CORSETS

That we have the largest Corset business in Omaha is unquestioned. Being best has made it largest and keeps it growing. This store is headquarters for most every worthy make. We have gained the confidence and patronage of our customers by serving them best. Expert fitters who will see that every buyer (who stops to be fitted) shall get the model best adapted to her figure.

YOU MAY SAY WARNER'S RUST PROOF MODELS

Are so well known that it is a waste of good material to sound their praise. Not so. You doubtless wear a chic model of this make, but we are talking to the "don't knows." There are still some of them. A few are culled from the ranks of the "grown ups." All must be corseted, and our aim is to start them right. Unique in their perfection of fit and finish, they unite all that is best in the French shapes, with the proper proportions for the American women's form. From the chic little tape girdle for the dainty young girl, to the strong, firm model of the statuesque lines, for the fashionable matron, inclined to generous proportions, the Rust Proof line shows the best shape. Every pair guaranteed. Warner's Rust Proof Corsets, $1.00 to $3.00 each. (Second Floor.)

Open Saturday Evenings.

THOMPSON BELDEN & CO.

Howard, Corner Sixteenth Street.

which shows once more that the exhibition is as much a woman show as it is a horse show.

Most stirring of the evening's features was a potato race, in which a dozen or more men, mounted on stock yards ponies, charged up and down the arena with wooden lances like knights of old. Their purpose was to carry as many potatoes as possible from one end of the arena to the other on their steed points in a given length of time. To the ones who carried the most potatoes the prizes were awarded. There was nothing slow about the ponies, and the way they dashed together made it a wonder that they could wheel quick enough to keep from being hurt.

Reporter a Prize Winner.

A rather amusing incident occurred when a number of horses were being shown to gig. In that event the appointments were made to count in the consideration for prizes. The judges, in looking over the appointment of the Lawrence Jones gig, found a quart bottle of Paul Jones' rye whisky and a revolver, which looked like a small cannon. They confiscated these two articles as contraband. The revolver was later returned, but a drawing ensued on the whisky and the bottle fell to the lot of a reporter, who carried it off in triumph.

Murray of Toronto was not quite so gay last night. He did not attempt to cut in ahead of the competitors and consequently he was not called to task by the judges. He still proves a favorite with the spectators.

Saturday afternoon the management will give a popular-priced matinee. This is primarily for the benefit of the women and children, but as many men will be welcome as wish to attend. There will be twelve events, which is two more than the night performances afford, and the spectator will be able to get his fill of variety. Though there were three matinees last year, only on one occasion were the seats offered at the popular prices which will prevail for Saturday. Some special features not on the program are to be announced for this occasion.

Tonight is St. Joseph night, and as a number of Missouri horses are being shown, it is not unlikely there will be a good attendance from St. Joseph.

STANDING ROOM ONLY THE SIGN

Omaha All Turns Out to See the Horse Show.

Joseph M. Cudahy again rode Gaiety Girl, the Arbor Lodge entry, to a ribbon over the jumps at the Horse Show, and won the plaudits of the largest crowd of the week at every jump the mare took. The spectators are becoming real fans and play their favorites, showing clearly by their applause where they think the ribbons belong.

Promptly at 8 o'clock as the tug-of-war between the ponderous six-horse teams of Swift and Company and the Stock Brewing company swung into the tanbark arena to be viewed by the critical eyes which surrounded the rails. The Swift team is the talk of the town, and these dappled beauties seem to be proud of the attention they attract. It is a really stirring sight to see them swing in a circle on the run at one end of the arena, making complete circles while the wagon is practically at a standstill. This exhibit seems to be an attraction which has a tendency to bring the spectators to the show early, and when the bugle called last night the vast amphitheater was nearly filled. Later in the evening every seat in the entire house was occupied and standing room was at a premium. It was a pretty sight to see the two ponderous teams cutting in and out around the arena. Last night was the first night the Stock team tried to do fancy stunts and the execution was perfect, and showed the driver accustomed to his horses.

After the exhibit of the packing house giants and the brewery six the local park horses were given the ring, and as the handsome steppers circled the arena the great crowd became quieted and waited for the judges to pass their learned opinion as to which they considered the best. E. P. Peck was the first in with his handsome chestnuts, Besalka and Heuna, followed by Ward Burgess with Prairie Queen and Rosecleaf and W. H. McCord with Young Bob and Prince Regent. The owners had to drive their own horses in this class. Young Bob is a misnomer, for he is now 10 years old and has been the standby of the McCord stables for 6 years, driving the streets in sunshine and rain. Mr. McCord won first, Mr. Burgess second and Mr. Peck third.

