AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Mayor Has Poor Success in Getting Missouri Avenue Paving Resumed.

CITIZENS ADVOCATE TAKING ACTION

Several of the Victims Identify W. M. Carpenter as Man Who Held Them Up as a Partner of Jay O'Hearn.

Mayor Hector reports that he has made two attempts to reach an understanding with Hugh Murphy in the Missouri avenue tangle, but as yet has not succeeded. Besides the mayor, several of the property owners have also made an attempt to have Mr. Murphy continue the work. There is little likelihood that any of the residents of the East side would cause the slightest interruption to the work if the contract was fulfilled. There is, on the other hand, a possibility that someone might have interfered if the council continued to vote estimates in advance of any active operations on the street. The mayor says that he is not inclined to assume all the risks in the matter, nor to assume an attitude which is untenable. W. C. Lambert said regarding the case that he believed the city was in a position to go upon the grounds the same as any other contracting party might against the party in default and at once complete the work of paving the street, and if the cost was more than the contract price to Murphy to assess the difference against Mr. Murphy and go into court and collect it. He was of the opinion that it was high time for drastic measures. Otherwise the street will be closed for the winter. He stated that Mr. Murphy had violated the terms of his contract on several matters and thus made himself liable and gave opportunity for the city to assume the aggressive.

Several Identify Carpenter.

The evidence is closing tightly around W. M. Carpenter, the young man who is being held for committing the robberies of last March. The salaried man who was robbed and shot, Peter Christiansen, at Thirty-second and B streets, visited the jail several days ago and identified Carpenter as the man who had been one of the two who robbed and shot him. The man who made the identification was only made his identification general. He picked out Carpenter, however, from a bunch of four men who were presented at the same time. Motorman Carmichael of the Harney line visited the jail last Wednesday evening and at once picked out Carpenter as the one who held the gun while Jay O'Hearn went through the pockets of the conductor. The conductor of the same car visited the jail yesterday morning and identified Carpenter by his eyes, which were the only features of the man's face which he saw distinctly. He said he never would forget the eyes which he saw behind the muzzle of the revolver. He was not so positive about the other features. The conductor, however, stoutly maintained that it was Jay O'Hearn who went through his pockets while the man Carpenter held the gun. The two trainmen who were robbed the same night on the tracks between the two cities and who gave the police the best description of any of the two men visited the jail last night. With their testimony there is little doubt Carpenter will be sent before the grand jury. The young wife whom Carpenter married while at Sioux City was at the jail yesterday anxiously waiting for the outcome of the identification. She is a young woman, quite neat and tidy in appearance. Other members of the family were also present at different times during the day.

Reasons for Stopping Interurban.

With regard to the interurban and the fact that he ordered them to cease grading within the limits of the city, the mayor stated further yesterday that the fact that the road was tearing up the streets without regard to the established grades of the ordinance was a prime necessity, but even if they had the ordinance he would still prevent the work proceeding if the grades of the streets were neglected. Wherever the roadbed lies below the streets crossed it would be necessary to build culverts or bridges or else grade approaches. All of this would mean considerable expense to the city.

Artificial Target Factory.

Dana Morrill has started the erection of a plant for the manufacture of clay pigeons, such as are used for trap shooting, at 313 North Twenty-fourth street. He has had the plan under contemplation for some time. He expects to put in much of his own machinery, including the targets. He will find the material within a few miles of the city. Mr. Morrill relies on his fame as a sportsman and a dealer in that class of goods for the introduction of his manufacture.

Lecture at High School.

The high school students and many of the older heads who are interested in scientific research have begun to look forward with anticipation to the coming lecture on radium, liquid air and wireless telegraphy, which is to be delivered by Prof. W. B. Fitts of Chicago. The lecture is to be in the high school auditorium next Thursday evening. The professor will accompany his lecture by numerous practical experiments and demonstrations. He is especially enthusiastic over the element radium. According to his beliefs there is no limit to the possibilities of the element. He claims to have the largest quantity of the substance on the lecture platform.

