

In Thousands of Homes Pe-ru-na Is the Family Doctor

Mr. and Mrs. Plamann and Children.

A Happy Family, Kept Well and Hearty By Taking Pe-ru-na

Mrs. Alvina Plamann, 1719 Walnut street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "I am now able to do my housework again, and have a good appetite. I have used thirteen bottles of Pe-ru-na and one of Manalin."
"My husband and children are also in good health. We always keep Pe-ru-na in the house. I thank you a thousand times for your advice."

An Enemy to the Home.
CATARRH is the natural climatic enemy of every home. Over every home hangs the inevitable certainty of catarrhal invasion.

No home is entirely free from it. Every person is subject to it. It would be an exaggeration to say that two-thirds of the homes of America have suffered more or less from this inevitable, almost omnipresent enemy, catarrh.

Pe-ru-na is the natural protection of the household. It is intended to relieve catarrh and catarrhal diseases in any and all of their phases.

Pe-ru-na the Household Remedy.
Mrs. Carrie King, 739 North Cascade, Colorado Springs, Col., writes: "Pe-ru-na has been my favorite and only household remedy for nearly five years. I have suffered for years with biliousness and kidney and liver troubles. If I caught a little cold, the pains were increased, and backache and headache were of frequent occurrence."

"However, Pe-ru-na cured me—twelve bottles made me a new and healthy woman. For three years I have enjoyed the best of health. I keep Pe-ru-na constantly in my home, and if my husband or I catch cold or feel indisposed, a few doses of Pe-ru-na never fail to restore us."

The Many Phases of Catarrh.
Catarrh may appear in the household in the form of a slight cold or cough, an attack of influenza, or even hay fever. Pe-ru-na meets these invasions squarely and repulses the enemy before it gains a foothold.

Therefore, Pe-ru-na is a household remedy. Used at the correct time it often obviates the necessity of continued doctoring.

Perhaps in no other way can the wisdom of economy and foresight be so forcibly expressed as in keeping on hand a bottle of Pe-ru-na to protect the various members of the family against the encroachments of catarrh.

We have on file thousands of testimonials from heads of families, located north and south, east and west.

These letters praise Pe-ru-na for its efficient protection of the family against catarrh.

Mother and Children Depend on Pe-ru-na.
Mrs. J. F. O'Connor, 449 S. California Ave., Chicago, Ill., First Soprano, Arval Singing Society, writes:

"For a number of years I had suffered from catarrh of the head, and while some of the remedies helped me a little while taking them, they did not cure me permanently. My child was also sensitive to the cold and every little draught gave her a cold in the head, and it used to worry me a great deal."

"One day I heard what a wonderful medicine Pe-ru-na is and what it has done for others, so I bought a bottle and tried it. I could hardly realize my good fortune when, before I had taken a whole bottle of it I felt like a new woman. I took it for some time longer and gave some to the baby and she improved as rapidly and as permanently as I did."

"I cannot say too much for Pe-ru-na."
Uses Pe-ru-na in His Family.
Mr. Frank W. Harris, box 10, Basic City, Va., member A. P. & A. M., writes:

"I have used Pe-ru-na in my family with very satisfactory results for the last two years."

"Besides, I have recommended it to all whom I think are in need of it. I urge all who are afflicted to buy a bottle and begin its use at once."

"I have never heard of any who have used it to be dissatisfied with the results."
Hay Fever, Coughs and Colds.
Mrs. Leon O'Brien, 625 Madison St., Topeka, Kas., writes:

"We have used Pe-ru-na in our household for a good many years. I took it for a cough and a tonic. My husband used it and thinks there is nothing like it for hay fever, from which he suffered for years. I also give it to my children for coughs and colds, and my daughter, Mary, was cured of catarrh of the head by Pe-ru-na."

GOSSIP OF THE CAMPAIGN

One Hundred and Sixty-Four Registrars on Last Day's Work.

CITY ADMINISTRATION THROWS MUD

Bryan, Hitchcock and Shallenberger Insult Intelligent Voters by Dodging Pertinent Questions of the Public.

City Clerk Butler Saturday morning started his registration family of 164 registrars on the work of the third and last day's registration before the election. Judging from the totals of the first and second days and basing an estimate for the third day on figures of previous years, it is not believed the total registration will exceed 18,000 for the fifty-four Omaha precincts. The county commission, however, have been quite active in bringing before the electors the necessity and dates of registration.

The first day's total was 6,100 and that of the second day 6,000. The city clerk will be required to work an extra hour Sunday in order to get the registration books in the county clerk's office Monday afternoon as required. Clerk Butler will engage twenty-four extra clerks, placing two on the books of each ward. Abstracts will be made for the republican and democratic committees and the names of each of the five books for each district will be checked against each other, entailing considerable work. In order to expedite the work the city clerk requests every registrant to have his books at the city clerk's office by 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

Monday night, the eve of election, Congressman Kennedy, County Attorney Shallenberger and Judge Louis Berka and others will speak at Popovich's hall, Twenty-seventh and J streets, South Omaha. This rally will be the big one of the campaign.

