GAS NEARLY KILLS TWO MEN

James P. White of Omaha and John Schmitt of Minnesota Are Overcome.

LATTER HAS SLIM CHANCE FOR LIFE

Both Cases Regarded as Accidental, as There is No Evidence in Either to Suggest Thought of Suicide.

James P. White, 1233 South Twenty-ninth street, agent for the Pacific Express company and John Schmitt of Winona, Minn., were overcome by gas Monday night and the latter may die, while White's recovery is regarded as reasonably certain. Both cases are believed to have been accidental.

Mr. White was found in a semi-conscious condition about 10:15 Tuesday morning in a room in the Murray hotel with one of the gas jets turned fully on. The room was filled with gas as the windows were tightly closed and the transom was only open about one inch. It is believed that Mr. White inadvertently turned on the gas upon retiring.

One of the guests in the hotel reported to the clerk that there was a strong odor of gas on the fourth floor and O. P. Allred, a bell boy, was sent to investigate. He traced the odor to the room occupied by Mr. White and summoned help. The door was broken open and Mr. White was found lying on the bed partly dressed. One of the gas jets was burning a low flame, but the other jet was turned on but not lighted.

The police were notified and Police Surgeon Harris responded. He had the patient removed to the Omaha General hospital. It is believed Mr. White will recover, although he had a narrow escape from death by asphyxiation.

Mr. White went to the hotel shortly before midnight. He said he left one of the gas jets burning, but had no knowledge of the other being turned on, although he said he had intended to light both. He had been exceedingly overworked for the last few months and after working so late Monday night, went to the hotel in preference to going to his home, 1728 Park avenue, where he resides with his wife and two children.

After being taken to the hospital he completely recovered consciousness and his chances of recovery are considered excellent.

Minnesota Man May Die

Within an hour after Mr. White was found unconscious in a room filled with gas a second message was received at the police station that a man had been found in a room at 1120 Farnam street with the gas jets turned on. Police Surgeon Harris was again pressed into service and found John Schmitt of Winona, Minn., lying unconscious in the rear room on the second floor of the premises on Farnam street.

Schmitt came to Omaha Monday afternoon from Millard, where he had been working on the Union Pacific cut-off as a laborer, and obtained a room from the proprietor, W. S. Harris. He retired about 11 p. m. and his disappearance was not noted until about 10:30 Tuesday morning, when the colored porter smelled gas issuing from the room and entered it from one adjoining.

Dr. Harris worked over Schmitt for some time, using artificial respiration and administering hypodermic injections of strychnine, which seemed to relieve Schmitt considerably, but his ultimate recovery is exceedingly doubtful. He was removed to St. Joseph's hospital for further treatment, where he now lies in a precarious condition.

Among Schmitt's effects were found letters from Miss Mary Hess of 164 West Broadway, Winona, Minn., who is evidently a sweetheart of the man. A lodge card also was found showing that Schmitt was a member of Ancient Order of Druids.

It is not believed that Schmitt intended to commit suicide, but that after turning on the gas he carelessly turned it on again. He is about 24 years of age and had worked in a grading camp at Rapid City, S. D.

WOMAN BURNED AT BREAKFAST

Hair and Eyebrows Staged by the Explosion of Stove from Kerosene.

While preparing the fire for breakfast Monday morning Mrs. J. W. Dibble, wife of Officer Dibble, 221 Twenty-seventh avenue, had her hair and eyebrows badly singed by the explosion of the stove. She had lit the fire, but it was slow in starting, so she attempted to expedite matters by throwing a cup of kerosene on the partly ignited coal and kindling. After placing the lid on the stove the combination of coal and kerosene formed a gas, and when Mrs. Dibble threw a lighted match into the stove there was an explosion, but no damage was done beyond the scorching of Mrs. Dibble's hair.

MILWAUKEE'S SUNDAY TRAINS

Head Establishes Service for the Sabbath Day on Its South Dakota Lines.

The Milwaukee railroad has established a Sunday train service in South Dakota for the first time. Sunday trains will be run from Sioux City to Aberdeen and from Sioux City to Sioux Falls. This will be quite a help to people desiring to go from Omaha, as heretofore the service did not permit a man to leave Omaha Saturday night and reach any point in South Dakota on Sunday, as he had to lay over until Monday.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Council Unable to Muster a Quorum Monday Night.

MEMBERS TOO BUSY WITH CAMPAIGN

Board of Education in the Same Boat and Both Bodies Take an Adjournment to a Later Date.

The meeting of the city council was adjourned Monday on account of the campaign closing. There were not enough members present for a quorum. Adjournment was taken until Thursday night.

There was also no meeting of the Board of Education from the fact that two members, Laverty and Corrigan, were out of the city. The board will meet at the call of the president after his return.

The police will put on all forces to take charge of the election. The men had orders from the chief last night to take it as easy as possible after 2 p. m. and to report at the station for duty this morning.

Instructions to Unregistered Voters.

