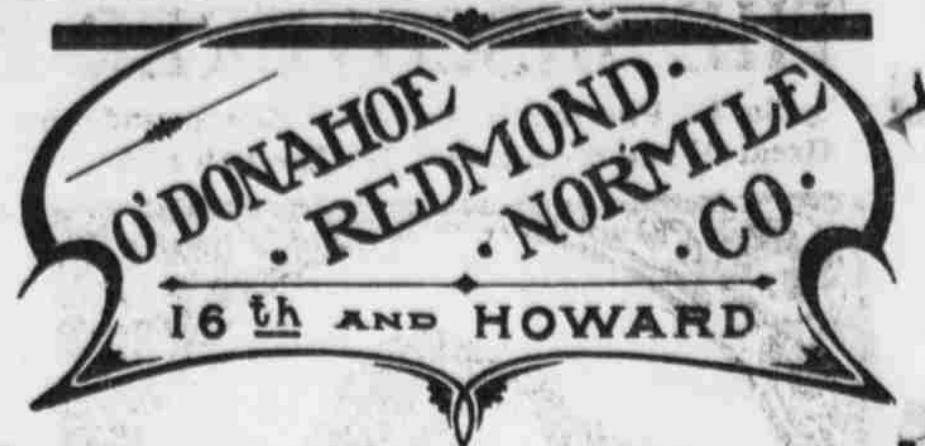

General Manager Smith of the street railway company estimates the crowds at many thousands greater than ever viewed King Ak-Sar-Ben pass before his subjects. The parade over the city and it seemed to me the congested district extended two blocks in each direction farther than ever before," said Mr. Smith. "The people were jammed farther north than ever, farther south than ever, and farther east than ever."

Many spots where people have stood in comfort in former years were jammed and packed last night. And the beauty of it was everything went off on time and the large concourse had plenty of time to his to the carnival grounds and finish the evening in a whirl of revelry.