Not waiting for the chance to "work the lever," the democratic administration in Omaha has an object lesson of its power in the arrest of two employees of N. P. Dodge, jr., republican legislative candidate, on the trumped-up charge of using telephone poles on which to post election bills. The purpose, of course, was to discredit Mr. Dodge, for doing something which had been done in every election ever held in Omaha. During the recent spring campaign Jim Dahman's pictures were posted on telephone, telegraph poles, church steeples and even on the sides of private residences, showing that so far as the principle of the thing goes Dahman had no scruples. In this campaign, as in every other, the city and county use poles on which to post their notices.

Congressman Kennedy and Senator Sheldon created a wave of enthusiasm down at South Omaha Friday night. As the speakers were leaving the hall a fine looking German business man was heard to remark:

"Well, gentlemen, the democrats cannot play on my prejudices any longer. I am for Kennedy and Sheldon. They impressed me with their knowledge and earnestness and I am willing to trust them. They don't deal in personal abuse or take up all their time telling jokes, but get down to facts, and they give their hearers some credit for having intelligence enough to understand what they are talking about. You needn't go away from this meeting and wonder where either one of these men stand."

Bryan, presidential candidate; Hitchcock, congressional nominee; Shallenberger, gubernatorial nominee, for the democrats, all insulted the intelligent voter of Omaha Friday night, when they ignored the most vital issue in the present campaign in their speeches at the Auditorium, remarked Chairman Donohue of the republican committee.

"Bryan says he wants to make his own speeches. That's all right. Ten years of his constant speaking has convinced people of that, but Bryan cannot delegate to himself the right to make the issues and he cannot delegate to himself the right to make the thoughts for the voters, who, if he will not, will go to the polls next Tuesday and answer the questions put to him regarding the palpable tieup of the democrats in Nebraska and the railroads made by his brother-in-law, Tommy Allen, chairman of the democratic state committee.

Hitchcock, of course, was not expected to answer anything. He never has been for terminal taxation and the people didn't expect any more from him but the snub he gave them.

Shallenberger, though, put himself in a bad plight by refusing to come out squarely and face the issue. He dilly-dallied around and wound up by saying nothing. That, he presumed that the people who were in the Auditorium were not intelligent enough to understand that he was dealing in sugar and politics, rather than rather than actual, living issues. That, however, is the slogan of the democratic campaign—"Dodge everything and admit nothing."

"Did you catch what Gilbert M. Hitchcock said at the Auditorium Friday evening in closing his speech?" asked one democrat of another at democratic headquarters in the Patterson block Saturday morning.

"No," replied the man who was quizzed.

"Well, he said, as W. J. Bryan walked on the stage, I will throw myself on the mercy of the community. I trust me not being a rather poor way for a man aspiring for a place in congress to say he would throw himself on the mercy of the community."

"Does strike me kind of queer-like. But from what I heard yesterday, when Hitchcock closed some of his speeches, that he can feel something coming on—kind of agree feeling creeping on."

Then one of the campaign managers appeared and the conversation stopped.

"You wonder that we can't work up some enthusiasm for our local ticket," exclaimed a disgusted Jacksonian democrat, talking to another democrat yesterday.

"Just go down the list of candidates and see what we are up against, one democrat exclaimed to another democrat yesterday.

"There is C. S. Montgomery for the senate. Why, we fired Montgomery from the Jacksonian club when he bolted Bryan in 1896, and plenty of us have not yet forgiven him. There is W. S. Shoemaker, who took an appointment of city prosecutor from Mayor Moore as a reward for bolting Ed Howell, and we haven't forgot that, either. Dick O'Keefe, the third candidate for senator, is not such a bad fellow, but he was hit by the county board and loaded this county down to the guards with covens and debts, and the load is likely to carry him down with it."

"On the house side we never had such a bunch of lightweights and disreputables. There is Joe Butler, who has been a chronic carthorse every year that I can remember, and if he got to the legislature would be simply a dummy for Charles Fanning, on whose pay roll he has been most of the time. There is Dominick Cosgrove—nothing but a barroom loafer who could not borrow $25 in any bank. There is W. H. Green, with the pretense of being president of the Real Estate exchange, but he is a real estate broker without even an office where he can be found. He moved away from Omaha altogether two or three times and has only been back from Mexico long

RIDERS HURT, HORSES KILLED

Clair Woodard and Richard Coad Knocked Inseparable by Animals' Fall.

HANDSOME NASH HUNTER, BOBBY, KILLED

Three Young People Riding on West Dodge Street When Two Steeds Collide and Cause Catastrophe.

Two valuable horses, a young woman and a young man, seriously hurt, comprise the casualties and result of a horseback ride on West Dodge street Friday afternoon.