Women Riders Admired.

All was expectancy when the call was made for the next class, which was for the best woman's horse, to be ridden by a woman. Omaha boasts some splendid horsewomen and it was demonstrated last night they are not afraid to show their skill in the arena. While the riding school was in progress last winter many enjoyed the opportunity of learning to handle a saddle horse, although the women who rode last night have been riding their ponies and horses since childhood.

Ball Bros. sent a magnificent bunch of American Beauty roses to Miss Helen Cudahy, who rode their Gladys L. One of the judges remarked after awarding the blue ribbon that one would have to go a long ways before finding a more perfect lady's saddle horse than Gladys L. Mrs. Gunter Yates Smith of St. Joseph rode George Pepper's Glendale and did it well. These two were the only horses in this event, the Jones entry and the Arbor Lodge having been drawn for some reason.

The high steppers are always a welcome exhibit at an Omaha show, and last night proved no exception to the rule. This class again brought out the best the big stables had to offer, as the rules were got very close, the horse being anything over fifteen hands, and style, conformation, action and pace were considered. The Murray team was a pair of beauties, one being The President, a horse picked up just before the Omaha show last year, and the other, Honor Bright, being a horse Murray went clear to Oklahoma to buy. He had heard of the horse as being a possible good mate to The President, and journeyed all the way from Toronto to Oklahoma to buy him. The Jones pair are also gentlemen when it comes to high stepping, one being a beautiful bay and the other a seal brown. Mr. McCord's Only One, the horse which hurt his tongue on the first evening and which has been gated for manners twice during the week, was on his good behavior last night, and James Peabody had little difficulty in handling him and his mate. The two Creighton of the Pepper stables also gave an exhibition of their high stepping qualities. The blue ribbon was pinned on the Jones entry, Murray was given second and the Pepper entry third. McCord's team did not show in its usual form and was not placed.

Gaited Saddle Horses.

In the gaited saddle mare class the rules of the American Saddle Horse Breeders' association governed, the conformation counted 40 per cent, the manners 20 per cent and the performance 40 per cent. The mare had to show five distinct gaits, the walk, trot, rack, canter and running walk, fox trot or slow pace. Four beauties faced the judges, who had to use their little note books in figuring where the ribbon belonged. Ball Bros. won first with their 3-year-old beauty, American Girl, one of the finest horses ever shown in an Omaha ring. Tom Bars, with Twilight, was second, and Helen Walker, belonging to Mrs. O. J. Mooers of Columbia, Mo., was third.

The unicorn team is a unique contrivance, which originated from an accident. Morl lost one of the horses from his four and had to get home, so had three horses do the business for him, and the rig looked so well it has been adopted as a horse show number, but is not used much in practice. Four unicorn entries swung into the arena last night and made a pretty picture as they tore up the tan bark. The Jones entry had a little mixup shortly after entering the ring, but soon got straightened out, after which they worked well. Judge Kuykendall showed he knew how to handle the reins when he took the various teams and drove each several times around. While the judge was driving the Murray entry Murray, who was sitting on the box beside, got his hat cocked so far on the side of his head it fell off. The judge did several fancy stunts with the ribbons as he took the various unicorns around the ring. Murray was given first with his magnificent entry, having the horse Honor Bright in the lead. W. H. McCord's entry was second and Lawrence Jones' entry was third.

The combination class brought out some good ones, for the horse had to have a capacity for carrying up to 200 pounds, and was first shown to an appropriate vehicle and judged first as a harness horse. He was then unharnessed in the arena and shown and judged under saddle at the walk, trot and canter gaits. The prize was to go to the horse best suited for both purposes. Morning Glory, the best weight carrying horse in the county, was picked by the crowd as the winner, and the judges decided likewise. High Lassie won second for Lawrence Jones and Glendale took third for George Pepper.

Roadsters Get Glad Hand.

Emma B. and The King were roundly applauded as they entered the ring in the roadster pair class, for all recognized them as the winners at previous shows in Omaha and, as also the horses which went from the west and took all the top ribbons away from the fast ones of the millionaires of the east at both the Chicago and Madison Square shows. The pair makes an ideal team for men's driving and excite attention wherever they go. They mate perfectly and step in unison, so well the judges had little difficulty in deciding upon first place. Mr. Byrne was given the red ribbon with Alice Wilkes and Miss Atherton, and the Cowles entry was third.

