Certain Changes in Federal

eral rights within vertical lines.

A request that the national congress pro-pointment of a commission to draft a side-line law for presentation to the federal

Concerning the safety of men engaged in mining, the report recommended:

That a committee be appointed to draft a uniform law governing metalliferous mining and quarrying in the various states, with a view toward securing its general adoption as a substitute for existing laws, yrging upon states in which coal mining is conducted the appointment of a commission to investigate the conditions affecting safety in coal mining and secure the cooperation of the national government in such an investigation with a view toward the formulation and enforcement of adequate laws governing this branch of the mining industry.

The congress fistened to a paper by rado Springs on the subject, "Mutual Relations and Grievances of the Smelte: Trust and Ore Producers." He raid that the value of the product was often a difficult matter to determine, but he believed that the producer usually received a fair proportion of the savings. He no-ticed, however, that the good will of the producer is not considered as in the past conditions imposed by the American Smelting and Refining company.