City Clerk Gillin has issued the following to guide unregistered voters:

We find that the law governing the swearing in of voters has been thoroughly gone into, in the case of Unit against Miller, and also in the case of Crocker against Downard and hence a careful analysis of these cases we think the correct rule as laid down therein, is as follows:

1. The voter desiring to swear in his vote on election day as being unregistered must appear before the city clerk and swear.

2. His affidavit must also be signed and sworn to by two freeholders residing in the precinct in which he desires to vote. The men who have been residents of the precinct for one year. The fact that they are residents of the ward in which he desires to vote is not sufficient. "They must be residents of the same voting precinct."

3. The affidavit made by the voter in order to entitle him to vote need not be confined to "election day," but may include "at work and did not have time to register."

4. If any one of these reasons shall be assigned they will be deemed sufficient, and the voter so applying to this office November 6, will be given a certificate showing his qualification to vote on that day. The above rule as to valid excuses necessarily excepts "new voters" and "first voters."

5. Two freeholders mentioned above should accompany the applicant to this office.

A careful observance of these rules will save much time and trouble to all concerned.

Folio in each precinct open at 8 a. m. and close at 4 p. m.

Announcements of the Theaters.

Robert Edeson will play at the Boyd this afternoon and evening. He will appear in "Strongheart," a four-act comedy drama by William C. De Mille. While the dramatic interest is serious, as it concerns the problem of the educated Indian and his love for a woman not of his race, there is abundant comedy to relieve the emotional tension. Much amusement has been derived by the picturing of episodes in college life.

Mr. Edeson's company has been carefully selected by Mr. Harris with a view to presenting college men as they are and the Barnard contingent is represented by an unusually attractive set of femininity.

The Burwood is having large audiences this week. Thursday afternoon a souvenir matinee will be given. Each person holding a lower floor ticket will be presented with a photograph of Grant Simpson.

Next week the Burwood will present "By Right of Sword."

Hon. George H. Wendling of Washington, D. C., will lecture at Lyric theater on Thursday evening, subject, "Mirabeau and the French Revolution." Tickets on sale at Brown & Borsham's jewelry store and at box office at the Lyric, where they may be reserved this afternoon and tomorrow.

It is expected that the seats will be sold before the evening of the date of lecture. It is the intention of the promoters to bring other attractions of national interest to the city this winter, if the results of the Wendling lecture are sufficient. Mr. Wendling's lecture is placed upon its merits, and is guaranteed to please the audience. The subject is great and, as delivered by a master orator, will captivate his hearers to the greatest possible extent.

DENTISTRY

TOOTH TALK NO. 79

If you are looking for a dentist who works carefully and well, gives little or no pain, and whose charges are reasonable, I most heartily recommend myself.

I never permit work to leave my office unless I know that it is well done; therefore a business dentist. I have less pain than any dentist anywhere because I've given the closest attention to this feature of painlessness in dentistry; a somewhat unexplored field, I assure you.

My prices are reasonable in both directions; it is fully as great an injustice to charge an amount insufficient to cover the cost of time and good material as to overcharge.

Examination costs nothing whatever.

SEASONABLE FASHIONS.

The styles of summer have trespassed upon the hitherto forbidden ground of winter and with as much success, that even fabrics of light weight are now being fashioned into shirt waist dresses and separate blouses for general wear. An attractive costume of this kind is shown and will perhaps be a happy suggestion for the home sewer. The shirt waist has a waist in the center of the back which is very smart when the waist is cut on the bias of the material. Whether the waist shall be cut bias or straight, as well as the length of the sleeves, remain for the maker to decide. The shorter sleeve has a fancy cuff which renders it especially fetching. The skirt is one of the new seven-gored skirts, one of the best models for walking length. The trimming bands need not be used unless desired, but they assist the flare and prove a smart adornment. The costume is one easily made and requires but 2 1/2 yards of 44-inch goods, in the medium size.

FOR RETURNS TWO VEToes

Mayor Dahlman Refuses to Sign Resolutions Demanding Settlement of Lee Grier.

Mayor Dahlman Tuesday morning returned to the city council with his veto of two concurrent resolutions referring to the Lee Grier alleged shortage and an audit of the city offices.

One of the resolutions was a direction from the council that "the mayor make a demand on Lee Grier, former clerk of the police court, for an alleged shortage of $1,410 discovered by the city comptroller; the other resolution was to take steps to have the various surety companies check up the comptroller's and treasurer's offices and report to the council and mayor on the sufficiency of the system of bookkeeping in use in these offices. On these matters the mayor and council are not of one mind.

Mayor Dahlman still contends that no demand should be made on Lee Grier or his bondmen for the alleged shortage on the strength of the report made by Comptroller Labeck October 6, the mayor holding that the comptroller's previous checks of "O. K." on Grier's books are hard to reconcile with the sudden discovery of shortage a few months ago. The mayor believes an expert accountant should confirm the comptroller's report and check Grier's accounts to the beginning, as Mr. Labeck's report covered only the last three years. In line with that contention the mayor has right along and still thinks the expert accountant should make a complete job by checking up the whole municipal cashing house.

A majority of the council has been of the opinion that no expert accountant is needed, inasmuch as the city comptroller is under bond to keep the city's books in order.

It is not likely the mayor's vetoes will be sustained.