Richard Coad, Miss Anna Coad and Miss Claire Woodard started on a horseback ride out the Dodge street road shortly before noon Friday and were on their return homeward near Elmwood park. The two young women were riding in front, Miss Woodard being mounted on Miss Francis Nash's handsome hunter, "Bobby," which attracted so much admiration at the recent horse show.

Mr. Coad was a short distance behind the young women, when his horse became unmanageable and started to run away. Mr. Coad called to the young women to get out of the way and the confusion of the moment turned in such a way as to bring Mr. Coad's and Miss Woodard's horses into collision. Mr. Coad's horse, "Bobby," with tremendous force, knocking him down, killing "Bobby," almost instantly, throwing him on top of Miss Woodard, who was knocked insensible by the impact. Mr. Coad's horse turned a complete summersault, breaking its back and falling on Mr. Coad, who was almost rendered insensible by the fall. Miss Coad retained control of her horse and escaped injury. She was equal to the emergency and did what she could unaided to relieve her unfortunate friends, supposing for the moment that both were killed.

A passing farm wagon arrived on the scene about this moment and Miss Coad obtained assistance from the driver and the injured man and woman were taken to their homes in the city. It became necessary to kill Mr. Coad's horse to put it out of its misery.

Fortunately Miss Woodard's injuries are not as serious as at first apprehended and while suffering considerable pain during the night she rested fairly well. No bones were broken and her chief trouble seems to be from the shock. Aside from a few bruises and contusions Mr. Coad escaped serious injury.

A coincidence in the case is that about the same hour or shortly afterward Mr. and Mrs. Woodard were riding in the same vicinity and picked up Miss Woodard's handkerchief on the road, which it was later learned, had been dropped by her from the wagon in which she was being carried to her home after the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodard were unaware of the accident at the time, and did not happen to drive by where the two horses were killed.

Beware of Frequent Colds.

A succession of colds or a protracted cold is almost certain to end in chronic catarrh, from which few persons ever wholly recover. Give every cold the attention it deserves and you may avoid this disagreeable disease. How can you cure a cold? Why not try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended as a cure for colds. Mrs. M. White of Butler, Tenn., says: "Several years ago I was bothered with my throat and lungs. Some one told me of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I began using it and it relieved me at once. I used it for some time and it cured me. Now my throat and lungs are sound and well."

The New Toast

"HERE'S LUXUS"

The delicious significance of this clever new toast, can only be appreciated when accompanied by clinking glasses of cool, pure, wholesome, appetizing "Luxus," the Lightest Beer Brewed.

The name "Luxus" means luxury. "Luxus" is the very soul of luxury in bottled beer.

The significance of the new toast—"Here's Luxus"—based on the distinctive excellence of "Luxus" is this:

"Here's what you like—
As much as you like—
Whenever you like—
And the best there is."

You can drink as much as you like of "Luxus" whenever you like, and feel only a delicious sense of refreshed body and mind, and satisfied palate—without any of the after effects of ordinary, heavy, sticky, "bilious" beers. "Luxus" is different—the most exquisite refinement of the brewer's art.

Try it—there's a happy surprise awaiting you. Have a case sent home.

Now, all together

"CASTILIAN BOOTS"

THE trend of fashion in women's shoes is best expressed by our new "Queen Quality" Castilian Boots. The foreparts and vamps are shorter; the shanks more arched—the heels higher. On the foot this gives the effect of a smaller size. Women everywhere admire these pretty styles. They are now "all the rage." The genuine are to be had only at this store. In K3, $3.50; Patents, $4.00; other "Queen Quality" styles $3.00.

enough to regain his citizenship. There is Michael Goggins—probably a pretty good grave digger, but as a lawmaker I fear for him very much. There is Frank McArdie, whose relatives stand pretty well, but he himself has nothing to identify him with the substantial farmers whom he is trying to represent. There is Harley Moorehead—a nice young lawyer with not too much business and no experience, and that's the best that can be said for him. There is Johnny Reagan, once an officer of the Jacksonian club with the custody of some of our funds, who did not settle very promptly, either, when he turned a somersault into the county democracy. He helped publish the Quill, which assailed about all the decent democrats in this community and I don't believe they will forget that. There is Otto Stuben, who just doesn't count at all. He also may be gathered from the fact that Dahman came to his rescue with a job as a sanitary inspector, which he has not filled any too well. Then there is "Doc" Tanner, known better in South Omaha than in Omaha, where he has lived for the most part by pickings from the city treasury.

To cap the climax, we have Billy McCombs running for county commissioner—just an ordinary, common ward-heeler, who got a glimpse of the graft while serving as clerk of the county board and now wants to be a member of the board itself.

"As I said before, do you wonder that decent democrats are disgusted?"

Three Instead of Two Stories.
F. D. Farmer & Co. have decided to make their new building at 112 South Eleventh street three stories instead of two, as originally planned. In addition there is a large basement which, as far as the room is concerned, will make the building practically a four-story structure. The new home is in course of construction. The company is now located on South Thirtieth street, but it has outgrown the quarters there and has to have more room for its wholesale business in spices and coffee.
