NO EXPRESSION ON CURRENCY

Henry W. Yates Says Bankers Did Not Decide Policy on Question.

TIME TOO LIMITED FOR FREE DISCUSSION

In Five Minutes He Impressed His Disapproval of Elasticity Plan Upon the St. Louis Convention.

The Omaha bankers who attended the convention of the American Bankers' association in St. Louis last week have returned with the impression that it cannot be said that the convention gave any decided expression on the currency question, which had been predicted from it. Small opportunity was given for the intelligent discussion of the question in its numerous phases.

"For years an agitation has been carried on by certain prominent bankers and financial writers in favor of the insurance of unsecured bank notes, to give to our system what is called elasticity—a quantity which it is claimed it lacks—and by inference that the idea is wrong. It is distinguished in this respect from the currency systems of more fortunate nations. All the addresses delivered and papers read were along this line, including among the number one from the comptroller of the currency and one from Congressman Fowler of New Jersey, the latter having made a specialty of the subject for years past.

Only Five Minutes per Speaker.
The question was opened for discussion at the conclusion of the report of the legislative committee. Only five minutes was allotted to any speaker and it was held in liberty to talk, and there were numbers present having their numerous plans to present the chaos which followed could easily have been anticipated. Those opposing the plan, like myself, were offered the slimmest kind of a chance to say anything.

"I opened the discussion just as soon as it was possible and endeavored to present as forcibly as I could in the limited time given, my objections to all the plans submitted. I stated first, that any proposition submitted by bankers must be clearly and distinctly in the public interest and not in their special interest as bankers; that a distinction should be drawn between plans which would increase in any manner the value of currency notes existing, and plans for an emergency circulation, which was generally favored by all bankers, but which provided for a currency which it was always hoped would never be issued and if issued would be soon retired; that the elasticity so much written and talked about in the plans, which are owned by Mr. Olinde C. Dele, the two friends became alarmed over the prolonged absence of Mrs. Reese, who was last seen Saturday morning on the back porch of her home. The fat was searched, entrance being gained through the rear door, which was open, but no trace of the woman was seen. The search had not been completed, so the search was continued and Mrs. Reese was finally found lying in a heap at the foot of her stairs, with her head resting on her arm. She was unconscious and barely breathing.

The police were notified, Police Surgeon Thorne responding, and had the woman removed to the hospital, where she died in less than five minutes without regaining consciousness.

WOMAN DIES FROM A FALL

Mrs. I. H. Reese Lies Unseen From Saturday Night Till Monday.

BARELY ALIVE WHEN FOUND BY FRIENDS

Evidently Plunged Down Stairs at Home, at Bottom of Which Two Neighbors Discover Her.

After lying on the floor since Saturday night without attention at the foot of the stairs at her home, 110 South Eleventh street, where she had evidently fallen, Mrs. I. H. Reese, aged 30, was discovered in an unconscious condition Monday morning and died a few minutes after she was removed to St. Joseph's hospital. She is the wife of I. H. Reese, a horse buyer at South Omaha, who has not been located as yet, as he is on a trip through the state on business.

The woman was discovered about 8 a. m. Monday by two of her intimate friends, Mrs. Clapper and Mrs. Kuhn, who reside in the flats, which are owned by Mrs. Olinde C. Dele. The two friends became alarmed over the prolonged absence of Mrs. Reese, who was last seen Saturday morning on the back porch of her home. The fat was searched, entrance being gained through the rear door, which was open, but no trace of the woman was seen. The search had not been completed, so the search was continued and Mrs. Reese was finally found lying in a heap at the foot of her stairs, with her head resting on her arm. She was unconscious and barely breathing.

Supposed Theory of Death.

It is believed Mrs. Reese was marking Saturday evening and, in ascending the stairs leading to her flat on the second floor, she lost her balance when near the top of the stairs and fell to the hallway below, as vegetables from her market basket were found scattered on the floor of the hall. Her pocketbook was held tightly in her grasp, with the money intact. It is regarded as certain it is a case of accidental death, as several diamond rings which she was wearing were untouched. The police were notified, Police Surgeon Thorne responding, and had the woman removed to the hospital, where she died in less than five minutes without regaining consciousness.

MORE MONEY FOR INSTITUTE

Eleven Hundred Dollars Added to Fund for Erection of Jewish Building.