Evers Saturday evening. Michael Fennel of Kingsley, Ia., is the guest of his brother, Patrick Fennel of this city. Miss Mabel Reed entertained last evening in honor of her friends from Denver. Frank Dolezal and wife are in the city for the week to attend the events of the carnival. Miss Eunice Ennor gave a party last evening for her friend, Mrs. Evans, who is her guest for the week. Ralph Towle left yesterday for Kansas City, where he enters the government service as a mail inspector. E. L. Howe has gone into the real estate business in South Omaha. He is associated with W. F. Burdick. The pupils of the South Omaha schools were again given a holiday that the children might see the parade. The Mayflower camp of the Macabees held its regular session last night instead of Wednesday, that the members might attend the parade. Our men's $5.00 and $4 patent and dull half shoes are creating quite a sensation. You had better see them. Mrs. John Du Lig, Thirty-eighth and Missouri avenue, was seriously injured last evening by falling over a high bank where some grading was being done. Chief Briggs and Captain Shields are attending court in Papillion in the case of the State against Frank Clement for the murder of Lew Goldie. Make an offer on the northwest corner of 15th and Missouri Ave.—a nearly new house, east front, and neat cottage, south front; two new lots. Room for two more houses. Announce at once. FATHER SHERMAN TO DOCTORS

Impresses Them with the Religious Side of Their Professional Duties.

Father Sherman of Chicago, son of the late General William Tecumseh Sherman, delivered an address before about 200 students and the faculty of the Creighton Medical college at that institution Thursday afternoon upon the subject of the "Advanced Psychology of Medicine." He dwelt upon the fact of the real meaning of the soul as the vital principle in humanity and that it must be so considered so as to do away with any materialistic tendency in the profession of medicine, and just because the soul is the vital principle it is sacred and it is the duty of physicians to protect that life and not destroy it. The lecture was a scholarly effort and was listened to with the closest attention.

Father Sherman is a pleasing speaker and a deep student. He is of a retiring disposition and has put in most of his time at the college and university since his arrival in the city last Saturday. He bears a strong resemblance to his distinguished father, particularly since he has let his beard grow, which is now streaked with gray. He is about 50 years of age and will be remembered by many of the veterans of the army commanded by his father as then but a child.

Father Sherman is not disposed to talk upon the recent Atlanta episode, in which he was tendered an army escort by General W. P. Duval, commanding the Department of the Gulf, to go over the route made famous as Sherman's "march to the sea," and which proffer by General Duval raised such a storm of protest by the southern people of that vicinity on the theory that it would be an offensive insult to them as a reminder of their humiliation of forty-two years ago. The proposed trip was abandoned in consequence.

Father Sherman will deliver a series of five addresses on religious topics at the Auditorium next week. The addresses will be free to the public and are given under the auspices of the Creighton university and the Catholic diocese of Omaha.

Meeker and the Monuments.

OMAHA, Oct. 4.—To the Editor of The Bee: My phenomenal success in arousing public interest in the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Wyoming, with the result of over 4,000 contributors to the fund for erecting monuments to perpetuate the memory of the old Oregon trail, and my conspicuous failure to secure a like response from the citizens of this great state, through which the trail passed, is about to pass into history as a record of the attempt to line that old landmark with permanent granite monuments from the Missouri river to Puget sound unless some favorable action is speedily taken to obtain a different result.

I wish to make one more appeal to the citizens of Nebraska before passing into Iowa on my way to Indianapolis, my starting place for Oregon in 1841. At Boise, Idaho, the plan adopted to interest the school children in the work was with the cordial support of the school authorities, to drive my ox team and old historic wagon in front of the various school houses in that city and let the children see the outfit, address them for a few moments as to the history of the great migration to Oregon, the purposes of my trip, and ask them to consult with their parents and bring their contributions to their teachers to create a fund to build a monument that

PRINTERS ARE HELD GUILTY

John Curry and Frank Comstock Decided by Kennedy in Contempt of Court.

