COAL TRUST FAILS AGAIN

Unable to Convince Court of Virtue of Its Technical Fleec.

JUDGE TROUP DISMISSES MOTIONS

Rules that While Complaint Might Be Improved Initials for Names is Not Fatal Mistake.

Judge Troup Friday morning overruled both of the dilatory motions filed by the coal dealers in the coal trust injunction case, and Monday the attorneys will appear in court and the final answer day will then be fixed and the case probably set for trial.

HOME FOR COMMERCIAL CLUB

Several Proposals Submitted for New Headquarters, but No Choice Made.

Several propositions have been submitted to the Commercial club for its removal from the present quarters to more commodious ones. Fred D. Wead has offered the entire building he proposes to erect at Eighteenth and Farnam. Bids will be taken on this and the contract let next week, and it is expected to have the structure completed early in January.

Arthur W. Partridge, out of town; George F. Howell and Joseph Kozell.

Officers of Creameries.

Secretaries of several of the creameries were called before the grand jury Friday to testify in the alleged Creamery trust inquiry. The charge has been made before the grand jury by both the small milk dealers and certain grocers that the creameries are in a hard and fast organization to control the price of milk, butter and creamery supplies and to freeze out small dealers. These charges have been proved to some extent and to get further light the grand jury has decided to call in the secretaries with their books, insurance men are also being examined in the alleged insurance trust inquiry.

HOWARD HEATER

Saturday from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. we will demonstrate in front of our store this celebrated Heater. A competent man will be in charge, and will explain to all interested the many good qualities of this wonderful Heater. See it in action.

Hold Fire for 36 Hours. Marvelous Howard Hot Blast Heater. For hard coal, soft coal, slack coal, coke, coal stiffs, coke or wood. This heater is the marvel of the age. It is considered superior to a hard coal heater burner in many ways. It is a perfectly constructed air-light hot-blast heater. It is an absolute smoke consuming stove. It is of new scientific construction. It is a particularly fine heater for slack and soft coal. It burns air—admits oxygen at just the right place, for gas, and this gas is burned in saving greatly in the amount of fuel needed; elegant in appearance, best materials used throughout, needs but very little attention, mixed with us a gas in for hard coal if desired. See this Heater. See this Heater.

New Overdraft Principle (See Illustration) Every stove thoroughly guaranteed for 5 years, both by us and the makers.

This heater will burn less of hard coal than any other hard coal stove with fire pot of same size ever made and will heat twice as much space with the coal consumed. No clinkers or half-burned coal in the ash pan of the Howard; ash is fine as powder; it burns all the fuel and gases. It is the most perfect floor heater made because it deflects the heat to the floor within a radius of three or four feet from the stove. See this heater in operation tomorrow. You'll sure want one when you see its many features.
