

A PRETTY MATRON OWES HEALTH TO PE-RU-NA.

MRS. ANNA N. KAISER. Had Suffered Severely From Pelvic Catarrh—Cannot Praise Peruna Too Highly—Read Her Letter.

MRS. ANNA N. KAISER, Two Rivers, Wis., was a sufferer from pelvic catarrh to such an extent that she could hardly do her own work. In describing her symptoms she wrote: "I have such terrible headaches, and pains below my shoulder blades, and down my back and across my hips, and at times pains in the pelvic organs, so that I am not able to lie down or sleep. I also have pains through my left side and am afraid I may be getting heart trouble."

After taking Peruna and following Dr. Hartman's instructions for several weeks, Mrs. Kaiser reported as follows: "I feel much stronger and do not get nervous as I used to. The pain is entirely gone, except when I work a little too hard. The medicine has done me wonderful good. I am taking Peruna and Mandlin. My bowels are also in good condition."

STUMBLING BLOCK TO MISSION WORK

Women Missionaries Report This as Evidence of Urgent Need of Christian Teaching in the Orient.

The reading of official correspondence from the several foreign fields, supplemented by brief talks from missionaries from these fields, rendered Saturday night one of the most interesting sessions of the meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary society, in session at First Methodist church.

The report from Japan, presented by Miss C. J. Carahan of Philadelphia, told of effective work and rich reward, but that some handicaps that in every where experienced—too few workers. Miss Georgiana Baucus of Tokyo, editor of Tokiwa, the only Christian woman paper in Japan, vividly pictured the need of Christian education in Japan just at this time.

While in the past the teachers have chiefly been men, the recent war with Russia took the men into the army and opened the greatest opportunity that has ever been afforded women in Japan. As a result the graduates of the Christian schools are in demand and at salaries greatly in excess of what the missionaries can afford to pay.

DEMOCRATS SORE AT ALLEN

Party Leaders Are Mad Because He Dis- cessed Alliance with Railroads.

FEAR FICTION CANNOT OVERCOME FACT

Spectacle of Bryan's Brother-in- Law, as State Chairman, Trying Up with Corporations Creates Furor.

The tell-tale letter of T. B. Allen, state democratic chairman, published in The Bee, has sent a cold chill up the spinal columns and a hot flush around the collar of local democrats. They are seared for their party's safety and angry at Mr. Allen's candor in disclosing the true colors of democracy in Nebraska. Of course, no member of the Jefferson party has been heard to disclaim allegiance to the railroads nor deny its desirability to the democrats, but many there are who denounce Mr. Allen's policy of frankness as a stupid piece of campaign mismanagement.

"He has placed himself and his party in a bad mess," remarked a certain well known democratic leader to a republican candidate for the legislature. "If this is his idea of running a campaign he will learn by this experience that his ideas are not those of his party nor those that will win. It seems to me that common sense would have restrained him from letting the plans of his party get away from him like that, where they can be emblazoned to the state and used by the opposition. Then he should have remembered his own personal position. He is not only the law partner of A. R. Talbot, attorney for the Missouri Pacific railroad at Lincoln, but he is the brother-in-law of William J. Bryan, the body and soul of the democratic party in the nation. What sort of a fix does Allen's indiscretion put Mr. Bryan in? Here is Bryan all these years laboring himself to establish a record of freedom from corporation alliance and influence, and his brother-in-law, as chairman of the democratic committee of Nebraska, and general manager of the state campaign, making alliances with the most powerful corporations of the state, and then publishing to the world his plans."

"Of course, they say we should be easy on Mr. Allen because of his youth and inexperience in politics, but I think in the first instance, that in making the alliance with the railroads, he has shown himself quite an experienced democrat; his only error was in declaring his plans. "The most damaging feature of the whole affair," asserted another democrat, "is that Mr. Allen's letter reveals the fact that not only is he in league with the railroads to defeat the republicans this fall, but that his action has received the approbation of the democratic party and leaders of the state. Here are our papers, some of them, making the manœuvre right against 'corporation rule,' and along comes this accused letter to fly up in their faces and disarm them of the best argument they may put forth. The fact that Allen has had copies of these letters sent broadcast over the state among the democrats proves more convincingly than anything else could that the party has endorsed the compact with the corporations. I don't mind saying it will take some pretty fine oratory and shrewdness to overcome the effect of this blunder."