John Curry and Frank Comstock, members of the typographical union, were found guilty by Judge Kennedy of contempt of court in violating the printers' injunction after a hearing lasting two days. Judge Kennedy announced at the conclusion of the case Thursday afternoon that he was forced to find the defendants had violated the injunction. W. J. Connell, attorney for the two men, at once made a motion in arrest of judgment, and this motion will probably be argued today. Until it is disposed of the penalty will not be announced.

Considerable bitter feeling between the union men and the nonunion printers was disclosed at the hearing. One of the incidents of the case was the disarming by the court bailiff of George F. Wilson, the nonunion man who charged Curry and Comstock with assaulting him with abuse. The fact he had a loaded gun in his pocket came out during his examination, and the court directed him to hand it over to the bailiff. Wilson declared he carried the gun to protect himself from the strikers.

Two other cases have been filed against Curry, but in all of them he charged the nonunion men were the aggressors, and it was openly charged that the nonunion men purposely picked quarrels with union men, relying on the injunction for protection. This accusation was denied by the non-union men.

Friday morning Mr. Connell filed a motion for a new trial and it was decided to have the hearing on this motion and on the motion in arrest of judgment at the same time, probably not until next Thursday.

WOMAN DEAD FROM CAR FALL

Mrs. Sadie Shimp Fractures Skull on Asphalt and Does Not Regain Consciousness.

The first serious accident to the large crowds in attendance at the carnival occurred Thursday afternoon at 2:45, when Mrs. Sadie Shimp, a domestic in the employ of George W. Ryan, 487 Seward street, fell from the running board of a Crawford street car at Fortieth street and Lafayette avenue, dying soon afterward.

Mrs. Shimp was on her way to the city to view the automobile floral parade and was unable to find a seat on the car, the running board being occupied, as well as the seats, with sightseers. The street car was so crowded that no steps were being made, except to let off passengers, and was traveling at a high rate of speed when Mrs. Shimp dropped her handbag. She made a start to recover it and fell heavily to the pavement, striking directly on the back of her head. Her skull was fractured and she never regained consciousness after the accident, although she was taken to the office of Dr. F. A. Nelson, Fortieth and Cumming streets, and every effort made to revive her. The body was taken in charge by Coroner Bralley, who will hold an inquest to ascertain, if possible, the exact circumstances surrounding the accident.

The dead woman came to Omaha from Macedonia, Ia., where her people are farmers. Coroner Bralley has telephoned to the parents and expects to hear their wishes today. Mrs. Shimp was 34 years old. It is said, was related to former Patrolman Rank of the Omaha police.

MURPHY IS WILLING TO DIE

May Change His Mind When His Jaw Wears Off in the Morning.

"Put me in the electric chair at 8 o'clock in the morning. I am tired and disgusted with life."

Such was the request of Joseph Murphy, resident at the Diamond lodging house on Douglas street, when Patrolman J. B. Wilson led him into the police station drunk last night.

"Sure, you'll get a shock in the morning, all right," promised the obliging officers. "Now, what is your occupation?"

"I am a speaker, gentlemen—an orator—a high-pitched orator," explained Murphy. "He is a windhammer," remarked Officer McCarthy, who was "frisking" the pinched one.

Then they led him away and promised to call him in time for the trouble in the morning.

The prospects of a thrilling experience in an electric chair did not appear so inviting to Murphy Friday morning as they had Thursday night, but he received his looked-for shock nevertheless at the hands of Judge Crawford, being sentenced to five days in jail, where it is hoped the exciting life will renew Murphy's interest in this terrestrial world and that he will emerge "without an immediate desire for a harp and a pair of wings."

The Food Value of a Soda Cracker

You have heard that some foods furnish fat, other foods make muscle, and still others are tissue building and heat forming.

You know that most foods have one or more of these elements, but do you know that no food contains them all in such properly balanced proportions as a good soda cracker?

The United States Government report shows that soda crackers contain less water, are richer in the muscle and fat elements, and have a much higher per cent of the tissue building and heat forming properties than any article of food made from flour.

That is why Uneeda Biscuit should form an important part of every meal. They represent the superlative of the soda cracker, all their goodness and nourishment being brought from the oven to you in a package that is proof against air, moisture and dust—the price being too small to mention.