The gig class brought forth a stylish lot of fellows who paraded around the ring, throwing their front feet to their chins and making a bid for applause at every turn. The horses were to be 15.2 hands high or over with proper appointments, the horse and the appointments to count 50 per cent each. Mrs. Milton was the only woman driving in the class. The Jones entry, Kentucky appointed, was first, Mr. McCord won second with Storm King and George Pepper third with Creighton.

Battling for the honor of carrying the most potatoes, ten stalwart youths from the stock yards at South Omaha furnished a bushel of real fun in the arena last night and were more than applauded for their efforts, for the entire assemblage, and there were plenty in that assemblage, stood and yelled during the entire race, if race it should be called. As the man who could carry the greatest number of potatoes from one end of the arena to the other was to receive $5 the prize was worth going after, and the way these youths tore up the tan bark in their efforts to carry potatoes and to stop the other fellow from carrying potatoes was a caution. Two were tied for first place and the judges had them race once around the arena before giving a decision. J. O'Rourke was set back for fudging and Ira Jacobs was given first, J. O'Rourke second and M. H. Bethem third.

Just as the desert is kept for the finish so the hunters were saved as a grand finale to a splendid evening's entertainment and the lithe steeds seemed to realize what was wanted, for they ran at the jumps as though they meant business, and most of them cleared the bars by a good margin. The event was for the best lady's hunter, and again did Joseph M. Cudahy carry off the honors with his Gaiety Girl, as he had on Wednesday night. Crow & Murray took second and third with Wasp and Jenny Lind.

Interest increases as the show progresses and better attractions are on the bill for tonight and Saturday night. Tonight will be St. Joseph night and several good numbers are on the card. F. A. Nash will jump into the limelight with his new speed wagon, weighing but thirty-five pounds, being the wagon to which Lou Dillon was hitched when she made the record for a road wagon. Mr. Nash will drive Sadie N., and as this is a speed class there will be something doing.

Considerable interest attaches to the hunt club number tonight, at which time it is understood both Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cudahy will ride the jumps.

COSTUMES WORN AT HORSE SHOW

Elaborate Toilets Continue to Be a Feature.

The fourth evening of the Horse Show was fully as brilliant as any of its predecessors.

Mrs. J. H. Scoble was attired in a suit of gray with hat to match trimmed with plumes.

Mrs. F. A. Nash wore a pretty gown of pink silk, trimmed with lace and a large black hat with plumes and white rose.

Mrs. J. H. Frait was a striking figure in a handsome imported gown of black net, trimmed with little pleated silk ruffles at the foot, while bands of exquisite rose point lace, alternating with bands of black lace heavily embroidered in jet, extended from the waist to the hem of the gown, where they flared. The waist was similarly trimmed and was adorned with deep berthas with points of velvet ending in jet ornaments. With this was worn an onyx collar and combs, black hat and a handsome coral evening wrap.

Mrs. Arthur Crittenden Smith wore a handsome empire gown of pink and white flowered chiffon cloth with lace yoke and sleeves and with white hat with pink roses. With this was worn a white broadcloth cape and ermine furs.

Mrs. Arthur Metz was gowned in heliotrope silk, trimmed with point lace, with white hat adorned with plumes and white broadcloth coat with trimmings of green.

Miss Marion Connell—Gown of white embroidery over pink, with black velvet hat trimmed with plumes.

Mrs. W. J. C. Kenyon wore a handsome gown of white broadcloth, elaborately embroidered with eyelet embroidery, with bodice of white chiffon. With this was worn a handsome novelty coat of white Irish lace and large black picture hat with sweeping plumes and ermine furs.

Mrs. George H. Palmer wore a handsome gown of green cloth, embroidered in shades of green, with trimming of lace, and a tan coat and large black hat.

Miss Webster wore the costume which attracted so much attention the opening evening. It was of American Beauty velvet, elaborately trimmed with bands of velvet in the same shade and bands of ermine. Ermine furs and a large black hat with plumes completed her toilet.

Miss Peck, the guest of Miss Webster, wore a beautiful gown of white lace, with black picture hat and ermine furs.

Mrs. W. B. Meikle—Beautiful gown of lemon colored marquisette, elaborately trimmed with Venetian lace inset in bands in the skirt. With this was worn a hat and coat in the dahlia shades.

Mrs. W. S. Poppleton—Princess gown of white voile trimmed with lace; black hat with plumes and white feather boa.
