FATHER SHERMAN ON FAITH

Essential Element Personality of Christ and Consciousness of Immortality.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS ARE INTERESTING

Brings out a Dissertation on the Soul, which Distinguishes Man from Lower Order of Animals.

The third of the lectures of Father Sherman was given Thursday evening at Creighton college auditorium before a largely increased audience, his subject being "The Rock of Faith." The lecture was presided by a vocal solo by Miss Lowe. The lecturer took the ground that the essential element of faith was in the personality and divinity of Christ and the inherent consciousness of the soul's immortality and knowledge of its vitalizing influence on every function of life.

A specially interesting feature of Father Sherman's lecture is in his answers to questions upon various doctrinal subjects, placed in the "question box" at the entrance of the auditorium, and to which he invites all to contribute, without regard to creed. In answer to one of these he stated that the spirit did not go back to the Creator, from the fact that the Creator is a pure spirit. "We are not a part of God nor are we made of a part of God," said he. "Man is a distinct personality. The soul, like matter, cannot be destroyed, but, like matter, may be transformed. The soul is in the whole body and is the life of the body. Wherever the soul is, there is the soul. It is whole in every part of the body, but not wholly. It is the vital principle of the brain, lungs and heart and gives its vitality to every movement of the body."

No Soul in Lower Animals.
"The soul does not exist in the lower animals because it is an intellectual and not an instinctive force. Birds have an instinct to build their nests and bees to gather and store honey, but aside from the variety of species they build their nests and make honey, and a bird or a bee has done. No two men want a cottage or house of the same kind. Articulate speech is the result of reason. When you can bring me a bird or any other of the lower animals that can stand on this platform with a dictionary before him and his lecture notes in his hand and talk and reason with you as I am doing, I will believe in the doctrine of the evolution of species."

"The brain is an instrument of the body and has no direct connection with the soul, but the higher faculties are exercised through the instrument of the brain, stimulated by the vitalizing influence of the soul."

OCTOGENARIAN FOUND ILL

Veteran of Civil War Sick at Union Station and Taken to Hospital.

Charles H. Hubbell, a veteran of the civil war over 51 years of age, who was found ill at Union station Thursday afternoon, was sent to St. Joseph's hospital Friday morning by Health Commissioner Connel. Mr. Hubbell is an inmate of the Idaho State Soldiers' home at Boise, Idaho, and was on his way to the home after an extended visit with relatives in the east and stopped over for a few hours in Omaha. It is feared he has suffered a slight paralytic stroke and on account of his age it may terminate seriously. James Hendricks, a relative at Riceville, Ia., has been advised of the serious condition of Mr. Hubbell.

RELATIVES ARE ALARMED

Family of Mrs. Carrie Backen Scared Over Her Absence and Recent Threats.

Relatives of Mrs. Carrie Backen, who formerly resided at Fourth and Nicholas streets, have become very much alarmed over the prolonged absence of Mrs. Backen from her home, as she had threatened to commit suicide several times within the last few months. Mrs. Backen left her home last Sunday morning about 5 o'clock. She was harrowed and told her family she was going to see if she could get some meat for breakfast. She has not been seen since then and the services of the police have been enlisted to assist in finding the missing woman.

SOME MARKET HINTS

New Vermont maple sugar from Ohio is in market this season and sells for 15 cents a pound. It comes in cakes, of course, of one and two pounds. New cocoa nuts are in and sell for 8 and 10 cents each, according to size.

The Florida oranges expected the last of this week have not arrived, but are expected Monday. These will be better than anything the market has afforded for some time or will have until the new California oranges come in.

Peaches are hanging on unusually and unspectacularly well. Nearly every car of fruit that comes in brings a few cases of peaches and nice ones, too. There are only a few cling stones, the most of them being free stones. They sell for about 25 cents a box.

The home crop of grapes is about exhausted and this week has brought the eastern shipments—from New York and Pennsylvania. The price of Concord grapes has advanced in consequence, to 20 cents a basket, but their quality is exceptional. The first of the Niagara Tokay grapes from California came in this morning and sell for 1 1/2 cents a pound.

Pears are quoted by the dozen rather than the box now. Almost all the late fall varieties are to be had, but they sell for 25 and 30 cents a dozen or $20 and $25 a box. The Sheldon and Lawrence pears are the best for eating just now.