TROOPS NOW IN WYOMING

Soldiers on the Ground at Gillette to Suppress the Ute Indians.

Two troops of the Tenth United States cavalry, under command of Major Charles H. Orleson, left Fort Robinson at 11 a. m. Sunday for Gillette, Wyo., arriving there at 11 o'clock Sunday night. Two additional troops are under orders to proceed to some point at once as soon as transportation is available. The military authorities are not apprehensive of any serious trouble. The fighting force of the Utes numbers about 150 bucks and, with their families, the party comprises about 500 persons. The Indians were on a visit to the Sioux and Crow Indians from their reservation in Utah, where a crop failure and lack of sufficient distribution of cattle by the government for their sustenance during the winter impelled their invasion of the game preserves of Wyoming. About the only depredations they have thus far committed, according to the information received by the military authorities, is the killing of a few cattle and a number of elk. The state of Colorado also is apprehensive that the Utes will invade the game preserves of that state, and is moving to prevent the Utes entering Colorado.

Major General A. W. Greely, commanding the Northern Military Division and the Department of the Missouri, returned to Omaha Monday noon to take personal supervision of the situation and direct the movement of the troops operating against the Utes. Another train of equipment has been sent by the Burlington to Crawford to move more soldiers to Crow agency. This train is a duplicate of the first, requiring twenty cars, coaches, stock and flat cars. The equipment of the first train was not available and new equipment had to be furnished. The second shipment of soldiers will move to the agency at once.

Weight Increased 32 Lbs.

Thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Plenty of Fresh Air.

Mr. Meyer Britwitz, who was completely broken down in health and failed until he weighed only 120 pounds, recovered his health and increased his weight 32 pounds, and now has no difficulty in maintaining his weight at 152 pounds.

Meyer Britwitz, in his best at Liberty, N. Y., where he lived one year, taking no medicine except Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

A constantly growing law practice necessitate my working quite hard and assiduously. My health began to fail but I could not neglect the interests of my clients and the family care for myself. I began to lose weight and developed a distressing hacking cough, which was extremely severe and violent, especially when arising in the morning, and these paroxysms usually left me weak and with a feeling of lassitude. My whole system was broken down and after consulting with a number of eminent physicians I decided to take drastic measures, and accordingly abandoned my law practice entirely and took up my residence in Liberty, N. Y., where I lived for one year in a country place. My wife in Liberty I was advised by a friend of mine to try Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a tonic. This I did twice daily, and found its effects to be invigorating and bracing, with none of the after-effects of traveling usually produced by intoxicants. I found it sharpened my appetite considerably, enabling me to eat heartily. Within, of course, my recovery was due in a measure to my method of living. At the same time I feel certain that the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was a material factor in my recovery. My cure was complete, as is evidenced by the fact that I have again resumed the practice of my law, never in the least losing weight, and never weighed above 120 pounds, today I easily tip the scale at 152 pounds, and find that I have no difficulty in maintaining that weight.—MEYER BRITWITZ, Attorney-at-Law, 39 Nassau St., New York City, N. Y., July 15, '06.

CLARK AND LANE HERE NEXT

Interstate Commerce Commissioners Will Begin Omaha Hearings Wednesday.

Interstate Commerce Commissioners E. E. Clark of Iowa and Franklin T. Lane of California will arrive in Omaha Wednesday to conduct a hearing into matters relating to the grain trade. Attorney John H. Marble will represent the commission in the hearing.

The purpose of the investigation is to inquire into the relations of the grain trade regarding buying, selling, forwarding and handling grain in violation of the trust laws and under the provisions of the LaFollette resolution passed in the United States senate June 25, 1906, which provides for such investigation.

The investigation began at Chicago last week and the commission is holding inquest at Kansas City and will close there Tuesday. The hearing in Omaha will be held in the north federal court room and will last two days. Witnesses from both Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska will be summoned. It is not known whether Tom Worrall will be summoned as a witness or not. He is in the city. It was expected Charles T. Peavey, partner of Mr. Worrall, might be summoned, but as he was not called before the commission at Chicago, it is thought his information will not be sought here. The commission will go from here to Iowa to conduct a similar hearing there.

This showing is particularly pleasing to the republicans, who registered two thirds of the total registration.
