TURBINES GAIN IN FAVOR

British Approval of New Marine Engines Opens Eyes of Americans.

COST HAS HERETOFORE BARRED THEIR USE

Performance of the Dreadnaught Causes Builders to Revise Their Ideas of Efficiency of Novel Engines.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Secretary Bonaparte has received and turned over to the construction board a lot of data pertaining to the new British armored cruisers of the Indomitable class, directing special attention to the turbine-machinery and upon the report of the constructors he will probably base his own recommendations to congress at the approaching session relative to new naval construction.

The construction board rejected the turbine machinery when last offered for two reasons: First, because confidential reports had shown that the turbine as a propelling engine was far behind the reciprocating engine in maneuvering powers, one of the first qualifications in a battleship. In the second place, the ship builders demanded $100,000 more for supplying turbine engines than for reciprocating engines and the navy department feared that congress at the last session might not sanction any such expenditure.

Performance of Dreadnaught. But recently reports have reached the department touching the performance of the great British battleship Dreadnaught that have inclined the board to revise their judgment in the case of turbines and it is stated at the department to be entirely probable that such engines will be proposed in the plans for the great 3,000-ton battleships, which has been submitted to congress by its direction at the next session. Details of the construction of the Dreadnaught, guarded as a state secret for two years, are coming to light and they show that the objection against the turbine on the part of maneuvering capacity has been overcome. This was accomplished by equipping the big ships with four separate propeller shafts and with two great rudders, one behind the other giving great power of steering. Intimations have been received from some American ship builders that with the experience gained in the recent construction of merchant ships and yachts equipped with turbines the cost of those engines can be considerably reduced.

CONVICT PLEADS OWN CASE

Philip McIntyre Makes an Argument Before the Supreme Court.

RUMMELHART SUSPECT AT LINCOLN

Railroad Representatives Busy Seeking to Refute the Issue Regarding Local Taxation of Railroad Terminals.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Oct. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—Philip McIntyre, convicted of separating Captain Fisher of Chadron from some $2,000, pleaded his own case before the supreme court this morning in the presence of a large crowd, of which a number were women.

McIntyre was brought back from Virginia, where he was arrested. He brought his case to the supreme court on a writ of error, but asked the court to change that and hear the case as an original appeal for habeas corpus. The court took the matter under advisement and McIntyre was taken back to the penitentiary.

This morning a letter was received by Warden Beemer from W. B. Laughlin saying McIntyre was a desperate man and would probably attempt to escape while awaiting his case. He is badly wanted, the letter said, at Fort Scott, Kan. Warden Beemer and a deputy guarded him.

After McIntyre had made his plea to the court, in which he asked that his appeal on error be changed to an original action for a writ of habeas corpus, Fisher came into the court room and he and McIntyre greeted each other cordially.

"I hope you will convince the court as easily as you did me," said Fisher.

"That will be impossible," responded the convict.

May Be Rummelhart Murderer.

George Wilson, arrested here today by Officer Schmitt and locked up as a suspicious character, is thought by the police to be the murderer of Josephine Rummelhart, who was killed over a week ago in Omaha. Other than to say he had seen in Omaha a man who was the waiter by trade, Wilson will not talk about himself.

He is short and heavy built and has a very swarthy complexion and is about 35 years old. The man's clothes had dried blood on them and his hair was also bloody. He appeared to be in a dazed condition. The man was questioned by Detective Malone, but nothing was gained from him of any importance. The police have communicated with the Omaha authorities and the man will be held pending a thorough investigation.

Discord in Police Force.

The Lincoln police force is just now undergoing a severe jolting up, occasioned by several of the officers knocking on each other and petty jealousies. The excise board held a meeting yesterday afternoon and listened to the stories of a number of the men, but took no official action. To prevent any of the officers from getting on the outside of any liquor, Mayor Brown has notified the saloon men that to sell liquor to an officer means a revocation of the license.

Railroads Befogging the Issue.

Reports from various sections of the state are to the effect the railroads have reopened their campaign of deception regarding the taxation of depots and terminal properties belonging to the roads, for municipal purposes, in an endeavor to prevent the enactment of such a law by the next legislature. The railroad agents are working overtime and it is said their press bureau has again been started to prove to the people that the taxation of this class of property locally will be to take from the school funds of the western portion of the state. It is the same feigning argument used by the roads to prevent the enactment of such a law during the last two legislatures.

The railroad henchmen are pretending the assessment of the Omaha terminals is now distributed throughout the counties through which the roads run and to tax this property locally for city purposes would be to lessen by that much the valuation out in the state.