Cranberries have raised $1 a barrel wholesale, which will doubtless affect the retail price within a day or two.

Ten-Minute Soups.

Puree of Celery—Chop fine a little celery, tops and all, and place over the fire in a kettle containing one pint of boiling water; let this stew for a few minutes until the celery flavors the water; then strain and add the liquid to one quart of milk that has been boiled and thickened with two tablespoonfuls of flour and one of butter. Season with salt, pepper and celery salt, and serve with saltines. Celery extract may be made to flavor this soup if no fresh celery is at hand.

Cream of Spinach Soup—Chop fine some cold boiled spinach, place two gills of cream in a saucepan and add a pint of milk; thicken with a tablespoonful of flour added to half as much butter, and then season with white pepper and a dash of grated nutmeg. Stir in enough of the chopped spinach to color the soup a light green; let it boil up, strain and then serve, adding salt and butter the last thing.

Tomato Cream Soup—Place a cup of tomatoes over the fire to heat, adding a pinch of soda and a little water. When heated through, strain carefully to remove every seed, and add to one pint of boiling milk that has been thickened slightly with flour and butter rubbed together till smooth. Boil up once and season with salt and paprika; serve with croutons.

Cream of Peanut Soup—Add half a pint of peanut butter to one quart of boiling milk; season with a bay leaf, a little salt, celery salt, or extract, and one tablespoonful of grated onion. Cook for six minutes in a double boiler and then thicken with one tablespoonful of flour or cornstarch, moistened in a little cold milk. Cook until smooth; strain through a fine sieve and serve at once with croutons made of entire wheat bread.

Soup Souffle—Left over cold creamed onions can be chopped fine and added to one pint of boiling milk; the cream gravy should be thickened through a fine sieve and more flour may be added if necessary. Boil all together, then strain, season and serve with saltines. A little onion juice may be added if the flavor of onions is not quite pronounced.

Hanscom, a pioneer of Omaha, and is the first born of his generation.

TIME TO THINK OF TURKEY

Season Comes When Long-Legged Fowl Should Claim Men's Attention.

Time now for the commission men and poultry buyers to begin to think of the turkey crop, now that the frosts are beginning to nip the leaves from the trees and human nature's turkey appetite is beginning to grow with the arrival of the juicy red berry.

As to the number of turkeys there are in the country the poultry men are absolutely in the dark. They can keep tabs on the production of chickens for they come to market all the year round, but they never know about the turkeys. The bronze birds may be a little scarce this fall on account of the wet weather last spring, which was disastrous to the young fowls, but aside from the fact that the weather was wet the dealers have no assurance that the turkeys are scarce.

Chickens are coming in freely, though not in such numbers as they will come a month later, and they are about the same price as last year. The wet weather of the spring stunted the growth and decreased the number of chickens in some parts of the state, but on the whole the poultry men say the chicken crop is as large and as of good quality as last year. Eggs are somewhat scarcer and a little higher in price.

It looks now as though ducks and geese would be here in plenty for the Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, and the price will be reasonable enough.

CHURCHES WILL NOT UNITE

All Saints Continues Separate from St. Mathias, Which Bishop Williams Will Serve.

The proposal to unite the parishes of All Saints and St. Mathias' Episcopal churches was deemed not advisable by the bishop and parties interested. St. Mathias will be served by the bishop until the vestry secures a pastor and All Saints people will continue to hold services in what is known as the "little church around the corner" on St. Mary's avenue near Twenty-seventh street.

ILLINOIS RAILROAD FINED

Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis Found Guilty of Collecting Exorbitant Switching Charges.

ALTON, Ill., Oct. 12.—A jury in the city court today returned a verdict finding the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis railroad $300 on a charge of collecting exorbitant switching charges. The suit was filed by the Alton Lime and Cement company.

The decision is important to Alton merchants, because under the rules of the Illinois Warehouse and Railroad commission any line found guilty of overcharging for switching must repay the person overcharged threefold.

McCabe, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who recently said:—

"After long and careful consideration, I am thoroughly satisfied that the present administration of the Mutual Life, recently 'resolved' that the present executive officers and trustees are, in the opinion of the Policyholders' Protective Association of the Mutual Life, faithful to its interests, and that their administration of its affairs has been and is efficient, economical and beneficial to the policyholders."