SENSATION IN MEXICO CITY

Ambassador Thompson, Who is Charged with Misleading Alleged Embassier, Denies Charge.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 24.—Some what of a sensation was caused in financial circles tonight when it was learned that warrants had been issued for the arrest of J. E. Starr Hunt and three of his associates charged with fraud in their handling of the assets of the defunct International Bank and Trust Company of America. The sensation was greatly magnified in the United States.

Ambassador Thompson was openly charged with endeavoring to shield Hunt. His policy and secret agents are being looked for Hunt, but have been unable as yet to locate him, although they say they are positive he is in the city.

Ambassador Thompson denies any connection with the case and says the charges against him are absurd. The International Bank and Trust company was organized in the fall of 1902 and went into the hands of a receiver on October 17, 1905. It was the first bank failure in the republic for fifty-seven years and created a sensation at the time. The bank had seven branches throughout the republic and was capitalized for $1,800,000. When it went to the wall its liabilities totaled $2,380,000.

Hunt was the attorney for the bank and it was charged that he favored creditors and fraudulently and falsely stated numerous promissory notes in order to realize upon them after the institution was in the receivers' hands. Associated with him in the transactions were J. O. Rice, general manager of the defunct bank; W. O. Sawyer, a member of the board of directors; and Antonio Risco Alas, confidential adviser of Hunt.

Charges were brought against the men some time ago, but the matter was postponed from time to time. Finally it was brought to the attention of the United States ambassador here. Not until tonight was it definitely known that the men would be prosecuted. When this was made public, H. W. Wilson of the firm of Warner, Johnson & Wilson, attorney of the liquidating committee, made his headquarters against the United States ambassador here. He said to a representative of the Associated Press: "We have indisputable evidence that Ambassador Thompson acted improperly in this case. He went to President Diaz in an effort to have the proceedings against Hunt dismissed, and later wrote a letter to Judge Ortega, before whom the case was pending, in an endeavor to have the case dismissed. I believe we have sufficient proof in the case to warrant the arrest of the ambassador. Ambassador Thompson received the representative of the Associated Press at his home here late tonight. He contended himself with a simple denial of the charges. He said: "I never interceded with the president in behalf of Hunt, nor did I ever interpose my influence in a court in this case. Let me say that I am not a lawyer, and I am not a politician. I am a man who will do what is right. I will not do what is wrong. The president of the defunct International Bank and Trust company was C. E. Hunt, now serving a sentence in Joliet, Ill., for bank robbing. He organized the Panamerican bank after the failure of the International. He is no relative of J. E. Starr Hunt. The latter was secretary of the Third Panamerican congress held in this city some three years ago."

T. P. A. BENEFIT PERFORMANCE

Funds to be Devoted to Furnishing a Room in Some Hospital. Friday evening an entertainment was given at the Lyric theater under the auspices of the Ladies' auxiliary of Post A of the Travelers' Protective association, which was most ably patronized by friends of the organization. The proceeds derived from the event will be devoted toward furnishing a room in one of the hospitals for the use of knights of the trip belonging to the travelers' Protective association who may be taken ill while sojourning in Omaha, as at present the hospitals are without adequate facilities for caring for their members in this manner. Several of the leading musicians of Omaha generously contributed their services. Mrs. Welshman rendered Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriccioso"; Miss Elizabeth Hamling sang Schubert's "Berenade"; Fred L. Green, tenor, sang "Oh, Come to Me, Mavourneen," and Mrs. P. D. Holbrook sang "Butterflies," accompanied by Miss Bertha Higgins. Grace Lennon Conklin pleasingly read one of the masterpieces of John Luther Long, "Mad as a Hatter."

Each number was well received and encores were numerous. A considerable sum was realized toward the equipment of the room in the hospital, although it has not been definitely decided in which hospital a room will be taken. This concern has secured the contract for furnishing the stone and steel in the new South Omaha city hall and jail and has also contracted to furnish the steel for the bridge which the Tri-State Land company of Omaha is building across the North Platte river at Morrill, near Scott's Bluff.