As a matter of fact, the Omaha terminals are not taxed over the state for city purposes. According to a member of the board this claim is a delusion and a snare cooked up to get the unsuspecting legislators to vote against a bill for municipal taxation of this class of property. It is said by this member of the board that, instead of lowering the assessment of railroads out in the state to the betterment of Omaha, the proposed law will merely add an additional tax and will apply to every village, hamlet and city in the state and will in no way reduce the assessment and taxation for school purposes. If the proposed change were merely a shifting of the tax from one place to another the railroads would not be interested and the fact that they are opposing it is best proof that it stops some tax shirking they have been profiting from.

McGilgot Acting Governor.

Omaha had a governor today and it is even dead. The news that the late fact, Governor Mickey is out of the state at Kansas City and during his absence Lieutenant Governor McGilgot has the reins. He was notified of the fact late this afternoon, but as there was no special reason for it he did not come to Lincoln.

Police Board Hearing.

Tomorrow afternoon is the time set for the hearing before the governor of the charges against the members of the Omaha Police and Police Commission. The hearing will be held at the Millard hotel at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The board members are charged with having neglected to do their duty in that they refused to compel the police to enforce the laws of Omaha.

The silk banner awarded to the Detroit conference for the general increase in reading circle members during the year. The night session was given over to reports on insurance, unfinished business and the formal closing.

WARRANT FOR BRIDGE BUILDER

St. Joseph Man Alleged to Have Swindled Gage County.

BEATRICE, Neb., Oct. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—County Attorney Killen filed two complaints in the county court today against John Sparks, the bridge contractor of St. Joseph, Mo., charging him with two separate bills with intent to defraud the county. One complaint alleges Sparks knowingly and with intention to defraud filed a bill for $17,84 in the office of the county clerk on October 5, 1904, for reimbursement for the construction of a bridge in Hill township, which was ordered paid by the County Board supervisors, that body believing the bill to be true and correct.

The second complaint charges Sparks with filing a bill alleged to be true for $33,40 for a bridge in Island Grove township. This warrant was also paid by the county. The warrant was placed in the hands of Sheriff Trude, who sent a message to St. Joseph ordering the arrest and detention of Mr. Sparks until his arrival at that place.

Charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, E. C. C. was brought here from Anamosa, Ia., by Sheriff Trude and lodged in jail. Recently Kearn disposed of a stallion at Barneston to a number of farmers in that vicinity for $2,000. He stated that the animal was pedigreed, but it is asserted that the alleged pedigree was not genuine.

Kearn was arraigned, pleaded not guilty, and his case was set for hearing October 20.

County to Build Its Bridges.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—In face of the threatened junction suit by the Gilligan Bridge company, the Board of Supervisors has completed arrangements to start work on a bridge ten miles north of Falls City and show that the county can build bridges at a great deal cheaper than the bridge company would build them. The attorney for the Gilligan Bridge company has threatened the county with an injunction suit if it starts work on any bridges in Richardson county, claiming that the Gilligan company has a contract with the county signed by the chairman of the county board, but the supervisors are going to build their own bridges, as the county board never authorized the signing of any contract, and after making a record of the fact that the Gilligan company was the lone bidder, and would get the contract, they reconsidered the matter and rejected all bids.

Tuesday morning the case of Mrs. Amelia Rieger against the administrator and heirs of Henry Rieger's estate was tried and Mrs. Rieger will take a widow's share in the estate. It seems that when Mrs. Amelia Rieger married Henry Rieger they made an ante-nuptial agreement whereby each was to take nothing from the estate of the other, but their property was to descend to their children. After Henry Rieger's death his widow put in a claim for her share of his property. The case may be taken to the supreme court. This morning arguments for a new trial in the case of the estate against William Heindel were heard and the new trial granted. Mr. Heindel was found guilty of felonious assault at the last term of court.

NORTH PLATTE—A Burlington agent was in town a few days ago looking up the title to lands in ranges 20, 22 and 24 and particularly the ownership of lots in this city that are crossed by the survey which passes through this city. The opinion of the agent is evidence that the proposed route up the North river has not been wholly abandoned. A gentleman very close to General Manager Holdridge of the Burlington, told a local resident that in his opinion the road would be built. "The fact that a big corps of surveyors has been working west from Gurney toward Salt Lake for a couple of weeks past, is taken as evidence that the Burlington will build a line to the latter city, and that it is possible, if not probable, that a line from Bridgeport down the North Platte valley to Newark, will prove the most direct line, and at the same time possess a less grade than any other connecting link that could be made.
